MAKING THE SACRIFICE OF HIS LIFE, AFTER BITTER STRUGGLE, HE SAYS.

His Retirement in Favor of C. B. Watson Sensation of the Hour in Raleigh.

WATSON ENDORSED BY FORSYTHE CONVENTION

GLENN SAYS HE FEELS NO BITTERNESS AND INTRODUCES RESOLUTION TO ENDORSE WATSON. WILL WORK FOR LATTER'S ELECTION.

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—There is one senatorial candidate less in the field tonight, R. B. Glenn having withdrawn from the contest in favor of C. B. Watson. He retired voluntarily, as he said in a speech before the democratic convention of Forsyth county, after the bitter struggle he ever had in his life and making a sacrifice of the greatest ambition of his life. He declared there was no bitterness in his heart, and pledged his most earnest efforts to secure the election of Watson. He said he would go everywhere in the state and when the legislature meets will be in Raleigh to work for Watson. He closed by introducing a resolution instructing the nominees of the convention to vote for Watson and use every possible means to secure his election. The speech of Mr. Glenn made a profound impression on the convention. His retirement from the contest is the sensation of the hour at the state capital.

ALL IS QUIET IN THE STRIKE REGION

Tamaqua, Pa., Aug. 30.—Strike leaders went from door to door in the Panther creek valley last night, spreading the news of General Gobin's stern warning and his instructions to the men to shoot and shoot to kill, if molested in any manner. That the words of the commanding officer have had at least a temporary effect was shown this morning when the troops escorted several hundred non-union men to work without being molested in any way. Companies E and F went out at daybreak with their guns loaded and their best marksmen on the flank. When the soldiers passed, the crowds of strikers on the street deliberately turned their backs to them. However, there was no hooding or jeering.

Supplementing his orders of last night, General Gobin has directed Major Gearhart, in command here, to arrest rest all women and girls who insult the troops in any way. The opinion seems to prevail among the officers and citizens that the lull in the rioting will last but a short time. The fact that more men went to work today than yesterday is not calculated to improve the temper of the strikers.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 30.—General Gobin's report from Major Gearhart this morning was to the effect that everything was quiet in the Panther creek region. More men reported for work there, he says, than on any previous morning and none was molested by the strikers.

In Shenandoah and vicinity everything continues quiet. It is generally expected here that an attempt will be made to operate the St. Nicholas mine on Monday or Tuesday, as preparations for work of some sort are going on.

DISFRANCHISED! ALL EXCEPT ONE

New Orleans, La., Aug. 30.—A local option election held today in the town of Tioga, Raikes Parish, Louisiana, to determine whether or not liquor licenses should be issued, has created a sensation and an illustration of the effect of the suffrage laws of Louisiana on voters. Only one man, J. M. Calhoun, had complied with all the requirements of the Louisiana suffrage laws, paying poll taxes two years in advance.

He was the solitary legal voter of the town when he marched to the polls and deposited his ballot in favor of granting liquor license. It made Tioga a wet town, although a majority of the people of the town are prohibitionists. This is the first instance in the United States where only one vote was cast at a popular election.

WAR PREPARATIONS ABOUT COMPLETED

Newport, R. I., Aug. 30.—Preparations for the coming war game are about completed. The local forts are now on war footing, as far as the men are concerned. Today the remainder of the troops from the Massachusetts heavy artillery arrived at Fort Adams, and this morning members of the Massachusetts naval reserves arrived and were sent out to the ships. The Gloucester came in this morning for mail and sailed this afternoon. She will not come in again until she does so with the fleet. Tonight sentries were posted at all the forts, and a gun crew will do duty on all guns night and day from now on until the war is over. The signal corps today established a station on Boston's Point, at the site of the Cham Bake club, where a view of the coast can be had as far east as Gay Head. The army transport Kanawha arrived from New Bedford this evening with General MacArthur and staff on board, they having finished their tour of inspection of the forts along the coast that are to take part in the war game. It is understood that they will make their headquarters here during the week.

SAVABLE WINS FUTURITY STAKES

RING BURNT UP BY JOHN A. DRAKE AND HIS FRIENDS WITH BAY COLT.

Drake and His Betting Partner, John W. Gates, Cleared $30,000 on the Race.

WON BY SIX INCHES FROM BELMONT'S HORSE

COLT WAS BY SALAVATOR, AND WAS BOUGHT FROM PAT DUNNE LAST WINTER, FOR $30,000.

New York, Aug. 30.—Six weeks ago John A. Drake, the Chicago millionaire turfman, announced to the public that he had the winner of the Futurity in his stable. He alluded with confidence to his bay colt Savable, by the famous Salavator, out of straightfover, who was purchased by him from Pat Dunne, the western horseman, last winter for $30,000, Dunne having purchased the colt as a yearling at the Parging sale for $550.

