OPENING OF THE STATE CAMPAIGN

GREAT POLITICAL DEMONSTRATION AT WINSTON, WHEN SEN. PRITCHARD SPOKE.

He Expressed an Eagerness to Meet Mr. Craig on Paramount Issue of Trusts.

"AN INTERESTING, THOUGHTFUL ADDRESS"

IS THE WAY THE SPEECH IS SIZED UP BY THE DEMOCRATIC AFTER-NOON PAPER OF WINSTON—STATE ISSUES FORCEFULLY HANDLED.

Special to the Gazette.

Greensboro, Sept. 20.—If the developments of today in Winston may be taken as a political barometer, then the approaching election has many good things in store for republicanism in the Old North State. The Forsyth county republican convention was held in the Twin City, and as a second attraction the republican state campaign was opened by Senator Pritchard. The speaking occurred at the conclusion of the deliberations of the convention that nominated an admittedly strong ticket, and the senator was listened to by a white, representative and enthusiastic audience that completely filled the court room, which is perhaps the largest in the state.

Men who for years have made it a point to observe such matters pronounced it one of the largest political demonstrations ever seen in the county. Many democrats, or men who have in the past affiliated with that party, were present. The first applause came when former Lieutenant Governor Reynolds introduced Senator Pritchard as "the man who had done more for North Carolina than all other senators who had represented the state since the war, and who had never neglected a request made by the people of Forsyth, whether it came from a republican or a democratic source."

Not only did the people approve of this statement with cheers, but one of the most prominent democrats of the city came on the train just before Senator Pritchard left to thank him, as the gentleman explained, for the many services he had rendered to this section.

Senator Pritchard began his speech by an expression of determination to avoid all that savored of abuse and vituperation, and then made good his words by launching into what the democratic afternoon paper of Winston referred to as an interesting and thoughtful address. He made special reference to the so-called trust issue, which the democrats have in their unwisdom paramounted. In refuting the statement that the tariff fostered the great aggregations of capital known as trusts, he held up trust-ridden and at the same time free trade England as an example to be avoided. Statistics were brought to bear to show that only twelve per cent. of the manufactured products of the United States are in anywise affected by trusts, while attention was further called to the oil trust and railroad combinations which have no interest in tariff rates. Moreover, it was pointed out that President Roosevelt had through his attorney-general proceeded against the beef trust and the Northern Securities company, and the statement was made that the president stood ready at all times to enforce the anti-trust law which was passed by a republican congress.

Attention was especially directed to the attempted anti-trust legislation in this state and the half sad, half humorous manner in which it ended at Asheville when a suit was instituted against the ice trust. A demurrer had been filed by democratic lawyers in which the utter unconstitutionality of the act had been set forth and this demurrer had been wisely sustained by a democratic judge. This same legislature had done other things just as unconstitutional, but when our own Supreme court judges, good men and true, had pronounced them such, a foul attempt was made to impeach them. It was shown that tariff reform, such as proposed in the democratic platform adopted at Greensboro, meant free raw material and that this in turn meant incalculable injury to the producers of lumber, mica, and other raw materials in North Carolina.

"Yes, I shall welcome the paramount trust issue when I meet Mr. Craig," exclaimed the senator.

At this point it will be of interest to state that Senator Pritchard referred to Mr. Craig as the next senator, should the democrats be successful, although he explained that no disrespect was meant to Mr. Watson, if that gentleman happened to be within hearing. State issues were discussed in an equally forceful manner.

The republicans of Guilford county held a big convention today, nominating W. P. Ragan for the state senate, and for house C. P. Frazier.

DISASTROUS ATTEMPT TO ENDORSE DEMOCRATS

Special to the Gazette.

Raleigh, Sept. 20.—The independent convention of Wake county today went to pieces on an attempt to endorse the democratic candidates; and after all was over it looked like successful sharp practice on the part of the enemies of the movement. The following resolution was offered: "Resolved, that we do hereby reaffirm our allegiance to the principles of the democratic party and most cordially do we commend to voters of this congressional district Hon. Edward W. Pou, the brilliant and rising statesman who so faithfully and efficiently now represents this district in congress. We do furthermore endorse and commend to the voters of this county the candidates for the legislature as nominated at the recent primaries."

This resolution was tabled and a motion to adjourn was declared carried and the chairman walked out, declaring he had resigned. He was followed by most of the democrats identified with the movement. Those who remained reorganized and nominated candidates for register of deeds and county commissioners. The executive committee was authorized to make further nominations.

HILL ENDORSED BY MEETING AT DURHAM

Special to the Gazette.

