SENATOR'S KNIFE CUTS CONDUCTOR

MONEY OF MISSISSIPPI IN A ROW OVER PAYMENT OF FARE—HAS CONDUCTOR ARRESTED.

The Street Car Man will Retaliate by Having the Senator Arrested Today.

SENATOR'S STORY OF THE AFFAIR

SAYS HE DEMANDED TRANSFER, AND DID NOT GET IT—A PASSENGER ASSISTED CONDUCTOR IN EFFORT TO EJECT THE SENATOR.

Washington, April 24.—Senator H. D. Money of Mississippi, had an altercation with a conductor on a street car this morning, which resulted in the senator receiving two severe blows from the conductor, and the conductor being cut quite severely in the right hand with a knife.

As Senator Money relates the circumstances, he was proceeding from his home to the Baltimore & Ohio depot to take the 9 o'clock train on that road for Baltimore, where he goes frequently for medical treatment of his eyes. He had taken a car on the Fourteenth street branch of the Capital Traction company line, and had chanced to board a car which stops at the Peace monument half a dozen blocks short of his destination. He had failed to notice this circumstance until the car began to turn around the monument.

The car bound for the depot was immediately behind the car in which he was seated. The senator says that he had only three or four minutes in which to make his train, but that after he discovered that he was on the wrong car he called to the conductor and asked him for a transfer ticket to the car bound for the depot. He does not recall what the conductor replied, but falling to receive the ticket and recognizing that he had no time to lose, he jumped from the car he was on and boarded the other. He had no sooner taken his seat, he says, than the conductor of that car approached him and asked for his ticket. He then told the conductor that he had not had time to secure a transfer and reminded him that he (the conductor) had been a witness to the circumstance of his change from one car to the other. The conductor replied that the senator would either have to produce a ticket or pay his fare, whereupon the senator told him he had paid one fare and was entitled to a transfer which he had asked for but had not received, and he would not pay another. Thereupon the conductor told him if he would not pay his fare he would put him off the car, and immediately proceeded to carry his threat into execution. This the senator resisted by grasping an upright post and engaging in a struggle with the conductor, who was not making much headway when a passenger who had been sitting next to Senator Money volunteered to assist the conductor. By their combined strength they contrived to break the senator's hold upon the post and to force him from the car.

The senator says that when they first undertook to eject him the car was in full motion and he feels that if they had succeeded at that time he would inevitably have been badly hurt. The conductor and his assistant did not, however, succeed in their design until the car stopped at the next crossing to let off passengers. He says that both the conductor and the passenger were very gruff and abusive in their language and that after he had reached the street the conductor hit him a severe blow over the heart with his clenched fist. The blow, the senator says, was very painful, and in order to protect himself he took a small pocket knife from his pocket and opened it. This weapon the conductor grasped and in doing so cut his hand so that it bled very freely. After this proceeding other persons stepped between the two, but notwithstanding their presence, the conductor, who is a very tall man, struck him another blow over the shoulder of a man standing between them. This blow was struck with the conductor's bloody hand and it hit the senator squarely on the jaw. He was, as a consequence of this blow, covered with blood from the conductor's wound, and this circumstance was responsible for the rumor that the senator had been severely injured. The senator adds that there were three or four policemen present, but none of them took any steps to prevent the altercation. He says also that both the conductor and the passenger who assisted in the ejection refused to give their names. The senator was not badly hurt, but his trip to Baltimore was prevented. He, however, proceeded with his customary duties about the capital for the day as if nothing unusual had occurred.

The name of the street car conductor with whom Senator Money had trouble today is O. H. Shanner, a vigorous but boyish looking man. He says that he did not see the senator leave the car preceding his, that he did not strike the senator until the latter drew his knife, and that he did not make an effort to put him off the car while it was in motion. His wound is a slight cut across the ball of the thumb. A warrant was issued this afternoon for the arrest of Conductor Shanner on the charge of assault. It was sworn out by Senator Money.

Foreman Hooper, of one of the city fire companies, who assisted the conductor in ejecting Money, was arrested on a warrant sworn out by the senator. Money also wrote the president of the Traction company demanding the dismissal of Shanner. He paid a personal visit to the board of district commissioners and requested the removal of Hooper.

Shanner says he will swear out a warrant for Money's arrest tomorrow for assault. Shanner says when he insisted on obtaining Money's fare the latter threatened to cut his "damned throat." A passenger on the cars says that when the conductor insisted on the payment of fare Money said, "You don't know who I am."

WILSON LETTER IS TALK OF THE TOWN
CONSENSUS OF OPINION IS THAT CLARK SHOULD REPLY TO IT.

