GLIMPSES OF LIFE IN THE OLD NORTH STATE

Floating Items That Share the Tread of Industrial and Social Progress.

EVENTS OF LIVE INTEREST IN THE LAND OF THE SKY

Gleanings From the Columns of the Local Papers in Various fowns of the State.

-The World is authority for the statement that the Ducktown Copper Company has purchased a lot of real estate near the railroad shops at Blue Ridge and will erect a large number of houses for the use of their employ-

-Sam Malon, the murderer of Dillard Cox is still at large although the authorities have been making every effor' to capture him. Malone has a gash on his left chin where he was cut while in a row last week. Both the murdered man and the murderer had done time on the Rowan county chain g.ng. -Salisbury Sun.

-As soon as sufficent stock is subscribed the Durham County Fair and Breeding Association will be incorporated. It is almost positive now that the first meeting will be held next fall. The fair will be incorporated for $15,-

-We learn a real good article of coal has been mined at Walnut Cove. It is understood by our informant that this property is to be developed this year .- Mount Airy News.

-Miss Ann Henderson had a painful and frightful experience Friday of last week. While eating dinner the upper set of false teeth became loosened and slipped down and lodged in her throat. Dr. L. A. Crowell was summoned and extracted the teeth. Miss Henderson's suffering was intense until the teeth were removed from her throat.-Lincolnton Journal.

-The second train rocking in Rowan county within four days occurred near Woodside when a young negro man threw a rock at the Yadkin train. The rock broke a glass and narrowly missed hitting Mr. Harry Dalton Miss Lindsay daughter of the proprietor of the Mt. Vernon hotel was also a passenger and the glass flew over her face. The negro ran but Capt. Russler got a glimpse of him and phoned to Woodside of the affair. Sheriff Julian immediately authorized the man's arrest and when he came in sight at Woodside he was taken in., Deputy Krider went out for him and placed him in jail. He was tried before Esquire Murphy Wednesday morning and bound over to court in a $50 bond.

-There was a sad, peculiar case of drowning near Fishdam yesterday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock. At that time little Miss Mildred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Rogers, was drowned under the most peculiar circumstances. The little girl went into the yard to play and it was some 10 or 15 minutes when the mother went to look for her and found her dead in a small hole of water in the front yard. In the edge of the yard the children had dug a hole-a well as they termed it in their innocent play-and it was to this hole that the little daughter went to play. The recent rains had left about 10 inches of water in the well, which was some two and one-half feet in depth, and while playing around the well the little one fell in head foremost.-Durham Herald.

The Raw Food Theory.

Professor B. Tyler of Indianapolis says that human life would average three or four times longer than it does if people would reject the senseless practice of cooking their food. Animals and fowl live much longer in proportion to the period of full development than man. "Man, for some unknown reason, eats dead cells (cooked cells) to replace the dead cells that have been separated from the body. In cooking food all the acids and gases so necessary for the conservation and preservation of ideal health escape with the steam, and the food retains a greater supply of ash, lime and other such substances than nature requires for the amount of food taken into the system."

Old men often give advice to young men-and they also give up money to confidence men occasionally.

A man gets down to bed rock when he has to keep the cradle in motion.

WOMEN A HUNDRED YEARS FROM THE MARKETS

This is what a writer in one of the English magazines predicts will be the state of affairs when another new century rolls

"By that time women will be all six feet in height, many of them considerably over, while the average height of man will he five feet nothing. Woman will be strong and lusty; broad, and heavy in build, and will be very proud of her large feet, thick wrists, powerful limbs and great muscula: development, while men will have grown ain of their trimly-corseted waists, nice pink-and-white complexions and soft, gen-

"Love will not have been completely done away with, though sentiment will have given way to common sense. Every woman will be required to marry and su; port two husbands, one of whom must i a useful, domesticated creature, capabi of tending the children and looking aftthe household (while the wife is away he city earning good money to keep home together), and the other will be etter-looking, and therefore more or: mental creature (not a 'general utili man like the 'housekeeper'), whose dut will be to act as companion or 'genti man-help' to the mistress and ruler of t mansion, and keep things up to the man renerally. "Women a century hence will all wea bloomers,' both literally and figuratively peaking; any woman transgressing by ppearing in a long-tailed skirt will b endemned to act as public street scaven er for as long a period as the local coun il shall determine. Woman will also we. a moustache, and the faces of men wi gradually become smooth. Cooks will n lorger be at a premium, as tiny tabloid of food will take the place of the elabo rate dishes of the past. We shall be able to get through a six-course dinner i about two minutes, a tabloid for eac course, or, if we prefer it, we can have multum in parvo, a tabloid with everyharmonious whole.'

