CAROLINA NEWS.

The young man Hammell, who was shot by his father, near Greensboro, was better yesterday. An operation was performed on him, and it is thought he has a chance at life.

The plant of the Roper Lumber company at Roper, one of the most extensive in the state, was totally destroyed by fire Thursday, together with 60,000 feet of sawed lumber. A large number of men were thrown out of employment.

The dispensary sold last week $235 worth of whiskey and $600 last month. Manager Lynch informs us that the largest sale the dispensary has had in one day was $235, in a week $400 and in a month $1,100. Who would have thought it?—Rutherfordton Press.

Deputy Marshal Scoggin, Special Deputy Collector Knippe, Special Gauger Sams and others made a raid into Spicer's Cove, Polk county, Friday night and Saturday morning and destroyed three copper stills, 5,000 gallons of beer, and Willis Allen got a 'possum.—Rutherfordton Press.

A start has been made on suits on account of the smallpox. J. R. Pentress, who came home from Newport News, Va., a year ago and was adjudged to have the disease yesterday brought suit before Justice Pritchett for $150 for damages for burning his clothing by reason of the disease.—Greensboro Record.

Mr. Charlie Hill was exhibiting Monday a Beckler dollar he had just taken from an old lock found two years ago in a lot of rubbish at the old France Wood place on Washington street. The Becklers lived and coined money there in 1858, and the dollar, which was bent almost double, has probably been in the lock since that time.—Rutherfordton Press.

The Mt. Airy News says that Tax Collector McIver, who disappeared last week, carried about $500 with him, which his bondsmen will have to pay. Of the above amount $100 belonged to the Junior Order Lodge, of which McIver was treasurer. The merchants and parties who endorsed his paper are losers to the amount of $400. The officer's salary was $35 per month. He has a wife and two children.

Last night a carload of farmers arrived in the city over the Lynchburg and Durham road. They came with tobacco, and nearly an entire freight train, so it was learned, was required to bring the weed to market. Today all of the warehouses in the city will have very large breaks. The prices paid for tobacco recently have been above the average of the past 12 months and the increase is having its effect.—Durham Herald.

The conviction of Molineux in New York city for the poisoning of Mrs. Adams has been a long drawn out trial and was a most intricate case at first but was completely unraveled by Mr. James Osborne, a native of Charlotte, that he was convicted of murder in the first degree. A telegram today (Friday) says Molineux was sentenced to be electrocuted during the week of the 26th of March. After the intense strain Mr. Osborne came to Charlotte on a visit to his mother and other relatives.—Concord Standard.

PEOPLE'S MEETING.

"An Ideal Christian" will be the subject of the people's meeting at Hilliard hall this afternoon. Mr. Fisher Ames, of St. Paul, is to lead. These meetings are designed, it seems, to be unpartisan and non-sectarian. They are also open to all earnest speakers and seekers, and the idea is to give everyone an opportunity of reverently considering together the great fundamental of ethics, sociology and religion, in the hope that such considering will lead more and more to make this everyday world in which all live better and nobler.

KENTUCKY.

Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune. The people of the full republican ticket. The democratic cabal of disappointed office hunters, repudiated at the polls, has, through every device of inflamed partisan rancor and debauchery of law and resort to anarchy, sought to subvert the public will by partisan legislative action and through the convenient offices of a packed election commission, to be ratified by decision of partisan court, it presses its outlawry and usurpation to boasted predetermined consummation. So let it be. Subversion of suffrage, by whatever means accomplished, is a heinous crime, bearing ashen apples of Dead Sea fruitage. Political conspiracy may succeed for a time. Factional usurpation of party functions and party truculence of subservient public servants may give wrong a little brief supremacy. Still, the people are sovereign. Right is right, and in the end the eternal principles of popular rule will prevail. The democratic insurrectionists may, in the crooked trend of events, reap temporary success, or they may not. In the finale, it is of no grave concern, since the conclusion of the whole matter is, after all, in the power of the people to determine.

HE GOT THE JOB.

Won It Because of His Experience on the Fur Road in Alaska. This railroad story comes from Texas. It is said that a big, rawboned, rough looking fellow walked into the office of a certain railroad general manager, and, after passing a crude sort of greeting, said: "I want to get a job." "At what—railroad work?" asked the general manager. "Yes." "What can you do?" "Anything. Been railroading all my life." "Where did you work last?" "With the Fur road out in Alaska." "Fur road? What road is that?" "Well, I tell you. A few years ago I was working in this country, and the gold fever in the Yukon district broke out. I know I couldn't be much worse off there than I was here, so I started out. I didn't have much money, and when I got to Dawson City I was pretty close to the cloth and had to go to work and get a job with this road I was telling you about. They promised me $100 a month, and at the end of the first 30 days, when I went to the paymaster's office, they pitched me out ten skins. I made a 'holer,' but when I noticed that all the others were being paid in the same coin I took the skins and started down the street. At the first wineshop I struck I stopped to take a drink, and when I swallowed it I pitched over one of these skins. The barkeeper looked at me rather funny and said, 'Here, is that the smallest you've got?' I told him yes, and he pitched the skin over to a porter and told him to go out and get it changed. The porter was gone an hour, and when he returned he counted me out 408 little skins and I had to hire an express to get my salary down to the boarding house." "Here!" broke in the general manager. "Go down yonder in the yards and tell the yardmaster I said give you a job." And he got the job.—Memphis Scimitar.

A NIGHT OF TERROR.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning" writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at all druggists. A Crusher. Commodore Vanderbilt was not so aristocratic in his tastes as some of his relations. On one occasion he was sitting on the crowded piazza of a fashionable hotel when a lady approached. The commodore rose and talked affably with her while his wife and daughter raged. "Father," said the daughter, "don't you remember that vulgar woman as the one who used to sell poultry to us?" "Certainly, my dear," responded the old man heartily, "and I remember your mother when she sold roe beer while I peddled oysters up in Jersey." The ladies made no further comments.

TO BE PREPARED

For war is the surest way for this nation to maintain peace. That is the opinion of the wisest statesmen. It is equally true that to be prepared for spring is the best way to avoid the peculiar dangers of the season. This is a lesson multitudes are learning, and at this time, when the blood is sure to be loaded with impurities and to be weak and sluggish, the millions begin to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, expels all disease germs, creates a good appetite, gives strength and energy and puts the whole system in a healthy condition, preventing pneumonia, fevers, and other dangerous diseases which are liable to attack a weakened system.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.
