SGHLEY IS BANQUETTED

Great Spread in His Honor in the Banquet Room of the Auditorium.

His Reception in Chicago as "Hero of Santiago" An Enthusiastic Orator at the State Library.

THOUSANDS CHEER HIM AT THE STATION

SEVEN HUNDRED PEOPLE SAT DOWN TO THE TABLES AT LAST NIGHT'S CROWDING EVENT IN HIS ENTERTAINMENT.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Admiral Schley was banquetted tonight in the great banquet hall of the Auditorium. Seven hundred sat down to the tables.

It was after midnight when Admiral Schley rose to speak. He was given an enthusiastic reception. He thanked the members of the Hamilton club for the high tributes paid him, and said he felt overcome at their welcome. He was repeatedly interrupted by applause.

Admiral Schley arrived in Chicago at 9:30 this morning and was greeted with a tumultuous acclaim from thousands of people who crowded the B. & O. depot and thronged nearby streets for blocks.

At the depot the admiral was greeted by a delegation from the city council and a company of naval veterans of the civil war. Alderman Fowler, on behalf of the city council, presented the following resolutions:

"Whereas, The city of Chicago is to be honored by a visit from Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley, and

"Whereas, Our citizens are ever ready to applaud valor, honor and merit; and

"Whereas we recognize in Admiral Schley's achievements, his character, and his bearing, one of the foremost naval heroes of all time, whose splendid record at Santiago will forever be the pride and inspiration of his grateful countrymen, therefore be it

Resolved, By the city council of the city of Chicago that the city of Chicago, through its mayor and municipal council, takes pleasure in making this public acknowledgement of the distinguished services rendered by Admiral Schley to his country, and extends to him a heartfelt welcome."

"The trip has been uneventful," said the admiral, "but I have been deeply moved by the demonstrations of the people along the route. You know, it moves me so I can scarcely speak to see the little hands waving at me from the small depot platforms. I love the little ones."

As the train drew into the outskirts of the little city, factory whistles blew their wildest notes and squads of people rushed down every street leading to the tracks, and waved their hands. Whenever possible, the admiral answered through the windows of his car, bowing his head and fluttering a handkerchief.

"I didn't sleep very well last night," said the admiral in a moment when the crowd along the way was not engaging his attention. "You know a train don't rock the way a ship does. It's too jerky, and the whistles—they wake the dead. But I feel in first-class health and I hope to survive these many years—well, at least five days, for I want to finish my itinerary."

A reporter ventured the remark, referring to the shouting crowds, that the admiral "had it all coming to him."

"It is as great a reward as can be hoped for on this earth," the admiral remarked, half to himself.

A double line of policemen stood at the depot when the admiral alighted but the bluecoats were unable to restrain the crowd, which straightaway went wild at the sight of the easily recognized gait which showed above the heads of the guards as an unmistakable mark of the wearer's identity.

A delegation of school children, wearing flags, greeted the visitor at the further end of the station. He bowed to them and waved his hand. The municipal council's resolutions were presented and Admiral and Mrs. Schley were driven through demonstrative throngs to their apartments, the "Presidential suite," at the Auditorium Annex.

Later in the day the admiral attended a reception at the Press club, where he met many of the newspaper fraternity, including a number of war correspondents whom he had met in Cuba. This was followed by receptions at the Bowler club, of which the famous sailor is a member, and at the Hamilton club. At the reception of the Fine Arts hall, Admiral Schley was met by the men who will this evening be guests at the Hamilton club's "Schley banquet."

A delegation from Ottawa, Kan., presented the admiral with an invitation to address the Chataqua of that city, and upon his statement that it would be necessary for him to decline the invitation, a member of the delegation insisted that "no" would not be taken for an answer.

"We will get our governor and senators and congressmen after you," said the Kansan.

"They will have no more influence than you for I am not in politics and do not expect to be," the admiral replied.

