

BEAR AND FOR BEAR.

THE COMING SUMMER SESSION AT MONTREAT.

Fourth Annual Assembly Will Open on July 21.

Black Mountain, N. C., May 30.—The fourth annual assembly of Christian Workers at Montreat will begin Sunday, July 21, and close August 4. The Bible conference will be opened August 11, and close August 25, and during these two gatherings some of the strongest men engaged in Christian work in this country will speak and sing to the audiences that gather at this place.

During the assembly, July 21 to August 4, there will be platform addresses for the deepening of spiritual life, discussions of methods, home and foreign missions, a young people's institute, and a personal workers' training class. Among the speakers are: Rev. Arthur J. Smith, Richmond Hill, L. I.; S. H. Hadley, superintendent Water street mission, New York; Rev. A. D. Thayer, president N. C. C. E. Union, Winston, N. C.; Rev. Walter Holcomb, evangelist, Montreat, N. C.; Dr. H. B. Gibb, Springfield, Mass., (at his health permits); Rev. S. I. Woodbridge, returned missionary from China; Rev. Willis R. Hodgkiss, East Central Africa, and others.

Beginning August 11 and continuing through August 25, will be devoted to Bible study, Christian living, Christian work, prayer, prophecy, the Word, the Holy Spirit, and kindred themes will be presented. We expect the participation of Rev. R. A. Torrey, Chicago, Ill., superintendent of the City Bible Institute; Dr. E. O. Guerrant, Wilmore, Ky., president American Island mission, and others.

Heavy Hail Storm at Elk Mountain—People Coming and Going.

Weaver ville, May 29.—A remarkably heavy and severe hail storm visited the Reems creek section yesterday. At Elk Mountain, in Herrin's cove about two miles southeast of the village it seemed to reach its maximum of intensity. Parties crossing the mountain, coming from Asheville at the time say that the hail was six inches deep in many places.

Mr. Marshall West, who recently married Miss Grace Roberts of Grayson county, Va., has gone to house-keeping in the house formerly occupied by Prof. Yost, near the college.

Mr. Noah Blankenship, who some months ago removed from this section to Bryson City, has, with his family, returned and yesterday rented one of 'Squire Ed. F. Vandiver's houses which he will at once occupy.

Mr. Billy Reagan, wife and little Frank, now of Bryson City, have been here for a week visiting relatives and friends. The party left for home yesterday accompanied by Miss Edna Reagan, the accomplished daughter of 'Squire D. H. Reagan.

The steady and marked improvement in the news service of the Gazette is commented on here, as well as the growth in the subscription list. It is observed that this may be cause and effect.

Thomas Hunter has opened a wagon and buggy factory here and is building up quite a business in his line.

CHARLES AND ELLEN KEAN.

The Famous Actor's Quaint Attire and His Wife's Ample Hoopskirts.

Clara Morris, in an article on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kean in McClure's Magazine, gives a delightful description of the old couple off the stage. "Ellen and Charles were like a pair of old, old love birds—a little dull of eye, nor quite perfect in the preening of their somewhat ruffled plumage, but billing and cooing with all the persistency and satisfaction of their first casing. Their appearance upon the street provoked amusement, sometimes even excitement: I often saw drivers of drays and wagons pull up their horses and stop in the crowded streets to stare at them as they made their way toward the theater."

"Mrs. Kean lived inside the most astounding hoop that woman ever carried. Its size, its weight, its tilting power were awful. Entrances had to be cleared of all chairs or tables to accommodate Mrs. Kean's hoop. People scrambled or slid sideways about her on the stage, swearing mentally all the time, while a sudden gasp from the front row or a groan from Mr. Cathcart announced a tilt and a revelation of heelless slippers and dead white stockings."

"And in spite of his dignity Charles was not above a joke on Ellen's hoop, for one rainy day as she strove to enter a carriage door she stuck fast, and the hoop—mercy! It was well Mr. Kean was there to hold it down and, as a troubled voice from within said, 'I'm caught somehow; don't you see, Charles?' with a twinkling eye Charles replied, 'Yes, Ellen, my dear, I do see, and—I'm trying to keep every one else from seeing, too!' a speech verging so closely upon impropriety that, with antique coquetry, Mrs. Kean punished him by tweaking his ear when he squeezed in beside her."

"The Kean bonnet was the wonder of the town. It was a large coal scuttle of white leghorn, and at the back there was a sort of flounce of ribbon which she called her 'bonnet cape.' Draped over it she wore a bright green barege veil. But she was not half so funny as was her husband on the street. His short little person was buttoned up tightly in a regular bottle green 'Mantain' sort of overcoat loaded with frogs of heavy cord and lined, cuffed and collared with fur of such remarkable color, quality and marking as would have puzzled the most experienced student of natural history to name, while vicious little street boys at sight of it always put searching questions as to the price of catskins in London."

"As they came down the street together, Mrs. Kean, majestically towering above her lord and master, looked like an old time frigate with every inch of canvas spread, while at her side Charles puffed and fretted like a small tug."

"The street boys were a continual torment to him, but Mrs. Kean appeared serenely unconscious of their existence even when her husband made short rushes at them with his gold headed cane, crying: 'Go away, you irreverent little brutes! Go away!' and then puffed laboriously back to her again as she sailed calmly on."

When you keep your preacher worrying over his grocery bills you can hardly expect him to feed you with the bread of life.
