THE OPPRESSED FILIPINOS.

"We have no right to ake from the Filipinos what our fathers prized so highly. This proposition is not only bad, but 't threatens the very life and the perpetuity of republican principles in this country.," plously observed F. M. Simmons at the Asheville opera house Wednesday night, and we can see his eyes water for the poor, oppressed Filipinos, who are being deprived of the freedom which our forefathers prized so highly. These words of the hero of the late"glorious victory" in North Carolina and the author of the Simmons law, about republican principles being threatened in this country would draw tears from a wooden image Elsewhere in his address the patriotic 200,000 American silver dollars! Simmons referring to the election in this state in August said: "It was better for the negro as well as for us that he should be eliminated and we eliminated him." And how did you "eliminate" him? How in New Hanover? How in Halifax? How in Robeson, in which the negroes are numerous? Did you do it according to the United States consitution, or the constitution of North Carolina? Is highway robbery elimination? Is the counting of 4,500 negro votes in Halifax county as democratic eliminating them? Is the election of a democratic governor in North Carolina by stolen negro votes-not eliminated in the returns but counted as cast for the democratic candidates -defending the perpetuity of republican principles in this country? Oh, the poor, black Filipinos! How our hearts bleed for them that they should be deprived of what our forefathers prized so highly! "We" who eliminate negroes at home, weep for the elimination of those abroad. They who "love F. M. Simmons for the enemies he has made" must also stand in awestruck admiration of him for his devotio... to the principles of the republic and their application to the negroes -in the Philippine islands. Mr. Simmons gave further notice that he is of the Kansas City platform." With some people that will atone for a repudiation of the United States constituion. Mr. Simmons said he was "prouder than ever of the great leader (Bryan); he stands today the first citizen of the land, first in wisdom and breadth of power and moral grasp, the peer of any man living in the world today." Now if Col. Bryan would endorse the Simmons law and North Carolina redshirt militarism, we could regard the demoaguinaldite national campai-n as inaugurated in this state.

Cleveland's former cabinet does not support Bryan to any great extent. John G. Carlisle was elected last week to the presidency of the Lawyers' Sound Money Campaign club, and Wilson S. Bissell and Daniel S. Lamont are as firm in their advocacy of the gold standard and in their opposition to Bryanism as Mr. Carlisle. Nor is Mr. Carlisle the only democratic lawyer in the new Sound Money club. He is associated with Wheeler H. Peckham, Franklin Barrett, George C. Rives, George Hoadley, Francis Lynde Stetson and other men of prominence who vote the democratic ticket when, as the Times says, there is a democratic platform.

The Swiss republic has a standing army that is forty times as large as ours proportionately to the population. It also has the referendum and several other things, but no signs of a war or an empire. The United States is not the only successful republic on earth

In answer to Bryan's declaration that the republican party claims credit for beneficial acts of Providence, Roosevelt says he is willing to admit a fusion of the party with Providence but he never knew of the democratic party having acted with Providence.

A man out west gives bankers a tip for making a tidy sum of money in case Bryan is elected. The plan is as

In October of 1900 a certain banker, having $106,000 on deposit in his bank and believing Mr. Bryan will be elected, takes the $106,000 to Wall street, and purchases 200,000 Mexican silver dollars for 53 cents each—each of these heavier and finer than the American silver dollar. He then stores his Mexican silver dollars in his vaults.

In March, 1901, Mr. Bryan being president, and a free silver coinage law enacted, the banker takes his 200,000 Mexican silver dollars to the United States mint and has them coined into

He then issues a notice to the depostors to meet him in the bank and addresses them as follows: "My friends and depositors, you have to your credit in my bank $106,000, and as I intend to retire from business I herewith give you your $106,000 in bright, new American silver dollars and you will note that I have $94,000 left for myself! Be-Edgecombe and all the other counties fore I start on my pleasure trip to Europe kindly tell me whom I shall thank for this handsome present?"

> In the year 1896 the average attendance in the public schools of this country was 9,747,015, for whom 400,325 teachers were employed, at an expense of $116,377,778, the total outlay for education in public schools being $184.453,-780. In 1897 there was an average daily attendance of 10,089,620 children there were 403,333 teachers, officers, and teachers were paid $119,303,542, and the whole expenditure for public school maintemance was $187,320,602. In 1898 they had 10,286,092 daily attendance, 409,193 officers and teachers were employed to conduct them, at $123,809,412, and the whole cost of public schools was $194,-

The Washington Post thinks the appearance of Sixto Lopez, the Filipino emissary, in this country is untimely, to say the least, and says: "He will do the cause of the Filipinos no good and most certainly will prove an embarrassment to the democrats in the further exploitation of their paramount The manifestos which he has issued from London have naturally fallen flat. If our democratic friends have brought him here and it is difficult to credit such a theory-they cannot too soon send him back to Lon-"heart and soul for every single plank | don."

STATE POLITICS.

At the regular meeting of the Mctomorrow night, Prof. J. J. Britt of Bakersville, will address the club on the issues of the day.

