

GERMANS COME TO GEORGIA.

Colony in Glynn County is on the increase. Brunswick, Ga., April 7.—Seventeen additional members of the German-American colonists have arrived via the Southern railway and gone out to their settlement a few miles from this city. This makes about 100 increase of the citizenship of Glynn county within a few weeks, and of that sturdy class of people who, more than any other within the past 50 years, have developed the great northwest country.

It has been the dream of land owners and railroad and emigrant agents to get a movement of German emigration flowing to this country through southern ports and this is the first time it has taken definite shape, although efforts have been made in the past.

These people are coming from a province in southern Russia, which is about the same parallel latitude as our own, and, therefore, there will be little trouble of acclimation. There is no telling to what proportions this movement may grow, and the Glynn county authorities have decided to do all in their power to aid in this matter by having the lands about their colony settlement drained so as to prevent sickness and fever during the coming summer. These people have their own schools and their own churches and are apparently good natured and happy.

MACON WANTS ENCAMPMENT.

Colonel Huguenin Writes to Colonel Cann About It.

Savannah, April 7.—Macon wants to have the encampment of military rifle teams this summer. Colonel Ed Huguenin, of the Second regiment, has written Colonel George T. Cann, inspector general of rifle practice, under whose direction the shoot is to be held, asking that he name Macon as the place. It is urged by Colonel Huguenin that Macon is centrally located and should therefore have the shoot. Colonel Cann has not yet replied. He will go to Atlanta within a few days, when he will talk over the shoot with the governor. There has been $3,000 of the military appropriation allotted for the expenses of the shoot, which will be held upon a more important scale this year than ever before. Teams from every company in the state will participate.

Through Colonel Candler would give no expression as to whether Savannah and Macon, it is probable that Savannah will get the shoot. The fact that Macon is centrally located does not offset the advantage that is Savannah's through the vastly superior range that this city has. There is nowhere in the state so well equipped and complete a range as that at Savannah.

Randall, on the left side of her face, just at the junction of the nostrils, cutting through to the upper jawbone and knocking out two teeth. The blood gushed forth and she fell in a faint.

Granade will be taken this morning to the Chattahoochee brick yards near the city. It was at the request of his father that he was assigned to this camp.

CONDITIONS IN CHINA.

Missionary Writes of Progress Made Since Boxer War.

RAILROADS BLAZE THE WAY.

Miss Edna B. Parks Says Some of the Compounds Are Moved Nearer to the Stations—Missions Thriving Again—Hunt For Curios In Graves Disturbed by Contractors.

Miss Edna B. Parks, M. D., a missionary in China, has written an interesting letter to Miss Stella Warner of Challacombe, Ill., regarding the conditions there since the war, says the St. Louis Republic. Miss Parks was a member of the band of missionaries attacked by the Chinese and saw a number of her companions killed. She managed to escape into an open boat and by this means succeeded in reaching a place of safety after two weeks of hardship.

The letter was written from Wehsien under date of Feb. 4, just before the Chinese New Year. Miss Parks' dispensary was destroyed in the Boxers' raid, but the missionaries are rebuilding. In speaking of the devastation wrought she writes: "The compound is a desolate waste of bricks and lumber just at present. Almost every one is ready to begin rebuilding as soon as spring opens. It will take at least two years and perhaps three to rebuild. There are two hospitals, two schools, the church and five dwelling houses to replace the former buildings, and in addition our Presbyterian college, which has been at Tingchow, is to be moved here (Wehsien) in order to be on the new railroad and near the center of the field.

"This means college buildings and dormitories for 200 students and houses for the Chinese teachers and three foreign teachers. We have bought a piece of land adjoining the compound on the west and almost as large as the present compound for college use. When everything is completed and the schools all open, there will be at least 350 students on the place. The Chinese will think that it does not pay to burn the 'foreign devils' out when they see us coming back so much stronger than we were before.

"The compound is much more conveniently arranged than it was before, for formerly the land was secured piece by piece and houses put up room by room as needed. But now we have the land all in one piece. All the indemnity has been paid over. The board very kindly gave up the use of an architect for two months last fall, and he drew up some excellent plans, so we expect to be quite a respectable village when built.

"The railway, which was the beginning of one of the beginnings of our troubles, is progressing rapidly, and the people are not opposing it any longer. The embankments are up as far as the city, and rails are soon to be laid, and the construction train will be here by April. It is only a few miles east of here now and the regular train only twenty miles away.