Eastern horsemen were inclined to ridicule Drake's confident prediction, but today at Sheepshead Bar, in the presence of 50,000 spectators, Savable made good his owner's forecast by winning on the post in the last jump by six inches from August Belmont's Lord of the Vale, by Hastings' Lady Violet.

Drake's commissioners were busy placing heavy wagers with so much industry that the colt's price was beaten down from 20 to 1 to 8 to 1. He and his friends fairly burnt up the ring. He and John W. Gates, his betting partner, cleaned up $300,000. Two lengths behind Lord of the Vale came James R. Keene's magnificent filly, Dazzling, by St. Leonard's Spendour. The winner's time was comparatively slow, considering the condition of the track, being 1:14 for six furlongs.

A FATAL SHOOTING IN BIG IVY NEIGHBORHOOD

News reached the city late last night of a fatal shooting which occurred in the Big Ivy neighborhood, near Barnardsville, about 11 o'clock. Particulars could not be learned, but it was thought that a dispute over a land boundary was at the bottom of the trouble.

A request was telephoned to the Gazette office that the sheriff be notified, and word was accordingly sent to the sheriff's office.

STATE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION ECHOES

Evidences of the Strength of the Independent Movement Throughout the State—The Caucus on the Judiciary Ticket—Col. Lusk's Artful Speech.

Correspondence of the Gazette.

Greensboro, N. C., Aug. 29.—The republican leaders who still remain here after the state convention of yesterday and last night, including the members of the state executive committee, are jubilant over the success of the convention. They are no more pleased, however, than the prominent business men who came here from various parts of the state as delegates to the convention or to witness its deliberations and to express to Senator Pritchard their interest in the success of the republican campaign and especially their hope of his re-election. Many pledges of support were received by Chairman Pritchard from unexpected sources, and it is no exaggeration to say that the strength and promise of the independent democratic movement was never realized even by the best informed until yesterday and today. The information that 1250 democratic voters in Halifax county have signed the call for a convention to endorse Judge Thomas N. Hill's candidacy, and that the revolt in many of the other eastern counties against the democratic machine is almost equally strong, is linked with reports from many of the western counties of the growing strength of the independent movement or the addition to the republican forces of new recruits. There were a number of delegates from several of the counties in the convention yesterday who two years ago were active in the democratic ranks.

The question that caused the most discussion in the convention and that early in the day seemed the most difficult of satisfactory solution was the action on the nominations of the Supreme court judges. Joined with the interest felt by friends of several prominent republicans who were regarded as qualified and available for the nominations was some opposition to endorsing any democratic candidate. All we believe without a single exception, who manifested opposition in this latter respect, however, expressed high personal regard and admiration of Judge Hill. In the caucus called to consider the question nothing but words of praise of his qualifications for the office were uttered in the mention of his name. The speakers who espoused straight republican nominations were particular to express their opinion of his personal fitness for the high office. It was the idea of Lieut.-Gov. Reynolds and perhaps a few others to all the caucus for a free and open discussion of the question as to the Supreme court nominations. Today everyone is talking about the masterful and witty speech delivered by Col. V. S. Lusk in the caucus. Every seat in the floor of the big hall was occupied—in fact the attendance at the caucus included nearly every delegate at the convention.

Mr. Congressman Linney had opened the discussion by a characteristically forceful speech in favor of a straight republican ticket. His speech abounded with bright sayings and "highlights of oratory" that evoked much enthusiasm. He was cheered to the echo at the close, and it was hard to tell how much of the applause was for his dashing, rollicking, penetrating eloquence and how much belonged to the arguments he uttered. Speaking in praise of the body he was addressing he said: "We could duplicate the senate of the United States and have plenty of men left" and in stating his own views as to the course he would have the convention pursue he said, however, that he should defer to the decision of the convention. "Never before in the history of the party," he said, "have we been able to make such a representation in power of numbers, and in moral and intellectual excellence, and you will leave this hall the brighter and stronger; the democrats went away every one with a wound ranking about his heart."

Judge Linney was followed by Senator Pritchard and the contrast in the methods of public address was as strong as the difference of their views on the question that was under discussion. Senator Pritchard is very direct, incisive and concise. He says much in few words—in short sentences free from adjectives or epithets. What he has to say is forceful by directness, with keen-edged clearness even when uttered with extreme moderation. Every short sentence is one more effective blow at the object under treatment. No word, no effort of voice or of gesture is wasted. He paid an affectionate compliment to Mr. Linney before answering and opposing his argument. "Two courses are now open to us," said the senator, "a straight republican ticket and a certain defeat, the other to declare for a non-partisan judiciary and endorse Hill and to elect a good man to the judiciary." Six years ago, he said, the party was
