GOEBEL LAW AFTERMATH

Judge Field Decides for Democrats in Governorship Contest.

Serious Trouble Again Impending at Frankfort.

Troops Called for and Gatling Gun Again on Duty.

Escape of Officials Accused as Accessories in Goebel's Murder.

LATER THEY ARE CAPTURED AT LEXINGTON, ROUGHLY TREATED AND LODGED IN JAIL—DANGER OF CONFLICT BETWEEN MILITIA ORGANIZATIONS.

Louisville, Ky., March 10.—Circuit Judge Field, of the Common pleas court, has decided in favor of the democrats in the contest over the governorship of Kentucky. He handed down a decision today sustaining the demurrer of the democrats, holding that the court was without jurisdiction. Judge Field said: "I have carefully read the authorities. The conclusion I have reached is that the courts have no right to interfere in this matter, as in their decision of the case the contest board and the legislature were acting within their jurisdiction. The courts have no power to inquire into the doings of the legislature, even where fraud and conspiracy are charged. The legislative journal cannot be impeached, and its record must be taken as absolute." The republicans will take appeal to the Court of Appeals.

POWERS AND DAVIS ESCAPE.

Frankfort, March 10.—Not since the legislature left Frankfort for Louisville has there been so much excitement as today. Secretary of State Powers and Captain Davis, against whom warrants charging them with being accessory to the murder of Goebel were issued, got away this evening on the Chesapeake and Ohio train, going to eastern Kentucky. They were marched to the train by a squad of soldiers. Their escape was a complete surprise to the police, who still discredit that they are gone. They were escorted to the train through back streets in the middle of a body of soldiers. An attempt to arrest them will probably be made at Lexington. A big gatling gun tonight commands the gate leading to the state house grounds.

CLASH OF MILITARY ORDERS.

Lexington, Ky., March 10.—Assistant Adjutant General Dixon this afternoon ordered Colonel Williams of this city to bring fifty men to Frankfort immediately. Colonel Williams has left the city. Captain Longmire of company M was notified of the order and was instructed by the democratic officials not to allow the republicans to have the arms of the state companies here. He assembled a guard of twenty men, and holding the arms tonight. Longmire says he will take no orders from Taylor. A squad of police is at the armory to prevent a clash between the two factions of the local state guards.

POWERS AND DAVIS ARRESTED ON TRAIN AT LEXINGTON

Crowd of Yelling Goebelites Surrounded the Station.

Lexington, Ky., March 10.—Powers and Davis were arrested here tonight on the arrival of the train on which they were passengers. As an inducement to the officers a thousand dollars was offered for the arrest of Powers and five hundred for the arrest of Davis. Powers was in the attire of a soldier. There was a large crowd of Goebelites at the depot ready to help the officers and a local guard of militia improvised by Captain Longmire to guard the armory and prevent the republicans from taking arms were on hand with their rifles.

WILKIE & LABARBE,

Real Estate Agents. 45 Patton Ave.

The greatest excitement prevailed when nearly the entire police force and a number of deputy sheriffs rushed into the car containing the fugitives. The police had revolvers drawn and stuck them in the face of twenty-seven soldiers accompanying the fugitives before they could raise their rifles. Lieutenant Peake, in command of the troops, drew a revolver. It was knocked out of his hand. When Powers resisted he was struck on the head with a billy, which laid open his scalp. As the men emerged from the coach a loud yell went up from the Goebel men. Davis begged his captors to protect him. The men were lodged in separate cells in the jail.

STATIONS ON ELECTRIC LINE. Points Where Cars Will Stop Between Asheville and Weaverville.

A force of men is now at work taking away the old masonry at Baird's Falls, clearing away the flood trash that has accumulated. The work was expected to be finished last night, and the force will continue on the new dam for the Asheville and Weaverville electric line. The stations for the line have been decided on. They will be about 2,000 feet apart and at each a platform, with seats and the name of the station, will be erected. The stations are named as follows, beginning at Asheville: Riverside Park, at Pearson's bridge; River View, where the line strikes the wagon road; Squaw Run, at Breckinridge's hill; Bluffton, on the hill by the river; Gouche's Park, where the road crosses the creek; Parker's, at Parker's store; Gold View, below the place of this name; Iron Mountain, at the foot of the mountain of this name; Du Bose's View, at Du Bose's house; Baird's Corner, at the old brick house; Stony Knob, known by this name; Forest Glenn, where the line leaves the wagon road; Reems Creek, where the line crosses the creek, half way between the two mills; Chataqua Park, at the camping ground near Weaverville, and Weaverville.

