Complexion and Hair Specialists.

The brilliant complexions of women in the more exclusive circles of New York society are not explained by the theory that associates beauty and idle York society and leaders of the world of fashion are hard workers. Yet they keep their good looks even when they are old. How do they manage it? THE MISSES BELL, of 78 Fifth Avenue, New York, themselves connected with some of the most noted and honored families in the metropolis, have answered the question. They have prepared for the use of women in general, five preparations for improving the complexion and the hair.

Toilet Treasures.

The Misses BELL'S

COMPLEXION SOAP

is made from the pure oil of lambs' wool. It is healing and gratifying to the skin, keeping it at all times in a clean and healthy state. This Soap is daintily scented, and is a most welcome aid to the toilet of fastidious women. The utemost care is taken in selecting materials.

cures dandruff and prevents any return of it; stops that maddening itching of the scalp and makes the hair strong, soft and lustrous. It is especially helpful to persons whose hair is thin, dry and liable to fall out. The tonic cleanses the skin about the roots of the hair; will soon cover bald spots with a handsome growth. Price, a bottle.

The Misses BELL'S SKIN FOOD

is a soft, creamy, exquisitely perfumed ointment, which helps the action of the Tonic, and, in mild cases of roughness, redness, pimples, etc., is a cure in itself. It clears the pores of the skin of all impurities and feeds it by building up the texture and making the flesh beneath it solid and firm. Price, 75 cents per jar.

I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained my permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the tame as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

Mave Helped Thousands.

Yew people realize the volume of bus ness transacted through the want column of a newspaper. It is to the great public what the exchange is to the financial world. Thousands obtain employment anworld. Thousands obtain employment an nually, find business chances, meet men with whom they afterward engage in lucrative business, and in a thousand other ways benefit themselves through the expenditure of a very small sum. The little ads. are tireless toilers for every department of life. Some poor man or woman out of employment searches in vain for it A little want ad: is inserted in the paper, it meets the eye of some one who is seeking just such a person, and as a result employment follows.

The little three lines or more of print talks to thousands. Perhaps the business man desires to employ a man or woman. He has no other method of reaching them except through the medium of the little ad. He puts it in, and soon the place is filled, usually by a competent person, as there are always many to select from.

Thousands of people owe their place in life to these little creations of type. Because they are seen every day the world has not come to realize their importance. but the past has proved them to be a friend of rich and poor alike-a herald of happiness to hundreds. John Wanamaker, this country's closet student of advertising, is quoted as saying that the best position for a display advertisement in a newspaper is. always closest to the want ad. page, for all the people read them. - Denver Times

How a Wide-Awake Philadelphia Young Woman Saved Money for a Wedding Tour.

A promising young lawyer who has an office in the Girard building has just made the delightful discovery that his fiancee is also a financier. The young man's sweetheart resides in Germantown, and for several months past he has called upon her regularly thrice a week. When he first met the girl, two years ago, he was, of course, extremely anxious to make a good impression, and he lavished many presents upon her. The girl's parents are quite well to do, but she disapproves of any sort of display or prodigality, and when, in the natural course of events, the young man proposed and was accepted, she felt it to be her privilege and her duty to read him a little lecture on "Economy." She called his attention to the fact that every time he called he had been in the habit of bringing flowers and candy to the value of a dollar or two, She suggested that in the future he should discontinue the presents, handing over a silver dollar instead whenever he came to see her. He laughed, for he thought she was joking. but she speedily assured him that she was much in earnest. So he paid his dollar regularly, and finally came to the conclusion that the money was being devoted to charity. The wedding day was set for next month, and an extended tour was contemplated. Unfortunately, the young lawyer recently took a "flyer" in stocks, and dropped so much money that he had to notify his fiancee that their wedding trip must be dispensed with. The dear girl laughed at him, and, leaving the room for a moment, presently returned with a satchel containing 256 silver dollars. Their plans will not be changed,-Philadelphia Record.

A WELSH CAT.

The Queer Law That Was Formerly Enforced In Wales,

In the middle ages cats were very rare. Even with the ladies little dogs were the familiar household pets, and cats were regarded as almost a royal possession. In Wales as early as the tenth century cats were protected by the government and their value fixed by law. Before a kitten could open its eyes it was worth a penny; afterward it was worth 2, and when it had caught a mouse its value rose to 4 pennies. These may seem small prices now, but they meant a good deal then. Both cats and pennies are within reach of any one, and the simplest little home may have as guard the cat that "once upon a time" kept watch in the king's granaries.

In Wales the prince had his storehouses thus protected, and the following story will show you how the theft of a cat was regarded: One day a small black kitten was missing. It was not very big, but it had caught a mouse, and search was made at once. It was found in a peasant's hut, and his daughter confessed. that she had stolen it from the granary. The child declared that the kitten was frightened by the prince's two great wolf hounds and had taken refuge with her, and she had not the heart to give it up.

The steward had father and child brought, trembling with fear, before the prince, who sat on his throne, yawning and stroking his tawny hands. "What is the law?" he asked.

"The thief shall pay a full grown ewe with all its fleece," said the steward. Alas! the man was too poor to own sheep. "Failing this, the cat shall be hang up by its tail"-

"Rather hard on the cat," said the prince, and little Mertha's tears ran down her face.

"And the thief shall pay a heap of grain high enough to reach the very tip of the tail," continued the steward.

"Then shall we starve," murmured the peasant. "After tolls and tithes there is so little left." Now the black kitten was brought into court, and seeing the dogs and its little friend, it bristled up its hair with fear and mewed piteously to Mertha for suc-"The cat hath chosen the child," said the prince carelessly. "I will remit the fine and give her the animal for her

This law is still found among the old Welsh statutes, but it is no longer enforced.-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Care of the Eyes. - V& On arising in the morning the eyes should be bathed gently in cold waterstrengthening. While using them closely they should be rested at intervals of an hour or two, for the strain of constant reading or sewing is like that of extending the arms at a certain height immovable. Imagine, then, the taxing of the eyes, which cannot complain save after years of irreparable neglect. When dust settles in the eyes, warm water will soothe them of any inflammation. Rose water is extremely refreshing, but it should be bought in small quantities, as it keeps but a short time Five cents' worth will give a daily eybath for several weeks. Tea leaves and alum water were the eye tonics which our grandfathers used, but in these modern days of absolute hygienic and antiseptic simplicity water, especially in a distilled form, is considered powerful enough .-Harper's Bazar.
