MISSTATEMENTS AS TO PARK BILL

THE TRUTH ABOUT YARNS RECENTLY PUBLISHED IN ASHEVILLE.

"Washington Bureau" Covered a Bad Prophecy with a False Statement.

INTERESTING INTERVIEW WITH SENATOR PRITCHARD

CORRESPONDENT OF AFTERNOON PAPER EVIDENTLY TRYING TO INJURE THE PROSPECTS OF RESERVE BILL—WHY?

Special to the Gazette.

Washington, July 1.—Senator Pritchard today in referring to erroneous statements made by the Washington correspondent of the Asheville evening paper said:

"My attention has been called to a statement sent out by the correspondent of the Asheville Citizen to the effect that the Appalachian forest reserve bill was passed through the senate with the distinct understanding that it would never be adopted by the house. There is no foundation for the statement, and I cannot understand why the correspondent of the Citizen should be inclined to send out statements that are calculated to injure the prospects of a measure which means so much for the people of our state. As an evidence of the fact that the Citizen's correspondent is mistaken in his statement, after the bill reached the house it was referred to the committee on agriculture, and was promptly reported back to the house with the Bate amendment stricken out.

"Among other things the Citizen's correspondent insists that the Bate amendment is of such a character as to render the bill inoperative. He is also mistaken in this respect. The Bate amendment does not affect the bill except in so far as it requires the preparation of plans and specifications, but it was well understood at the time it was accepted that the house would dispose of it in short order. I knew that if the Bate amendment was not accepted that the Senator from Tennessee would consume the time allotted to the consideration of the bill during the morning hour, which would have resulted in the defeat of the measure, and as a matter of policy it was agreed that Senator Burton should accept the amendment, with the distinct understanding that it would be disposed of either by the house or in conference. It will be remembered that a few days before the bill was considered by the senate, the Citizen correspondent sent out a statement to the effect that a republican caucus had decided that the measure should not be considered by the senate, and I can well understand that after the bill had been acted upon by the senate, the correspondent was very anxious to do something to relieve himself from the responsibility of the false prophecy which he had made with respect to the bill.

I am sure that the bill, under the wise management of Representative Moody, will become a law during the early part of the next session of congress.

A general exodus of North Carolinians homeward bound began today. Mr. Stanley Linney, messenger to Senator Pritchard's committee, left last night. Sheriff George K. Pritchard, assistant door keeper of the senate, left this morning for Bakersville by way of Asheville.

Rev. J. A. Ashburn of Surry county, also an assistant senate door keeper, leaves tonight. Secretary T. L. Green expects to get away today. Secretary McNeill will also depart immediately and Senator Pritchard and Congressman Moody will leave at once for their homes.

The opening hours of the senate this morning were largely characterized by the cleaning out of desks of many of the senators. There was an air of general relaxation throughout the chamber and at times the tumult became very noisy.

For 10 days we will give special prices in our picture framing department. Those having pictures to frame will do well to come and get prices. A large and well selected stock of mouldings to select from.

came so great that the chair had to rap long and hard for quiet.

Mr. Gallinger, chairman of the senate committee on pensions, made a report of work accomplished by the committee during the session just closing. The total number of senate and house general bills referred to the committee was 55, no action having been taken on 25 of them. Of this 2552 private senate bills referred to the committee, 339 were approved by the president, 38 were awaiting approval, 52 were on the house calendar, 77 were not acted upon by the house and 1986 received no action by the senate. Private house bills referred were 1071, of which 695 were approved by the president, 19 were awaiting approval, and 190 were not examined. The total number of bills introduced in the house were 7518, in the senate 2552, making a total of 10, 070 private bills.

GARDNER REFUSES TO PRODUCE WITNESSES

ALLEGES THAT HE HAS THEM CONCEALED SAFE FROM "INTERFERENCE."

Manha, July 1.—The board investigating the charges of cruelty made by Major Gardner against American officers and troops was resumed today. Yesterday Gardner said it was impossible to produce the persons from whom he got his information regarding the troops. Chaffee instructed the board to insist that Gardner produce his witnesses. He said Gardner's failure to produce witnesses would result in an inference that his statements were false. Then came a sensation. The defense said Gardner had not trusted his witnesses in the hands of the board because the defense believed an officer had tried to influence the natives of Luconia in giving their testimony. For this reason Gardner had withheld the names and detained them for some months at a place they could live beyond danger of interference. It is probable Gardner will adhere to his refusal and will not produce these witnesses except in the event of ultimate court-martial.

INDIAN JUDGSHIP FOR SPENCER B. ADAMS

Special to the Gazette.
Washington, July 1.—The house today passed Pritchard's joint resolution constructing pension act June, 1890, so as to restore pensionable status of ex-Union soldiers who had previously served in the Confederate army. The president promptly signed the bill and it is now a law.

Major Moody has been hard at work for this measure since it passed the senate and he attained a signal victory today in securing its consideration. Several thousand veterans and widows will be benefited.

The president today appointed Chief Spencer B. Adams of Greensboro chief judge of the Choctaw and Chickasaw citizens' court of Indian Territory. The position carries a salary of $5,000 a year and expenses.

