$24,600,000 INSURANCE ON THE KING'S LIFE

New York, June 25 .- In the event of death of King Edward VII, insurance companies of England will suffer the most staggering blow known in this branch of the financial investment.

It will cause a loss of tens of millions of dollars to the regularly organized life insurance companies alone. A much greater loss will fall upon financial companies of various other kinds, which have taken heavy risks on the king's life at high rates of interest. American life insurance companies, however, will suffer no loss, because in this country, to life insurance policies the applicant must establish an insurable interest in the person insured. King Edward carries the enormous sum of $3,600,000, placed with English companies. This is on personal policies, upon which he pays premiums out, of his private purse. The total risks on