Durham, N. C., Sept. 20.—A meeting of independent white voters today at noon nominated a legislative and county ticket. A resolution was passed endorsing Thomas N. Hill for chief justice and Lindsey Patterson for congress from this district. The meeting was attended by about three or four hundred people. The resolution endorsing Hill and Patterson was as follows: "We hereby pledge our loyal support to Hon. Thomas N. Hill of Halifax county for (Continued on eighth page.)"

THE PRESIDENT ON THE TRUSTS

HIS SPEECH AT CINCINNATI LAST NIGHT SOUNDS KEY-NOTE OF CAMPAIGN.

Advocates Constitutional Amendment; Supervision and Publicity, while Awaiting This.

THE STATES MUST HAVE CONCERTED ACTION

THE WAY FOR THE STATES TO COMBINE FOR PROTECTION IS THROUGH THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT—GREAT CROWD HEARD THE SPEECH.

Cincinnati, Sept. 20.—After a reception this afternoon and evening, such as he has seldom had from any community under any circumstances, the president delivered a speech at the Music hall tonight which created the deepest impression on his hearers. It was a speech which was used as the basis of discussion when the president and five senators met in conference at Oyster Bay last Monday. The speech received the approval of the senators at the conference. It is understood here that republican managers generally, and congressional campaign managers particularly, have said the speech lays down the lines on which the fall campaign will be fought.

This afternoon the president delivered a brief, informal speech at the Music hall to the business men connected with the Fall Festival exposition, in which he complimented them on their industry and progress and predicted a great future for the city. At the conclusion of this speech he was driven to the St. Nicholas hotel, where a banquet was tendered him. He then returned to the Music hall, where he delivered the principal address.

President Roosevelt spoke to about eight thousand. They frequently applauded his remarks. His speech was wholly devoted to the trust problem. He said the evils attending over-capitalization were sufficient, in his judgment, to warrant closer supervision of the control of the great corporations and that wherever a substantial monopoly was shown to exist there should be devised an expedient for its control. No problem, he said, could be solved if the qualities brought to its solution were panic, fear, envy, hatred and ignorance. He said corporations handled honestly were not evils. If the tariff is changed it must be changed in order to punish only the trusts that do ill. He pointed out that the tariff did not touch the Standard Oil company nor the coal corporations, he said, and there was no duty on anthracite coal.

Continuing, he said the trusts can be damaged by depriving them of the benefits of the tariff only on condition of damaging the smaller corporations of the trusts and all wage workers of allied industries affected. Changes in the tariff would have little appreciable effect on the trusts, save as they shared in the general harm or good proceeding from such a change.

The question of regulating trusts with a view of abolishing the evils existing in them is separate and apart from the question of tariff revision. The only method for eliminating the trust evil is wise legislation which gives some sovereign power of control over them and requires full publicity of their affairs.

He referred to the inter-state scope of some trusts and advocated uniformity of action on the part of the states dealing with them. He said the states must combine to meet the problem of trusts and the way for the states to combine is by action through the national government. He advocated a constitutional amendment to meet the evil.

He said he was aware that much time must elapse before any amendment could be adopted, but in the meantime much could be accomplished by legislation that would provide for reasonable supervision and full publicity of trust affairs. He closed by declaring that all men should obey the law alike and receive its protection alike.

The president left at midnight for Detroit, where he will spend Sunday and Monday.

REPUBLICANS ENDORSE THE CITIZENS TICKET

Convention in This City Yesterday Largely Attended—Resolution of Endorsement Passed by a Large Majority—Eloquent Speeches by Settle, Lusk and H. A. Gudger.

The Buncombe county republican convention, which met at the court house in this city yesterday, endorsed the nominees of the citizens' convention. The convention was very largely attended. Of the twenty-eight precincts and townships in the county all were represented by delegations except two—Leicester No. 2 and Sandy Mush. When Chairman W. E. Logan called the convention to order at the noon hour the hall was packed, even the standing room in the aisles was occupied. Otto Hildebrand was elected secretary. A roll call of the townships showed no contesting delegations.

R. S. McCall was elected chairman of the convention and addressed the body in a brief speech, that evoked deserved applause for its eloquence, its excellent spirit and the force of his arguments. Mr. McCall said it was the first time he had ever presided over a time the party was moving. Let us center our fire on the democrats, he said, they deserve to be beaten. They have been acting worse and more boldly than ever before. What did they do two years ago—not slyly and secretly, but openly, boldly and defiantly? They organized to overrule the will of the people by fraud and intimidation." Mr. McCall read from the "Encyclopedia of American History" what it says of the organization of the Red Shirts in this state and their career of intimidation and violence in the campaign of 1900. That is how we have gone down in (Continued on fifth page.)
