DEWEY CHEERED BY THOUSANDS

Admiral Kept Busy by Calls From Distinguished Visitors.

Welcome Extended by Governor of the State.

Shores Blaze at Night With Brilliant Display.

Many Visitors Hard Put to For Places to Sleep at Night.

THE STREETS RESPLENDENT WITH DECORATIONS—DEWEY FORMALLY NOTIFIED BY GENERAL MILES OF THE RECEPTION AWAITING HIM AT WASHINGTON.

New York, Sept. 28.—Although the celebration in honor of Admiral Dewey does not begin until tomorrow, the admiral was kept busy today by repeated calls of distinguished visitors, while the Olympia, lying off the Staten Island shore, was surrounded all day by all kinds of craft filled with cheering thousands.

The features of the day were the welcome extended Dewey by Governor Roosevelt; the call of the Washington committee, headed by General Miles, to inform the admiral what reception was in store for him at the capital, and the presentation to the admiral of the flag which Farragut flew at New Orleans, and which Dewey will fly tomorrow.

Tonight the shores and hills of Staten Island from St. George, where the Olympia is lying, to Fort Wadsworth, gleamed forth a brilliant welcome to the hero of Manila. Red fire burned on the hill tops and one side of the hill opposite the flagship "Dewey" blazed in letters twelve feet high. Thousands viewed the display.

The city is filled to overflowing tonight with visiting civilians and soldiers and many are hard put to find a place to sleep. Decorations abound everywhere, and tomorrow will begin a welcome to Dewey such as has not been seen since the civil war.

THE OVERTFLOW.

The Hotel Keepers' association is operating a systematic plan for the housing of visitors and is receiving the co-operation of the Merchants' association and the city authorities. The overflow in Manhattan is sent to Brooklyn and to other places across the rivers, where thousands can be cared for.

The authorities in all departments where life and property are concerned have been working incessantly and have perfected their plans for the eventful days. Chief of Police Dewey having decided that there must be no obstacle in the way of the ambulance and fire department service has made an announcement that was like an ice-water drenching to the army of truckmen who expected to coin money by standing trucks in the side streets along the line of parade and selling seats on them. The chief found that there were available corners for only about five hundred trucks, while he had on file applications for nearly two thousand truck stands. To add to his tribulations he was beset by a host of small fry politicians working in the interests of certain truckmen constituents and was annoyed until his patience was exhausted. He finally declared that not one permit would be issued, for the reason that he intended to keep the streets clear for ambulances and fire apparatus.

TO PROTECT LIFE.

"I have perfected the arrangements for an ambulance service along the line of march," said he. "All the ambulances in the city not needed for other work will be distributed at intervals along the line, while all the members of the all the various hospital staffs that can be spared will be in attendance to man the ambulances. A complete chain of telephones will cover the line from start to finish, and I know that we are prepared to meet any emergency, no matter how severe a call it may make upon us."

THE NAVAL PARADE.

The formation and route of the naval parade as laid down will insure every vessel in the parade column passing in review before the admiral and his flagship, passing the man-of-war three times, and also passing the great allegorical floats "Peace" and "Victory" twice. Every vessel that can be laid hold of will go out in the excursion fleet. Not one that will float is free of a contract to carry sight-seers. The steamboat inspectors have been working night and day, seeing that all are seaworthy and endeavoring to reduce the chances of accident to a minimum.

TODAY'S PROGRAM.

At 11 o'clock tomorrow morning the mayor and reception committee will be taken on the steamboat Sandy Hook to Olympia. The mayor will then officially welcome the admiral in the name of the city and at the same time present him with a jeweled badge, commemorative of the celebration. The mayor will be taken back to the Sandy Hook, and the admiral will make a return call on the mayor.

At 1 p. m. the naval parade will start from the assembling point at Templesville and will steam up the North river. The Olympia, escorted by the Sandy Hook will lead the parade and will come to anchor off Grant's tomb with her bow upstream. The rest of the parade will pass up on the west side of the river, circle around the Olympia, which will review the parade, and then will pass down on the east side of the river. The warships in line will anchor behind the Olympia and the large yachts will anchor near the Olympia next to the New York shore. The rest of the parade will break up off West Twenty-third street, and the police boats will then clear the river of all small craft.

At about 7:30 p. m. there will be fireworks displays from flotillas of large car-floats off Grant's tomb in the North river and off Ward's island in the East river. These displays will last forty-five minutes. Then the flotilla will pass down both rivers in a blaze of displays and will meet off the Battery, where several other floats will be anchored. The combined flotilla will then give another brilliant display. The fireworks displays at several points in all the boroughs of the city will light up all of Greater New York for three-quarters of an hour.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPLAY.

WONDERFUL FIREWORK SPECTACLE—1,500 SINGERS SERENADE DEWEY.