CORONATION AT EARLY DATE

AS POSSIBLE, IS REPORTED TO BE WISH OF THE KING.

Will Be Quiet Affair, With Religious Character Strongly Emphasized.

MAGNIFICENT PARADE TOOK PLACE YESTERDAY

QUEEN REAPPEARS AS PARTICIPANT IN PUBLIC CEREMONY—LONDON CHEERS ENTHUSIASTICALLY FOR THE SOVEREIGN.

London, July 1.—It is reported that by the king's desire his coronation will take place at the earliest date possible; it will certainly be much quieter than was originally intended, and its religious character will be strongly emphasized. The representatives of foreign governments who will attend will be to a great extent restricted to royal personages intimately connected with the royal family.

London, July 1.—The reappearance today of Queen Alexandra as a participant in a public ceremony practically marks the end of the period of anxiety caused by King Edward's condition. Her presence at the review of colonial troops by the prince of Wales greatly increased public enthusiasm over what in itself was a picturesque event. Upwards of 2,500 colonials were brought in from the various encampments and marched through a great crowd down Constitution hill, which was lined with troops, past Buckingham palace, which for a week has been the center of such anxiety, and along the Mall to the horse guards parade. The contingent present represented all parts of the British empire with the exception of India, whose troops will be separately reviewed tomorrow. The Canadian detachment numbered six hundred men and was the largest body on parade. The queen's appearance while on her way from the palace to the horse guards was greeted with salvos of cheers which increased as the spectators noticed that the ordeal of the past week had but little affected her majesty's health, and noted the absence of any signs of anxiety. She cheerfully acknowledged the congratulation of the public.

The queen was seated in an open carriage, beside her was the princess of Wales and seated opposite were the Princess Victoria and Charles of Denmark. Several carriages, containing the duke of Cambridge, the duchess of Connaught and others followed.

The prince of Wales was accompanied by the crown prince of Denmark, Prince Frederick, Prince Charles of Denmark and their suites, and by the foreign attaches, including Major E. B. Cassall, the United States military attaché. The duke of Connaught and Lord Roberts, commander-in-chief, accompanied by brilliant staffs, rode behind the prince of Wales' party. The long lines of troops completely filled the horse guards parade, and their regiments stood in vivid contrast with the trees in the park. Thousands of spectators filled the stands or stood behind the police. Among the interested onlookers were Prince "Eddy" and the other children of the prince and princess of Wales, all the colonial premiers, Indian princes, and other guests of the nation, in addition to a great concourse of people and members of the house of commons and other persons.

The troops marched quietly past the queen's carriage, the prince of Wales receiving the salute. The queen then drove slowly in and out of the lines and the prince of Wales closely inspected the troops and dismounted and conferred medals and crosses on those who had merited the honor, shaking hands with the recipients of the Victoria cross.

Then followed the most picturesque feature of the day. The duke of Connaught, at the head of the troops and facing the prince of Wales, in clear tones gave the command, "The parade will give three cheers for the king," and himself started the "hip, hip." In a second the refrain was taken up and there arose cheers such as London seldom hears, the sound of which must have reached almost to the royal sick room, half a mile away. Helmets, caps and hats rose in waving confusion and the assembled crowds joined in with equal vigor. A man in the Canadian ranks shouted "and a tiger," at which the troops and crowds once more yelled themselves hoarse. It was the first occasion since the announcement of the king's illness that the general public had had an opportunity to vent their feelings and the people took advantage of it.

After this the horse guards rode up to the queen's carriage to the accompaniment of "God Save the King." The queen drove slowly past the troops to Buckingham palace, constantly bowing and smiling acknowledgments of the people's greetings. The prince of Wales and the other members of the royal family followed, the colonials formed in columns, and amidst hearty cheers from the crowds, returned to their encampment.

SETTLEMENT OF STRIKE SAID TO BE NEAR

Carmack Brings on an Acrimonious Discussion During Last Hour in the Senate.

NO REFERENCE MADE IN THE SENATE TO THE BODILY ATTACK MADE BY BAILEY OF TEXAS ON BEVERIDGE OF INDIANA.

Washington, July 1.—The senate adjourned sine die this afternoon. The usual resolution of thanks in behalf of the members to the presiding officer, Senator Frye, was adopted and that officer wittily replied. The final session was marked by a rather acrimonious discussion the result of an effort by Carmack to have a resolution adopted authorizing the Philippines committee to sit during recess. Despite his efforts it was referred to the committee on contingent expenses. During the discussion of the resolution Carmack denounced the investigation as farcical. Spooner retorted that when the investigation took the form of an attack on the army it was not only a farce, but very cruel and wicked. The American people, he asserted, had no sympathy with those who attacked the men who, under the flag, dared to die for them. He scored the minority members of the committee and declared that if the investigation was a farce they were responsible for it. Lodge, Patterson, McComas and Carmack participated in the discussion. Carmack increased McComas by remarks which the latter said he was inclined to characterize as "balderdash."

Carmack emphatically denied the imputation that he had said "balderdash." (Continued on page four)
