HILL CLIMBING

Food That Makes It a Pleasure. "I have a large amount of laborious brain-fatiguing work to do," writes a young lady from Richmond, Va. "After returning from the office, I have found myself so completely exhausted that I was unable to engage in any recreation or amusement. I tried several expensive tonics without effect, and finally noticing an advertisement of Grape-Nuts as a food recommended to brain workers, I purchased a package and tried it. I found it extremely palatable, and after a week's use (two meals of it a day) I noticed a general improvement in my condition, the feeling of extreme exhaustion was growing less, and strength visibly increased. I began to put on flesh and felt ready to enter into the amusements of the other members of the family, and now, after using the food for eleven months, I am like a new person. I have absolutely no sensation of fatigue; my brain is clear; eyes bright; skin rosy and healthy, and my muscles have strengthened to a marked degree. I am now able to walk from the office home, a distance of 3 1/2 miles, up one of the steepest hills for which our city is famous, and to engage in any amusements that may come in my way, without any sensation of extra fatigue. I am also using your Postum Food-Coffee with excellent results. My sister-in-law, who lives in Norwalk, Conn., writes me that she uses it also, and has not suffered from the distressing sick headaches she formerly had." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The Outlook for November

Notable in interest among the illustrated articles which appear in the current magazine number of The Outlook are: the first installment of a series of 12 papers by the Hon. John D. Long, ex-secretary of the navy, under the general title, "The New American Navy"; "The Russian and Polish Jew in New York," by Edward A. Steiner, with original photographs—one of a series of articles in which the author is tracing the life and career of immigrants of different races after they are settled in America; "An Artist's Impressions of Malta," by Mr. E. C. Peixoto, accompanied by several drawings by this artist, whose work is comparable only to that of Mr. Pennell and one or two other of the very best "black-and-white men"; "The Earl of Aberdeen," by Justin McCarthy, one of a series on living British statesmen by the author of "A History of Our Own Times," which is appearing from week to week in The Outlook; an article by Mr. Clifton Johnson on Tuskegee, considered as a typical Alabama town, with many pictures full of human interest from photographs by Mr. Johnson; a charmingly illustrated article on "The Growth of the Oak," by Mr. J. Horace McFarland, one of his series on tree biographies; and a paper on Tschalkowsky by Mr. D. G. Mason.

DONATIONS ASKED FOR THE MISSION HOSPITAL

Realizing the fact that the Mission Hospital is the city hospital and recognized as such by the generous and charitable citizens of Asheville and vicinity, we, the Board of Managers, deem it only right to keep the friends of the institution informed of its condition. It is now nearly fifteen months since we received the $3000 subscribed in August, 1901. With this sum we have paid off the heavy debt we had incurred for current expenses, supported the establishment, and made the necessary improvements and repairs to the building. In addition to the $3000 we have had the receipts from pay patients, a regularly paid monthly contribution from the city, an irregular, occasional small payment from the country, and the help of some kind subscribers. We are now facing the long winter, with increased expenses of living. We feel constrained to ask that our friends observe the time-honored custom and provisions at the Thanksgiving season, as in former years, we will feel no misgivings as to the maintenance of this noble charity. It must be remembered that the Mission Hospital is, and always must be, primarily a charity hospital, established and maintained for the care of the sick who cannot receive proper treatment in their own homes or who have no homes. The revenue from pay patients increases every year, but it would be manifestly wrong to make our charges so high as to force these unfortunates on our charity work. No, the Asheville people have always been ready and willing to care for their sick poor, and we feel it only necessary to ask for contributions and state the need of the work, to receive funds for its support. We beg that the subject receive careful attention and that each one give according to his or her ability; remembering that if we do our share we may confidently trust God to do the rest. BOARD OF MANAGERS MISSION HOSPITAL.

MISSOURI WOMAN'S CLUB

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 4.—Kansas City is just now the Mecca for club women from all parts of Missouri. The annual meeting of the state federation of Women's Clubs opened auspiciously this morning and will continue through tomorrow. Large delegations are in attendance from St. Louis, Springfield, St. Joseph and other leading cities of the state. Today's proceedings were largely of a routine nature. The gathering was formally called to order at 10 o'clock this morning. After addresses of welcome and responses the delegates listened to the reports of officers and committees which occurred most of the time until the hour for luncheon arrived. This afternoon there were more reports, from the art committee, the state library committee and the literature committee, all of them showing a year of unusual activity in all fields of club work. This evening Mrs. Lyda P. Williams of Minneapolis addresses the convention.

CHICAGOANS VISIT SOUTH

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 4.—A large party of leading business men, bankers and manufacturers of Chicago left the city this afternoon for a trip of more than 3000 miles, which will require fourteen days to complete and in which several states will be visited. The trip is made at the invitation of the governors and commercial bodies of the states of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi. Among the points that will be visited are Guthrie and Oklahoma City, Gainesville, Denison, Sherman, Bonham, Paris, Cleburne, Dallas, Corsicana, Waco, Temple, Austin, San Antonio, Victoria, Houston, Galveston and Beaumont in Texas, Crowley and New Orleans in Louisiana, Jackson, Miss., and Memphis, Tenn.