Special to the Gazette.
Raleigh, April 24.—The letter of Major James W. Wilson concerning Judge Walter Clark is the talk of the town. Opinions are freely expressed, but few will talk for publication. The consensus of opinion is that Clark should reply. James H. Pou and Ed. Chambers Smith voice this sentiment. The officials decline to be quoted.

Judge Clark when asked for an interview said that proper notice of the matter would be taken at the proper time. Ex-Judge Augustus M. Moore died this morning at Greenville, aged 65. He leaves a wife and three children. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

Judge Moore was appointed to the bench by Governor Russell and served only a short period, resigning on account of poor health. He held a Federal position during the administration of President Harrison, in the state of Washington.

VERDICT IN HOWARD CASE EXPECTED TODAY
Frankfort, Ky., April 24.—During the progress of the speech of Attorney Forrester today for the defense in the case for the murder of Goebel, Judge Cantrell adjourned court and ordered the court-room cleared. All who entered were searched for weapons. Judge Cantrell said information had come to him that there were armed men present who meant to do violence. It is said Forrester's bitter attack on ex-Sheriff Broughton, who testified that he was glad Goebel was killed, aroused the friends of Broughton, who threatened to attack the attorney. The commonwealth's attorney closed his argument tonight and a verdict will be reached tomorrow.

WAR WORN VETS' GREAT PARADE

AS THEY MARCHED THROUGH STREETS, ENTHUSIASTIC THRONG CHEERED.

Many an Aged Soldier Forced out of Line by Weight of Years Before Parade Ended.

CAROLINA "HORNETS" NEAR HEAD OF LINE

TWELVE THOUSAND, THREE THOUSAND OF THEM VETERANS, WERE IN LINE—SPONSORS AND MAIDS OF HONOR CAPTURED GENERAL GORDON.

Dallas, Texas, April 24.—With their blood stirring to the same old airs which bade them do and die for their cause two score years ago, the veteran remnant of the Confederate army represented at the Dallas reunion marched through the streets of the city today, the object of a wildly cheering throng's enthusiasm.

The day was holiday in Dallas—public buildings and stores generally being closed during the hours when the parade was passing. Thousands of visitors, coming for the sole purpose of seeing the old soldiers, were added to the multitude already on the streets. By tonight it is expected that the movement out of town will have commenced.

That the weight of years was on most of them was apparent in furrowed cheeks and snowy hair; in halting steps and rounded shoulders; but that the old pride of achievement and duty well done remained was also to be seen in the dogged persistence with which they followed their old flag and threw off their years to the strains of "Dixie." Many a veteran who in other days exhibited a brilliance of sensation which added so much to the success of the strategems of Confederate leaders, was compelled to drop out of line before the march was over. Many from the decrepitude due to the advancing age, or wounds received in battle, were unable to report, but they found places along the way and waved their hats and screamed the famous rebel yell to show that they were with the marchers in spirit, if not in actuality.

The line of march, covering the downtown district, was a packed mass of humanity. The crowd was far the largest that the city has ever entertained. Windows were bright with the faces of women and girls with waving handkerchiefs and flags; the sidewalks were almost impassable by reason of the congestion. Small boys perched on telegraph poles and lamp posts—in fact, every inch of space was utilized. The decorations, by reason of the clear weather recently, were as bright as they were the first day.

The police were kept busy trying to keep the crowd off the streets, but with ill-success. The throng was far too large to admit of control by any ordinary force. The spectators were, however, for the most part, orderly, although many were forced into the street by the pressure behind on the sidewalk.

The start was made at Main and Austin streets. Major-General Van Zandt, marshal of the day and staff, preceded by mounted police, to clear the way, led the parade. Following them came General Gordon and staff. The erect, slender figure, the alert eyes, and the gray, pointed beard of the commander-in-chief were well known to most of the spectators. The location of his gray horse, according to one observer, could almost be told by the increase in the volume of cheers progressing like a wave along with him. The general started to acknowledge the plaudits by taking off his hat, but soon left it off entirely, bowing incessantly to right and left. Next came distinguished guests and then the veterans. The latter were arranged according to departments, as follows:

Virginia, Tennessee, Forrest cavalry corps, Dallas artillery, Trans-Mississippi, Missouri, Arkansas, Indian Territory, Oklahoma Territory, Pacific division, Northwest division and Texas. Behind the old soldiers came the members of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. They were proud to follow their staves, as was stated by a speaker at their meeting yesterday. "We could do no better than to do as they have done—to show courage, fortitude and devotion to duty when the hour comes," said the speaker. "Let us follow the path they have made."

It was after 11 o'clock this afternoon when the parade started.