It has not yet been determined where the depot will be, depending upon the street used. The depot there will be 16x30 feet, with a passenger room, postoffice, freight and express rooms. Stops will be made only at these stations. The line will cross Reems creek on a trestle about 30 feet high. Du Bose's View is the highest point on the line between the terminals. Mr. Barnes, the engineer, says Asheville and Weaverville have the same altitude. The company will begin putting in new ties on Haywood street tomorrow preparatory to the paving work. Some work is also being done on the other end of the line.

JUDGE CALVIN GILLIS. Passed Away Yesterday at His Home In This City.

Judge Calvin Gillis died at his home on North Main street, this city, last evening at 5 o'clock. The end came unexpectedly, but was the termination of an illness of several weeks. Judge Gillis was born in 1820, in Moore county, N. C. His parents were both natives of Scotland. He lived the greater part of his life in Alabama and Florida. In the latter state he was judge of the superior court, after occupying several judicial offices below that grade, and sat as a member in three Florida legislatures. Judge Gillis came to this city in 1898. He leaves a widow, a daughter and two sons, Donald Gillis, esq., and Calvin Gillis, jr. The funeral will be private.

AT OAK HALL, TRYON.

Tryon, N. C., March 10.—This popular resort is having a booming season, being one of the finest hotels of the south, under nothern management. It is situated beautifully upon a hill near the railroad depot and is surrounded by some of the most beautiful scenery this side of the Rockies. Train schedules are so arranged as to permit visitors to Asheville to see this resort, leaving in the morning and turning in time for tea, making a charming side trip which should not be missed.

Among the latest arrivals at Oak Hall are: Mrs. M. Y. Wheeler and two children, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mr. George H. Billings, Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. P. Ivy, New Hampshire; Mr. W. H. NO MONEY FOR EX-QUEEN LILUOKALANI

Senate Tables Amendment Appropriating $10,000 Annually to Her.

Washington, March 10.—The feature of the proceedings in the senate today was a rather acrimonious debate in connection with the amendment to the diplomats and consular appropriations bill, appropriating $20,000 now and $10,000 annually for ex-Queen Liliuokalani in lieu of her interest in the crown lands of Hawaii.

Several senators denied the validity of Liliuokalani's claims to the lands and bitterly opposed the appropriation on that ground. Some of them, however, were willing to vote the allowance, provided it was specifically stated that the money was a gift.

The amendment was tabled, the ground being taken that the proper place for an appropriation of this nature was in the regular annual appropriation bill. The bill was then passed. It carries an appropriation of $1,765,768.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, March 10.—The session of the house today was brief and unimportant, most of it being devoted to the consideration of the contested election case of Wise vs. Young of Texas, in a speech against seating Wise, declared that he was not the regular republican candidate, but a bolter.

Hull replied, denying Burke's assertion. The senate bill conferring a territorial form of government on Hawaii, was made the special order for April 3.

HOME RULE.

General Otis Awaiting Arrival of Commission to Inaugurate It.

Washington, March 10.—General Otis is awaiting the arrival of the Philippines commission before inaugurating the movement for home rule in the Philippines. His latest action is the appointment of a board to formulate a plan of municipal government for such towns as have been rescued from the insurgents. The board is requested to formulate a plan which shall contain all necessary features to meet the requirements, and which shall be as liberal in character as the existing conditions permit.

WHEELER'S RESIGNATION

Washington, March 10.—The war department today acknowledged General Wheeler's resignation as a volunteer officer to the volunteer army in a cablegram addressed to the president dated Paniqui, Island of Luzon, Nov. 28, in which he said the insurgent government is virtually destroyed.

SPEECHES BY SENATOR PRITCHARD

Washington, March 10. Senator Pritchard and Colonel James E. Boyd will speak in Carthage, Moore county, on April 3. The proposed constitutional amendment will be discussed. Senator Pritchard and Congressman Linney will leave Sunday night for Lynn, Mass., where they will speak on the occasion of the opening of the Massachusetts state campaign. Attorney General Wadsworth is here, he being interested in a case which will be argued before the supreme court Monday.

THE HAY-PAUNCFOTE TREATY.

Washington, March 10.—No secret was made among officials of the state department of their opposition to the amendment of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, and they are hopeful of defeating it. A visit of Ambassador Pauncefote to the state department today gave rise to the story that he had informed Secretary Hay that his government would not accept the amendment. Officials of the state department, when asked as to the truth of the story, said they did not know what England would do.

ADMIRAL McCORMICK RETIRES

Washington, March 10.—Admiral McCormick, commandant of the Washington Navy yard who was assigned to duty in the Philippines as second in command of the Asiatic station, has applied for retirement on account of ill health. The order assigning him has been revoked, and he is directed to proceed to his home to await orders. Admiral Rodgers will probably be assigned to second command.

CANAL COMMISSION.