New York, Sept. 28.—The city had on a full gala dress in honor of Dewey tonight, and until long after midnight the streets were filled with an admiring multitude. From the Battery upward the principal streets were ablaze with crimson and blue and white from hundreds of illuminated signals of welcome. The multitude sought the waterfront where could be seen "Welcome Dewey," emblazoned in huge letters on the bridge. Red fire glowed on the bay shores, while search lights from several points, including the ships of the squadron, united in their rays over the head of Liberty, forming an electrical May pole. Buildings all over the city were illuminated, while huge kites bore aloft brilliantly colored displays.

A CHORAL WELCOME.

New York sang its welcome to Dewey and the fleet tonight. Fifteen hundred members of the People's Choral union, on two steamboats, went down the bay to serenade the Olympia, and while about it serenaded the New York and Chicago too, and everywhere was received with great enthusiasm. The Olympia acknowledged the serenade with a band and noise. Dewey received a committee from the singers and came out on the forward deck and waved a torch in greeting to the serenaders. A huge bouquet of roses was presented to the admiral.

IN THE MORNING.

Dewey was considerably fatigued, and did not rise until later than usual. He breakfasted at 7:30 and remained in quarters attending to mail which is accumulating very rapidly since he came into the bay. There was a large crowd of sight-seers out early and they became enthusiastic when "at colors" was sounded and officers and crews gathered on the decks of the various warships, while a half dozen bands played "The Star Spangled Banner."

After finishing his correspondence Admiral Dewey appeared on the quarter deck and paced up and down for a constitutional. A score of yachts were around the flagship. The people on excursion steamers and yachts cheered wildly at the first sight of the admiral and he was busy bowing in return. According to the weather bureau, bad weather is in store for the naval parade tomorrow.

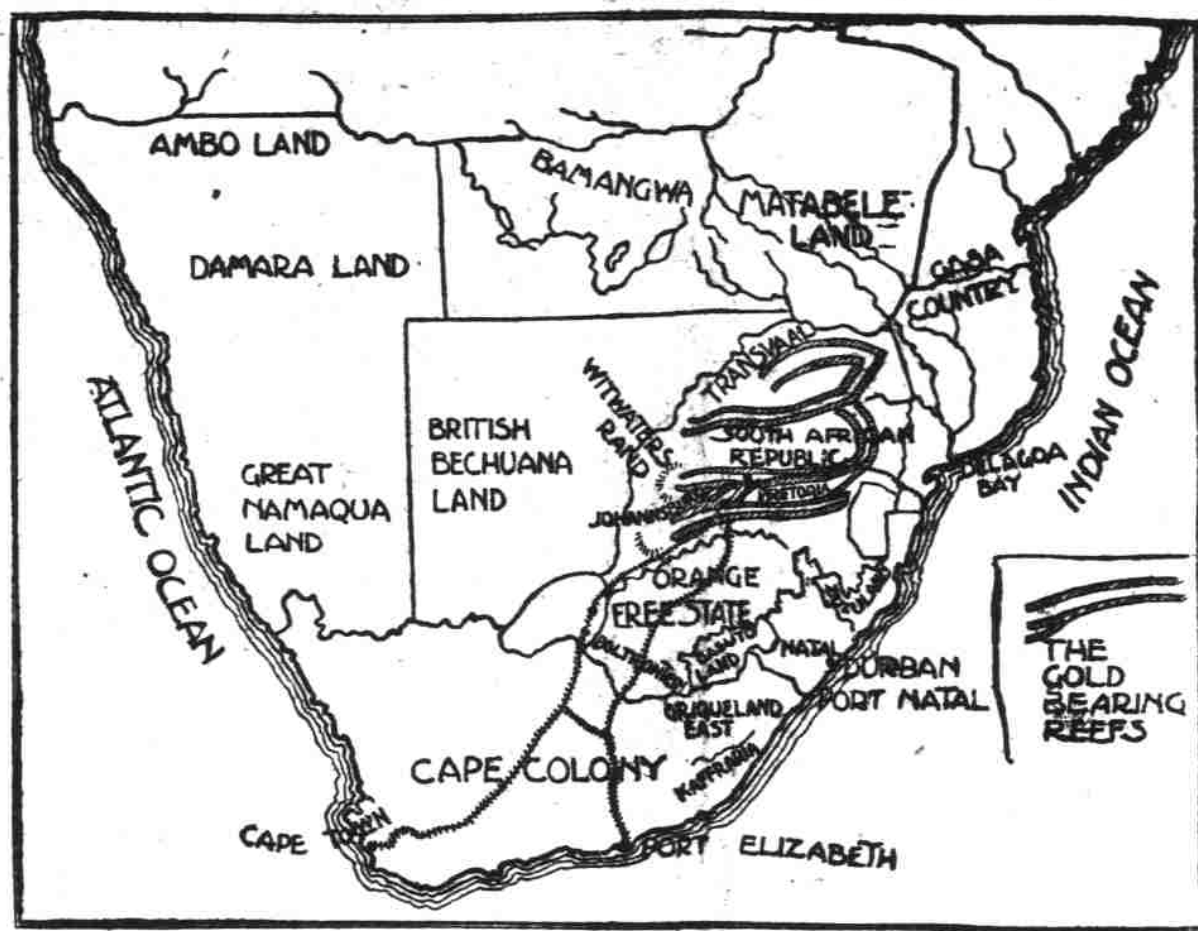

ARRIVALS.

