TERMS OF THE CANAL TREATY

NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN UNITED STATES AND COLOMBIAN GOVERNMENT.

Preliminary Conference Has Already Been Held By the Ministers.

$7,000,000 WILL BE PAID FOR ROUTE

Washington, July 4.—The negotiations for the treaty between the United States and Colombia which will acquire the right to build the Panama canal will begin in about one week. Minister Concha, of Colombia, has conferred with Secretary Hay on the preliminaries of the negotiations. Mr. Hay will be out of the city for the next few days and on his return the negotiations will begin. Minister Concha has been fully clothed with authority to proceed with the treaty. The main features of the treaty are pretty well settled, as the protocol signed some time ago was quite full in settling for the prospective arrangements in case congress acted favorably on the Panama route. The amount to be paid Colombia for a relinquishment of exclusive rights in the United States, will be $7,000,000 in gold, payable on the exchange of ratifications of the treaty, and in addition Colombia is to receive an annuity at the end of fourteen years, to be determined by mutual agreement at that time. This annuity is expected to be $600,000 a year as the immediate payment of $7,000,000 covering the period of the next fourteen years is considered a basis for fixing the annual rental at $600,000. In transferring the reports of Colombia to the United States, the language used by the act of congress will be followed to a considerable extent and there will be a transfer of such jurisdiction over the six miles zones as will permit the exercise of American authority, with American courts, sanitary offices, police, etc. The question of transferring complete political sovereignty is about the only point which could raise obstacle to this negotiation, but it is expected that this point will be avoided, as the act of congress appears to contemplate a transfer of jurisdiction and not a transfer of political sovereignty. The Colombian officials in Washington say, however, that there is a far less popular demand in Colombia for the Panama canal than there is in the Nicaragua route and this apathy may delay the conclusion of negotiations. The treaty will have to be ratified by the United States senate and the Colombian congress before it becomes effective.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY OF A FAST EXPRESS

Joliet, Ill., July 4.—The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific road through express train No. 5, bound for Omaha and Denver and which left Chicago at 10 o'clock last night, was held up by robbers at Dupont, Ill., an hour later. Express Messenger Kane was shot through the groin by one of the robbers and is in a critical condition. The local safe was forced open, but the amount of booty secured is not known. Charles Nessler, who climbed over the tender of the engine and told the fireman and engineer, Nessler, however, has been arrested. Nessler is believed to be an unwilling accomplice of the robbers, as he obeyed their commands at the point of a revolver.

According to Nessler's story three robbers were concerned, though the detectives think there were more. Nessler is about 22 years old, of a frank appearance and intelligent.

A GREAT OVATION TO THE PRESIDENT

Greeted by Half a Million People at Pittsburg Yesterday—His Decoration Day Oration Heard by Vast Throng.

Pittsburg, July 4.—Half a million persons greeted President Theodore Roosevelt in Pittsburg today. They came, not only from Pittsburg and Allegheny, but from the source of industry to within a hundred miles of the city. It was the distinguished guest's first visit to Pittsburg as president, and his welcome was most enthusiastic. From the Union station to the speaker's stand, in Shenley park, nearly four miles distant, it was one continuous cheer.

President Roosevelt reached the Wilkesburg station of the Pennsylvania railroad at 8:05 o'clock this morning. At that point, which is within the city limits, a local reception committee, headed by George T. Oliver, boarded the train. As the train passed Shady Side station, a railroad signal communicated the fact to Hampton battery B. of the Pennsylvania national guards stationed at Bedford, overlooking Union station. The guns of battle commenced to boom for the president's salute of twenty-one guns. The last gun of the salute was fired as the president passed from his car at Union station.

The president was then escorted to his carriage. Those who occupied the carriage with president Roosevelt were City Recorder J. C. Brown, United States Attorney P. C. Knox and George S. Cortelyou, secretary to the president.

The other carriages in waiting were promptly filled by the reception committee. The bugles of Sheridan troops sounded the assembly call which was the signal for Brigadier General John A. Wylie, commander of the military, to order the movement column. The marchers numbered 3000 men, representing the Eighteenth regiment, the Fourteenth regiment, the Tenth regiment, cavalry and Phillips service, the Sheridan cavalry troop of Tyrone, the Boys' Brigade and independent military organizations.

Among the persons who rode in carriages was Gov. W. A. Stone, Congressmen Daizell, Acheson, Jack and Graham. Interest centered in the unique feature of the republican and democratic candidates for governor, Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker and Robert B. Patterson, respectively, both of Philadelphia, riding together in one carriage. They were accompanied by George T. Oliver and Albert Barr, editors of republican and democratic papers respectively, of this city.