Trusts from the Inside

While calling upon Mr. John A. McCall, president of the New York Life Insurance company, I found that Mr. McCall was at work upon an address to be delivered before the National Convention of State Insurance officials at Columbus, Ohio, in which he advocated exactly such a federal corporation law as that proposed by Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Archbold, and for the same reasons. "If," said Mr. McCall, "a state chooses to exercise its full powers over foreign corporations (that is, corporations formed in other states), it need not stop short of absolute exclusion; it may consequently, so far as legal authority is concerned, impose conditions which are unreasonable and onerous, both with regard to requirements, as well as with respect to license fee and taxation. The corporation in such cases has no remedy in the courts, and the conditions are unconscionable; it can escape the injustice only by ceasing to expose itself to the jurisdiction of laws which make unjust requirements." He concludes "that an amendment to the constitution is necessary to secure national supervision and control of insurance companies." And almost paraphrasing Mr. Rockefeller, he advises that "pending such an amendment," efforts be made "to secure uniform laws for taxation and other purposes in order that policy holders may be protected against the crude and oftentimes destructive legislation proposed in some of the states." The disorder, loss and inconvenience resulting to corporations from the wide differences between state laws, the unending litigation to which these give rise, and the inducements they offer to trust-baiting and blackmailing suits, were repeatedly mentioned by the industrial leaders whose views on the president's proposal were invited, as the strongest possible argument in favor of a federal corporation law. Instances were given of state creating corporations for the purpose of doing business which is unlawful in the state that confers the charter, and even for the purpose of working in violation of the laws of the foreign state in which it operates. A systematic canvass of the men who manage the principal industrial combinations was invited, but one exception—a striking unanimity of approval of President Roosevelt's proposal. The single exception is that of the Sugar Trust which "did not care what the president thought or did."

ASHEVILLE 1896 1902

ASHEVILLE DAILY GAZETTE

The Leading Newspaper of Western North Carolina, Brings the news every morning to 100 North Carolina towns, before the arrival of any other newspaper and is the newspaper of a populous section of territory covering more than 10,000 square miles. No other daily newspaper in North Carolina has so large an exclusive territory.

During the last year the Daily Gazette has increased its circulation in its own broad territory more than 50 per cent., adding 80 postoffices to its lists. In the city of Asheville it has attained an unprecedented success and enters the fourth year of its life with the largest reading clientele ever possessed by a newspaper published in Asheville.

Every intelligent resident of this growing metropolis of the mountains reads the Daily Gazette, and it is the newspaper read by all the visitors to the city. The most prominent and enterprising business firms of the city are patrons of its advertising columns.

The News Service of the Gazette

is unsurpassed by any daily newspaper published for Western North Carolina readers. It is complete in all that interests our people. To a full day and night telegraph service of the news of the world is added a full service of State news by telegraph from the Daily Gazette's special representative at Raleigh, covering all topics political, social, religious and industrial, accurately, completely and interestingly a special Washington service, adapted especially to the interest of North Carolina readers, especially those in the Gazette's own exclusive territory, the representative of the Daily Gazette at the National Capital being one of the Gazette's own home office staff detailed for the work during the sessions of Congress, and at other times a North Carolinian conversant with the topics and news sources at Washington that excite the interests of Gazette readers.

The Daily Gazette

IS A SUBSCRIBER TO

The Unrivalled Press News Service

of the Laffan News Bureau, (New York Sun) and every topic of the world's news is not only fully covered in the telegraphic service furnished exclusively to the Gazette in Western North Carolina, but is most interestingly treated and its accuracy and reliability commends it strongly ahead of any press news service furnished to the daily newspapers.

In all the Western North Carolina towns the Gazette has special correspondents and the events especially of the mountain region, receive their due attention in its news columns.

Editorially, the Gazette advocates the progressive policies of the Republican national party.—It stands uncompromisingly in opposition to dishonest elections, corrupt political combinations and extravagance in the administration of the affairs of this state, producing unnecessary tax burdens. The Gazette favors every movement that looks to the moral and educational betterment of the state and to a promotion of industrial progress. The Gazette looks upon the building of good roads, the extension of the free public school system, and the rural free delivery of the mails as important factors in the upbuilding of the state.

SEMI-WEEKLY GAZETTE.

During the past twelve months the Weekly Gazette has made notable progress in extending its circulation throughout the state, from the mountains to the ocean. It is now supplanted by the Semi-Weekly Gazette, filled to the brim with the history and comments on the events that are of the greatest interest to its readers, with much well selected miscellaneous matter, reading for farmers, etc. It aims chiefly at a rural circulation, and for the country people of North Carolina there is no paper that gives equal value for the rate of its annual subscription.

Club rates for several copies of the Daily or Weekly Gazette, or either in combination with other newspapers will be furnished on application.