Strother, who has been constantly sweated by Chief Desmond, broke down this morning just prior to the hour for the coroner's inquest to begin. He said he took a hammer in one hand, lifted high in the air and brought it down on the head of Cooper, who was asleep on the cot.

"I don't know why I did it," said Strother. "I guess I must have been drunk and mad."

MAJ. MOODY AND THE MICROBES

As Member of Agricultural Committee He Suffers Much From Oleo Men.

BELLAMY WILL SUPPORT OSBORN

LEUTENANT W. D. PRITCHARD DEPARTS FOR PORTO RICO FEBRUARY FIRST—A BROTHER OF GENERAL DAVIDSON BEFORE RIVERS AND HARBORS COMMISSIONERS.

Special to the Gazette.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Senator Pritchard today introduced Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Mebane and others to the president. Mr. Mebane, who is a prominent cotton manufacturer, told the president he hoped to see Senator Pritchard succeed himself and that he would work and vote to that end. Mr. Mebane recently declared his intention to vote the republican ticket hereafter.

Farmers, especially those who make butter for the market, will be glad to know that the dairymen have thus far been successful in their fight against the oleomargarine people. The committee on agriculture has reported a bill favoring a tax of ten cents on the pound on all oleomargarine that is manufactured in such a way as to imitate butter. Those in charge of the dairy interests on the Biltmore estate have taken an active interest in this matter. Representative Moody, who is a member of the agricultural committee, and who voted to report the bill in its present form, recently said in speaking of the hearings before the committee:

"I have heard so much about microbes lately that I can see the unrecognizable things every waking moment, no matter which direction I happen to turn. The oleo people and the men who own dairy farms were present, and all brought samples of their products. An expert handled every sample and gave the helpless committee hourly dissertations on the presence or absence of microbes in their butter or buttermilk. They told us that some of the microbes were friendly, and possessed a life giving quality, while others, that made their abode in butter, were unfriendly and as numberless as the scripture would put it, as the sands of the sea. When the water hands me a dish of butter I find myself involuntarily scrutinizing it, to make sure that there are not a few million unfriendly microbes concealed in the yellow object, waiting to put me out of commission. They told us that there were no microbes in oleomargarine, certainly not any unfriendly ones, because they are all killed in the course of its preparation, when it is subjected to an intense heat. The agents of the oleo or dairy concerns would insist on our sampling their products, and hence they gave us some fine Elgin butter, the regular gold standard variety of butter, and then the plates were shifted about, the members asked which they had eaten, last the butter or the oleomargarine."

Cooper's descendants and Carnegie gave like sums, making $1,200,000 from these two sources. These last gifts will place the institution on a paying basis and enable the extension of the work of practical instruction of workmen and artisans.

RAILWAY STAMP CLERK SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS

Richmond, Jan. 25.—The Southern railway today began proceedings to set aside a deed whereby F. H. Fitzgerald, formerly stamp clerk in the service of road, conveyed all of his property to his wife.

Fitzgerald disappeared several weeks ago. Examination of his accounts revealed a shortage. His business required him to handle a large amount of stamps and in this way he was enabled to secure large sums.

Suspicion that all was not right was first aroused by a pretty and refined young woman attempting to sell stamps in the bulk to Richmond merchants. It was afterwards ascertained that she is the wife of a well known citizen and that Fitzgerald had been intimate with her for some time. Divorce proceedings have since been instituted. The absconder left a young wife and several children.

SERIOUS DIFFERENCE IN MINERS UNION

BITUMINOUS AND ANTHRACITE OPERATORS IN DISAGREEMENT

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—What may result in a serious difference among the united mine workers developed today over the demands of delegates from the Pennsylvania anthracite field that the convention refuse to agree upon a scale with the bituminous operators until the anthracite operators give assurances that they will recognize the mine workers' organization by agreeing to settlement of differences by joint conference. They delegates say they have a verbal promise to this effect but fear it will not be kept. Mitchell and other officers oppose making such an issue and told the anthracite delegates, who met in secret this afternoon, that the proposed move is too radical. The delegates, however, remain obdurate.