Near the head of the line came the famous North Carolina "Hornets" with hornets' nests pinned to their breasts or hanging from posts. In this division was the old flag of the Third North Carolina cavalry. The old emblem hung in shreds, but was carried with all the more pride, for its wounds. Georgia, Texas, Tennessee, Kentucky, in fact every southern state, was represented in the parade, and proudly boasted flags which, now faded and torn, are cherished mementos. Many had to be held together with nets, but they were proudly waved, nevertheless, to the plaudits of the crowd. The Arkansas delegation carried a banner inscribed: "We are From Arkansas, Now Laugh Darn You."

The weather was the best that has yet blessed the reunion, being clear, but slightly cooler than has hitherto been experienced.

At 12:30 p. m. the parade was over. It was estimated that 12,000 men were in line, about 3000 being veterans.

General Gordon had great trouble in getting back to his hotel. At every opportunity crowds, eager to shake his hand, corralled him, and every moment he stopped the crush about him increased. At the hotel a crowd of sponsors and maids of honor captured him and as many as could throw their arms about him. Adjutant-General Moorman rescued his chief by main force and actually dragged him into the hotel.

"It was as fine a parade as I ever saw at a reunion," said General Gordon, and General Moorman echoed this expression.

There was no business session of the association, a recess Wednesday having been taken until Friday, when the reunion comes to an end.

RAWLINS OPPOSES PHILIPPINES BILL
BILL GOES OVER—CONSIDERATION OF SENATE OLEOMARGARINE AMENDMENTS.

Washington, April 24.—Rawlins continued his speech in the senate today in opposition to the Philippines civil government bill. He quoted from the statement of MacArthur showing the large proportion of Filipinos killed compared with those wounded or captured. His explanation of this was that American troops had been directed not to burden themselves with prisoners or wounded men.

He referred to Major Gardner's unfavorable report on the condition of affairs in Tayabas, and accused the war department of suppressing it. He declared it would never have been revealed but for Miles' request to be permitted to go to the Philippines and endeavor to bring order out of chaos. The pending bill, he said, had for its object the explanation of spoliation and plunder in the islands.

The bill went over and the senate adjourned.

Washington, April 24.—The house today completed its consideration of the senate amendments to the oleomargarine bill. They now go back to the senate. The agricultural appropriation bill was then taken up. Fox (Miss.) made an elaborate constitutional argument in support of the constitutionality of the election of the legislature in his state.

A BEEF TRUST REALLY DOES EXIST
AND ATTORNEY GENERAL KNOX WILL HAVE INJUNCTION AGAINST IT.

Washington, April 24.—Attorney General Knox has decided that the beef trust is a combination in restraint of trade within the meaning of the Sherman anti-trust law and has directed the United States District Attorney of Chicago to prepare a bill in equity for an injunction against it.

After a final consultation with the President, Knox gave out a statement this afternoon reciting that some time ago the department ordered simultaneous investigations in both Chicago and the east into the alleged proofs of the existence of a beef combine. He says that as a result of these investigations sufficient evidence was obtained to warrant proceedings for an injunction against corporations and persons who are parties to the combination to be filed in the circuit court of Illinois.

It has been decided to found an eye hospital and an asylum for the blind at Ceylon's memorial to the late Queen Victoria.

THE INDIANA PLATFORM

THAT ADOPTED YESTERDAY REAFFIRMS PHILADELPHIA PLATFORM OF 1900.

Administration Cordially Endorsed—Liberal Reciprocity with Cuba Favored.

"AMERICAN SOVREIGNTY MUST BE RESPECTED"

OPPOSITIONS TO TRUSTS—ADHERENCE TO POLICY OF PROTECTION—FAITH IN GOLD STANDARD DECLARED, ETC., ETC.

Indianapolis, April 24.—The republicans reassembled at 9 o'clock this morning, but it was thirty minutes after time when Chairman Beveridge rapped for order. There was a hot fight in the resolutions committee over the insertion of the clause endorsing the gold standard. It had been decided to advocate a plank in which some members thought they could detect an approval of bank asset currency. It was stricken out after a lengthy debate and the plank found in the platform was adopted. The resolutions committee's report was read by Chairman Charles Jewett, of New Albany, and was adopted unanimously.

The platform affirms that adopted at Philadelphia in 1900 and pledges adherence to the principles therein enunciated; congratulates the republicans upon the prosperity of the country, which it attributes to republican policies, and deprecates attempts to overthrow the laws and administration under which such results are accomplished, and pays tribute to the memory of President McKinley and President Harrison and Gov. Mount. The administration of President Roosevelt is cordially endorsed and the support of Indiana republicans is pledged him "in all his efforts to continue to advance the progress of our country."