"This is a good time to buy curios. The railroad cannot avoid passing over many graves. That was one of the causes of trouble. They pay the relatives so much for every grave which has to be moved, and now they say some people are begging the road to go through their family graveyard, so that they will have an excuse for moving their graves and incidentally getting the curios hidden away in them.

"Many of the graves near here are very old—400 or 500 years—and it was the custom then more than now to bury money and valuables with the dead. It is said that some families have got rich from the treasure found in their ancestral graves. There are numberless bronze vases, teacups, water bottles and old coins. Almost every day some new treasure is unearthed, and a good many of them are brought here to the compound for sale.

"It is so good to be back again, and all the Christians seem glad to see us. Every one says he has never known the heathen so ready to listen and willing to buy Christian books as now. Formerly they would not take them as gifts. We were perfectly astonished when it was reported that the sale of books from our compound here amounted to $115 for the last ten months, where formerly it hardly reached $20 a year.

"The gentlemen say they hear very little or no reviling as they go through the villages, but are treated respectfully and often invited in to rest and talk, even in strange villages. They all feel that this field is open for evangelical work as it never has been before."

Death Claims Candidate.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 7.—Arthur R. Rood, Republican candidate for mayor, died early today at Butterworth hospital, where he had been suffering from typhoid fever since March 18. His illness was doubtless aggravated by his work in the hard campaign that preceded the primaries. The election takes place next Monday.

The governor has offered a reward of $500 for Dunn's capture and return to Wichita and $250 for the conviction of the party or parties that aided in his escape.

ASHEVILLE DAILY GAZETTE

The Leading Newspaper of Western North Carolina,

Brings the news every morning to 100 North Carolina towns before the arrival of any other newspaper and is the newspaper of a populous section of territory covering more than 10,000 square miles. No other daily newspaper in North Carolina has so large an exclusive territory.

During the last year the Daily Gazette has increased its circulation in its own broad territory more than 50 per cent., adding 80 postoffices to its lists. In the city of Asheville it has attained an unprecedented success and enters the seventh year of its life with the largest reading clientele ever possessed by a newspaper published in Asheville.

Every intelligent resident of this growing metropolis of the mountains reads the Daily Gazette, and it is the newspaper read by all the visitors to the city. The most prominent and enterprising business firms of the city are patrons of its advertising columns.

The News Service of the Gazette

is unsurpassed by any daily newspaper published for Western North Carolina readers. It is complete in all that interests our people. To a full day and night telegraph service of the news of the world is added a full service of State news by telegraph from the Daily Gazette's special representative at Raleigh, covering all topics political, social, religious and industrial, accurately, completely and interestingly; a special Washington service, adapted especially to the interest of North Carolina readers, especially those in the Gazette's own exclusive territory, the representative of the Daily Gazette at the National Capital being one of the Gazette's own home office staff detailed for the work during the sessions of Congress, and at other times a North Carolinian conversant with the topics and news sources at Washington that excite the interests of Gazette readers.

The Daily Gazette

IS A SUBSCRIBER TO

The Unrivalled Press News Service of the Laffan News Bureau,

(New York Sun) and every topic of the world's news is not only fully covered in the telegraphic service furnished exclusively to the Gazette in Western North Carolina, but is most interestingly treated and its accuracy and reliability commends it strongly ahead of any press news service furnished to the daily newspapers.

In all the Western North Carolina towns the Gazette has special correspondents and the events especially of the mountain region, receive their due attention in its news columns.

Editorially, the Gazette advocates the progressive policies of the Republican national party. It stands uncompromisingly in opposition to dishonest elections, corrupt political combinations and extravagance in the administration of the affairs of this state, producing unnecessary tax burdens. The Gazette favors every movement that looks to the moral and educational betterment of the state and to a promotion of industrial progress. The Gazette looks upon the building of good roads, the extension of the free public school system, and the rural free delivery of the mails as important factors in the upbuilding of the state.

SEMI-WEEKLY GAZETTE.

During the past twelve months the Weekly Gazette has made notable progress in extending its circulation throughout the state, from the mountains to the ocean. It is now supplanted by the Semi-Weekly Gazette, filled to the brim with the history and comments on the events that are of the greatest interest to its readers, with much well selected miscellaneous matter, reading for farmers, etc. It aims chiefly at a rural circulation, and for the country people of North Carolina there is no paper that gives equal value for the rate of its annual subscription.

Club rates for several copies of the Daily or Weekly Gazette, or either in combination with other newspapers will be furnished on application.