LOVE-LETTERS OF PRINCE BIS-MARCK,

In the selections from the "Love-Lo ters of Prince Bismarck," in Harper' for February, we have a curious picture of the Iron Chancellor, at the asof 30, endeavoring to persuade his ture by such bits as this:

strange thoughts. One of them, slender | the railway list continued to be influand pretty, with its ornamental crown enced by the belief in further impend (top) and soft, pale, very pale, pink ing developments in the way of formablossoms, but little foliage and only tion of new alliances. Total sales of two buds, transports me to Reddetin, stock today, 1,917,318. holds itself rather stiffly and lisps English. The other makes far less impression of beauty as you look at it, and its stalk betrays in its gnarled twisting lack of care in its pruning. From the midst of the foliage looks out a dead branch, but the crown is rich in leaves and the foliage is greener than that of its neighbor! it gives promise of abundant blossoming in its eight buds, and its color is deep dark red and white in irregular gay variegation. Do you take the comparison amiss? It is a lame comparison, moreover, for I do not love camellias, because they are without odor, and you I love precisely on account of the fragrance of the flower of your spirit, which is white, dark, red. and black.'

The farmer of today reads the papers and refuses to invest in "gold bricks" but he steps up to the polls and votes for the candidate who promises the impossible, just as he always did.

A Pretty Compliment.

A woman foremost in the ranks of the serious writers and scholarly thinkers was guest of honor at a suburban club celebration not long ago. Her audience waited breathlessly for the pearls of wisfrom her lips. Her address was scheduled toward the end of the programme, and when she finally arose to speak every eye was alive, every ear alert to catch her every word. Would she take her text from Emerson, Carlyle, Brown ing, Ibsen or Maeterlinck? Nietsche, perhaps. "My dear friends and fellow - hib women," began the great woman in inpressive tones, "before I say or do any thing else"-the audience caught breath-"I want to tell you that you the best looking set of women that I've ever addressed."-New York Sun.

Doblins and Bees.

The dahlin is deservedly a favorite flower in most country districts nowadays. A row of brilliant red dahlias on either side of the garden walk is charm ing and effective. The flower, too, de serves our esteem in that it blooms when most of the good things of summer are hastening to decay. We do not hear beekeepers telling stories against the dab-High. Low. Close lia nowadays, but it was decidedly a suspect in former days. Authorities held that the cultivation of the dahlia was quite incompatible with successful beekeeping. The bees, it used to be said, were rendered drunk and incapable by feeding on the honey of those flowers. Some would die from the effects, while those that recovered made little or no honey when they arrived bome at the hive.-London Express.

"I have come, sir," said the English nobleman condescendingly, "to ask your daughter in marriage." "Indeed!" replied the hard featured American papa. "Practically you want my daughter and her fortune, giving your title in exchange. Isn't that all?"

"Well-er-if you put it that way, yes. Is not my title more than sufficient to"-"No. I want something to boot, and if you don't clear out you'll be that something."-Catholic Standard and Times.

Foul-Smelling Catarrh.

Catarrh is one of the most obstinate liseases, and hence the most difficult to get rid of. There is but one way to cure it. The disease is in the blood, and all the sprays, washes and inhaling mixtures in the world can have no permanent effect whatever upon it. Swift's Specific cures Catarrh permanently, for it is the only remedy which can reach the disease and force it from the blood.

Mr. B. P. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had Catarrh for years. He writes: "I could see no improvement whatever, though I was constantly treated with sprays and washes, and differ ent inhaling remedies— in fact, I could feel that each winter I was worse than the year previous "Finally it was brought to my notice that Catarrh was a blood disease, and after think ing over the matter, saw it was unreasonable to expect to be cured by remedies which only reached the surface. then decided to try 8. S. and after a few bottles were used, I noticed a perceptible improvement. Continuing the remedy, the disease was forced out of my system, and a complete cure was the result I advise all who have this dreadful disease to done them any good, and take S. S., a remedy that can reach the disease and cure it." To continue the wrong treatment for Catarrh is to continue to suffer. Swift's Specific is a real blood remedy, and cures obstinate, deep-seated diseases, which other remedies have no effect whatever upon. It promptly reaches Catarrh, and never fails to cure even the most aggravated cases.

S.S.S. For Blood is Purely Vegetable, and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no dangerous minerals. Books mailed free by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.