Flags and bunting fluttered everywhere along the course of parade. People crowded the windows of the tall buildings, yelling themselves hoarse, in greeting the nation's chief. The greatest ovation came as the line passed up canyon-like Fifth Avenue to the top of Grant's hill. Tall buildings on either side of the street offered fine vantage points to spectators. When the head of the military escort reached a position opposite the speaker's stand, it was halted and stood in company front with arms at present. As the president and those in carriages passed in review the band struck up the stirring strains of "Hail to the Chief." The music was fairly drowned by the cheering of the multitude of hundreds of thousands of persons in the stand and occupying vantage points in the amphitheatre-like hillsides which rose in front. Following the band the United German societies of Allegheny stationed on one side of the stand and made up of six hundred voices broke into singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

At the close of the song the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. John H. Prugh. The declaration of independence was read by Brigadier General Willis H. Fulling, and he followed the oration of the day by the president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt.

Following this the German singers sang "America," all joining in the words of the final verse. Following this "The Lord's Day" was sung in German. The benediction was then pronounced by the Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle, presiding elder of the Pittsburg district M. E. conference.

The exercise consumed just one hour. The president immediately afterward returned to his carriage and surrounded by the Sheridan troops was driven to the residence of H. C. Frick on Highwood Avenue, where he was tendered a luncheon and reception which was joined in by a number of prominent Pittsburg capitalists and industry. As the president left the park, battery B fired the national salute of forty-five guns from a tall hill top.

In his speech today as the orator of day, President Roosevelt said, in part, after the reading of the Declaration of Independence:

"Mr. Mayor and Fellow Citizens, my Fellow Americans and Women of Western Pennsylvania:
"You have just listened to the reading of the great document which signals our entry into the field of nations one hundred and twenty-six years ago. That entry was but the promise which had to be made good by the performance of those men and their children and their children's children. Words are good if they are backed up by deeds, and only so. (Applause.)"

"The declaration continues to be read with pride by us year after year and stands as a symbol of hope for the people of all the world because its promise was made good, because its words were supplemented by deeds, because after the men who signed it, and upheld it had done their work, the men who came again after them, generation after generation, did their work in earnest. (Applause.)"

"The declaration of independence had to be supplemented in the first place by that great instrument of constructive and administrative statesmanship—the constitution under which we now live. The document promulgated necessarily supplemented the declaration of 1776. We showed in the revolution that we had a right to be free; we showed as men of the old confederacy, that we knew how to use that right as it needed to be used. (Applause.)"

"And then seventy years more are passed and then there came again upon the nation the days of iron need. There came the days that demanded all that was best, the life itself of the bravest and truest of the nation's sons. And when Sumter's guns awakened our people and America until then the incarnate genius of peace, sprang to his feet with sword and with shield, a helmet queen among nations, when the thunder of the guns called the nation's children, they sprang forward to the mighty deeds which it left undone would have meant that the words to which we have listened today would have rung as meaningless sounds. (Loud applause.)"

SOLDIER FALLS HEIR TO BIG FORTUNE

New York, July 4.—John Gilmore Hall, adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. T. Hall, of Arlington, N. J., with three other children, is believed to be heir to $2,000,000 left by his father, who is said to have deserted the four children twenty-three years ago at Crestline, Ohio, after placing them in an orphan's home. Mr. and Mrs. Hall adopted John when he was five years old and brought him up as one of their own family. About a year ago the young man entered the army and is now stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas.

According to information received by Hall Gilmore, after placing the children in an orphan's home, went to Mexico, where he took up mining and died wealthy. On his death bed he told his partner of his children and begged him to take up the search for them. All have been found except a daughter.

INDEPENDENCE DAY DINNER IN LONDON

London, July 4.—There was a large company at the independence day dinner tonight. Among those present were Ambassador Choate, General Wheeler and Admiral Watson. Mr. Choate in proposing the health of the king expressed hearty sympathy on behalf of the Americans for the king and the English people. He said the Americans hoped for the king's speedy recovery. He recalled the sympathy expressed for McKinley by the British and said the Americans had every reason to count King Edward as a steadfast friend.

General Sir Grenfell toasted the president. He told of a conversation of Lord Beresford in which the latter referred to the president as the best of men, a good sportsman, a good shot, a gallant soldier, a successful author. He said he could not improve on what Beresford had said. He thanked Ambassador Choate for his eloquent speech in proposing the health of the king.