Panama, March 10.—The canal commission, headed by Admiral Walker, has made a thorough examination of the various canal routes. The commission leaves for the United States March 23.

FIVE DOLLAR SEATS ON SALE.

Rehearsals of Chorus for Asheville's Great Music Festival.

The $5 reserved season tickets for the Music Festival, March 21 and 22, go on sale at the Paragon tomorrow. Full rehearsals of the chorus will be held tomorrow and Tuesday evenings, in the old library building. Cars on all lines will run after the rehearsals, including the Baltimore line.

Of the Chicago orchestra, the principal attraction at the festival, and its great conductor, the New York Evening Post says: "The greatest conductor cannot be heard to his best advantage unless he has a perfect instrument to play on. Every one was wondering: 'Is the Chicago orchestra as good as it was two years ago, or better or worse?' It is even better than it was when it paid New York its first visit; more mellow in tone quality, more obedient to the conductor's wand, more responsive to emotional influences emanating from his brain. It takes years to make a permanent orchestra what it should be, and Mr. Thomas now has a band second to none in the country, an orchestra of which Chicago has reason to be as proud as of its conductor. It must be a pleasure to play on such an instrument; one could see how Mr. Thomas enjoyed playing on it."

GOOD ROADS LECTURERS.

At Haw Creek This Week, and West Asheville Next.

An invitation has been extended to the directors of the Good Roads association to deliver one of their illustrated lectures at the school house in West Asheville next week, the night to be determined later. J. D. Eggleston, jr., will deliver this talk. The magic lantern will be used with the fine illustrations the association has. A good crowd is wanted to listen to the talk and see the views, which are sure to be interesting. This week T. W. Raoul goes to Haw Creek to lecture there with the magic lantern.

CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW.

Central Epworth League Will Hold One Next Fall.

The Central Epworth league held a meeting on Friday evening at which it was decided to hold a chrysanthemum show in October or November. Prizes will be awarded to those raising the best flowers in point of size, variety and color, and a committee will be appointed to manage the affair. Some members of this committee have already been selected and later additional members will be added from the Ladies' Aid society.

What the prizes will consist of will be divulged later. According to the success of this sort of show in other cities, it is thought that both financially and socially it will be a great success here.

All persons except florists are invited to enter the contest.

Kruger and Steyn Protest to the Neutral Powers

Against the Employment of Kafir Troops by England.

MORE ABOUT THE APPEAL OF KRUGER AND STEYN FOR A CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES—TROOPS LEAVE ENGLAND.

London, March 10.—The military situation in South Africa now occupies a secondary place in the attention of the British government. The entire resources of the empire are being utilized to meet a graver danger, nearer home. It has been known in a vague way for several weeks that some serious peril was threatening England.

The apprehension became more definite when it was learned that France had tried unsuccessfully to induce the sultan to reopen the Egyptian question. Now comes definite information of heavy reinforcements that France is sending to Algiers, Madagascar and Tonquin. The Laftan bureau correspondent at Havre telegraphed today that three additional steamers have just been chartered to take infantry and cavalry through the Suez canal, ostensibly for Madagascar.

Most significant is a series of extraordinary bellicose statements furnished to foreign correspondents at Paris by the French officials. It is apparently the deliberate purpose of these declarations to put England in the attitude of the aggressor. This policy seems to suggest that the war party in France, which is determined to force a rupture, desires first to shift the responsibility for the quarrel. Nothing could be more misleading than the French publications that England is seeking war with that country.

A desire to fight France does not exist in this country. Affairs on the other side of the channel are entirely different. One of their national fevers which attack France about once in a generation, recurring until they culminate in bloodshed, is now raging violently. The result is bitter hatred to all things English.

There was a little incident at the Folies Berges in Paris this week that was wonderfully significant, a biograph show calling out wild enthusiasm for the Boer leaders and savage denunciation when the picture of an English general was shown. Presently one of the spectators hissed at the picture of a French General. Instantly there was a great hubbub and fifty or sixty excited Frenchmen surrounded the offender, who would have suffered severely had not someone exclaimed: "Oh, he's not an Englishman, he's a German; let him go!" The wrath of the crowd quickly subsided and one of the traditional enemies of France departed in peace.

It is simple truth that the war party in France is so powerful at present that the government, which may fall any day almost despair of controlling it. It is not too much to say that the exhibition alone holds France in check. So soon as this manifest restraining influence shall disappear, and if England be then still busy in South Africa, it will be almost impossible to control the bellicose demand of the war party.

In the event of war the French Naval plan will be to keep her fleets under shelter of the guns of Brest, Cherbourg, and Toulon, the idea being that the bombardment of Santiago demonstrated that naval squadrons with a