Battery B, of Cincinnati, which arrived late last night to take part in the parade, are living in the cars in which they arrived. They have two sleeping cars and a baggage car which is utilized as a kitchen. They brought all of their trappings with them, but will hire horses in New York to drag the four Gatling guns of the battery in the land parade on Saturday.

The Indianapolis light battery arrived with 60 men and five guns. The battery served in the Porto Rican campaign. The battery expects to occupy a train.

MEDALS PRESENTED.

The 350 men who fought under Dewey at Manila were presented this morning with the bronze medals awarded by congress. Captain Lambertson made the presentations, pinning the medal on the breast of each man as his name was called. The medals bear the admiral's face in relief. Admiral Dewey's Chinese servants were decorated.

Rear Admiral Howison was an early visitor to the Olympia, and the boat load of visitors had the gratification of hearing the admiral's voice. When Howison was leaving the ship, and almost in the launch, Dewey shouted:

"Henry, what about that dinner?" "Oh," replied Howison, "I forgot it and I am going elsewhere tonight." "Never mind," said Dewey, "sorry I mentioned it."

Another visitor, Captain Chadwick of the New York, walked with Dewey on the quarter deck for almost half an hour. Later Dewey was joined by Brumby and had an animated conversation until a party of junior officers from the Chicago interrupted them. A boat load of women attracted the admiral's attention and catching sight of a flaxen haired Dole boy dressed in sailor clothes in the bow of the boat, he invited the party on board and devoted several minutes speaking to the little chap on the quarter deck.

Howison said today the Chicago would appear in the naval parade, but he would not take precedence over Admiral Sampson, the Chicago being assigned the last place in the line.

MILES AND DEWEY.

The committee from Washington reached the Olympia at 11 o'clock. The tug bearing the party called by the New York and got Sampson. As the tug left the New York for the Olympia the flagship fired a major general's salute. Dewey, Lambertson and Brumby received the committee. Dewey grasped the hand of General Miles as he stepped aboard and said: "I am glad to see you General." The admiral took the committee in the cabin. They remained on board three-quarters of an hour.

TO PROCLAIM MARTIAL LAW

Boer Officials Arrive at Johannesburg For That Purpose.

Fair Grounds Requisitioned as Depot for War Stores

Balfour in a Public Address Talks Warlike.

Preparations in Progress in Pretoria to Take the Field.

BOER TROOPS MASSING TO PREVENT A RAID OVER THE BORDER AT GLENCOE AND DUNDEE—CAPETOWN PETITION TO QUEEN VICTORIA URGING PEACE.

Johannesburg, Sept. 28.—Captains Lon Brandis and Vandenberg arrived here today from Pretoria to arrange for a proclamation of martial law on the rand. The proclamation may be issued without reference to actual hostilities. The government has requisitioned a great agricultural show yard here for use as a depot for war stores.

SMALL HOPE OF PEACE.

London, Sept. 28.—Balfour, government leader in the commons, in a speech at Dundee today, intimated that the government had small hope of a peaceful settlement of the Boer dispute. He declared that the government had shown great moderation, and the fault of war would not rest with Great Britain. The point had now been reached when, apparently, Dutch leaders refused to give way where Great Britain could not and would not give way, because her interests in South Africa, and civilization and national honor made such a course impossible. Balfour spurned the idea that the government wishes to seize Dutch territory in South Africa.

EXCITEMENT AT PRETORIA.

Intense excitement prevails at Pretoria, where it is believed there is no escape from war. The commission appointed reported today what officials are necessary to carry on the government during the war and fixing salaries. All preparations are being made to take the field.

An Englishman named Robertson was arrested at Johannesburg for high treason. It is alleged he enlisted as a recruit for the imperial high house guards.

The burghers are getting uneasy at the concentration of British troops at Ladysmith and Light's Neck and especially at Glencoe and Dundee. The Boers do not intend to be caught napping, and are now massing around Vryheid, not as a protective measure, but to be prepared unless the British reinforcements across the border cease, to make a dash in force through a portion of Zululand, crossing the Buffalo river at a point below Rorke's drift and then seizing the railroad, cut off the British garrison at Dundee and Ladysmith from the south.