Your sins will find you out, Mr. Simmons, but if you can use your machinery against Carr and Waddell, as successfully as you used it against the republicans, your chances are good for an election whether you enjoy fruits of fraud, intimidation, redshirtism, or not .- Davie Record.

There are only 2,369 white voters in Edgecombe county, yet that county went democratic (?) in august by 3,500 majority. Now, the question arises, will the Carr and Simmons vote combined in Edgecombe be 2,369, or will they still have that 3,500 majority? Will they have all the "niggers" down there to go democratic (?) again? If the combined vote is only 2,369, will they not show to what extent fraud and vote stealing were practised?-The Cauca-

McCLURE'S FOR OCTOBER.

The October number of McClure's opens with an article on "The Strategy of National Campaigns," attractively illustrated by Jay Hambridge. The frontispiece, showing Governor Roosevelt and Senator Hanna in conference at republican national headquarters, and the strikingly original portraits of Cleveland, Blaine, Quay, Croker, Bryan and others, lend especial interest to this paper on the tactics of party managers in the presidential campaigns of the past twenty-five years. The author has been in the thick of the fight and has evidently been brought very closely into contact with the great lead. ers in the battles which he describes.

Your grocer may offer you a baking powder for a less price than the Rumford, but you can put it down as containing alum and should not be used. All first class grocers sell and use Rumford.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

"All know that in Christian science the patient and practitioner depend on and trust God and God alone for the healing of the body as well as the casting out of sin. Can it be more sinful to die trusting God than it is to die trusting some one else than God? Can the one who advises the implicit trust in God be more sinful than the one who advises implicit trust in something less than God?"

The above paragraph constitutes the gist of the defense or explanation of Mary Hatch Harrison, the Christian Scientist who was in attendance on the child, Henry Parsons, previous to his death. It seems strange that sophims so apparent should pass unchallenged, or that intelligent people for a moment should be deceived by them. Carried to its logical comclusion the inference from Miss Harrison's statements would be that although God has provided means for the accomplishment of certain ends He is not so much honored by having His children study those means and them for the maintenance or restoration of health as by having them ignore the means and appeal to Him directly to act independently of them. In other words, they assume that God prefers to work through miracles than in accordance with the ordinary laws of nature, although the experience of the race contradicts this assumption. If one is suffering from thirst the Scientists do not advise him "to trust God and God alone" for relief, while refusing the water everywhere provided. They forget that the same God who supplies water in abundance for daily needs also caused the bearing kings to grow "whose leaves are for the healing of the nations." To learn the properties of these mere remedial things to investigate to experiment in the whole realm of nature, animal, vegetable and mineral, surely this is legitimate and praiseworthy and implies no distrust of Him who made all things. If it is not impious to "depend on" the drink of water when one is thirsty, neither is it wrong to look for relief from other ills and discomforts in nature's great leboratory. To repudiate these good gifts. to condemn them all as "drugs" and nostrums is neither wise nor logical. There seems to be no reasonable ground for confidence that when one ignores natural law, trusting that a miracle will save him from the results of his acts, that will be justified. He who 'casts himself from the cliff is not so wise as he who, recognizing his limitations. walks down the mountain side with care and courage. Trust in God is shown by trust in the conditions He has enforced rather than in own ability to override them or His desire to have us attempt to do so.

TEA IN CHINA.

E. H. C.

Tea growing, which forms one of China's most important industries, gives employment to thousands of women. This useful plant is not cultivated in tea gardens, as in India, but in patches on sloping ground, where it will receive plenty of moisture. Tea grows in China to a height of about three feet, and the first picking is the most important; it consists mainly of young leaves, covered with a whitish down, called in Chinese pekoe, while southong means small or rare variety: congoo, worked, from being well worked in the after preparation, and Bohea, from the locality.

Great care must be taken not to ivjure the plant, and thus spoil the next erops. Women and children strip the ttwigs and can pick about fifteen pounds a day. The leaves are spread on shallow trays to dry off the moisture; they are then thrown on to the hot pans for five minutes and rolled on ratkan tables before being exposed out of doors for a few hours, during which they are carefully watched, turned and opened out. The process is repeated a second time and the leaves are then dry and dark. Different kinds of flowers, such as roses, orange blossoms, jasmine and gardenias, are used to scent the tea. Like the French, the Chinese have but two regular meals in the day, one at 8 or 10 in the morning, the other at 5 or 6. There are numerous dainties on BEGIN the table, which are eaten with the chop sticks, and tea is the beverage. The Chinese some times make their tea in teapots, much as we do, but they also frequently make it separately, directly in each cup, throwing in a few leaves and pouring on them the boiling water. The cups, which are as large as our breakfast cups, are provided with lids, which are left on while the tea is brewing. Pipes are smoked at intervals during the meals.—Chicago News.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver, of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well men. I know they robbed the grave of another victim. No one should fail to try them. Only 50c, guaranteed, at all
