Personal Mention, News of the Societies, Meetings, Etc.

"The Primrose Path"

A great deal of interest centers in the new play, "The Primrose Path," a two act comedy. The play is to be given for the benefit of the Confederate choir, and will be put on at the Auditorium on or about August 20.

It will be a great night for stag theater parties, as the play has an all-girl cast, including about 20 of the attractive and talented girls of the city. It will be preceded by a brilliant and musically bewitching chorus of young ladies in messaline evening dresses.

"The Primrose Path" is a romantic comedy, medieval in motive, setting and costuming. Rehearsals are going splendidly. Among those in the cast are Misses Kathleen and Margaret Ware, Miss Mary Thayer, Miss Kate Nichols, Miss Rebecca Cushman, Miss Frances Haxell, Miss Arney Robinson, Miss Marguerite Canaday, Miss Hortense Jones, Miss Elizabeth Murphy, Miss Marion Gherkin, Miss Isabel Hazard, Miss Misses Cuthbert Du-four and Martha Chambers, Lulu and Ellie Alexander, Mrs. Robert Stevens and others. C. T. Carr has charge of the chorus work.

The Younger Set's Gay Whirl

The younger set are going to be the center of the gay whirl this week. There are a number of charming out-of-town guests, and varied entertainments are planned for them by their hostesses and friends.

The gayety will begin with Miss Byrd Henderson's tea this afternoon for Miss Overman and Miss Holt. Tomorrow Miss Lulu Moore will entertain with a luncheon for Miss Annie Barnard and Miss Lois Broyles. Wednesday the Misses Hastings give a card party and Mrs. Thomas S. Rollins will entertain with a luncheon for the guests of her sister, the Misses Rollins, Miss Wood, Miss Lane and Miss Holt.

Thursday Mrs. R. J. Tighe will give a Phi Mu luncheon in honor of the house guests of Misses Sadie and Myrtle Rollins, and Miss Dorothy Long will entertain with a card party for her visiting friend, Miss Marx of Louisiana. A number of smaller card parties, and informal outings for the visitors are planned, indicating a busy social week.

An Impromptu Musical

There was an impromptu neighborhood musical Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Theodore F. Davidson, on Liberty street.

Miss Annie Lee McNeill of Florence, S. C., a gifted young violinist, who is the guest of Miss Arney Robinson, was heard for the first time in Asheville. Miss McNeill has brilliancy of technique, and depth of tone, and plays with a feeling and expression unusual in so young a musician. Miss Kate Nichols accompanied Miss McNeill.

There will be an informal dance at Victoria Inn this evening. The dances at the Inn are popular among the younger set; the Italian orchestra furnishing delightful dance music. Wednesday evening there will be a mid-week sermon at the Manor. The German is always a fascinating dance, and several new figures as well as many of the beautiful old ones will be carried out by the leaders on Wednesday night.

Mrs. Julian Woodcock gave a bridge party Friday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. John Woodcock of Muskogee, Okla. Mrs. Graham Webb won the first prize, a brass jardiniere, and Mrs. F. L. Hunt the consolation prize, a brass candlestick. The guest prize, a brass jardiniere, was presented to Mrs. Woodcock. There were four tables.

Ruffner Campbell and Cedric Robinson will leave tomorrow for Banner's Elk. Taking the train to Black Mountain they will walk from there about 120 miles, via Mount Mitchell, Spruce Pine, Linville river, and Grandfather mountain. They expect to make the trip and arrive at Banner's Elk within a week.

Mrs. Hardin Burnley will give a recital Thursday at the Battery Park Hotel at 8:30 p. m. Tomorrow Mrs. Brumley will give a recital at Toxaway Inn, Lake Toxaway.

Miss Dorothy Long will entertain with a card party Thursday afternoon in honor of her guest, Miss Helen Marx of Lake Charles, La.

Miss Byrd Henderson entertained with an informal tea this afternoon in honor of her house guests, Miss Overman and Miss Holt.

Misses Olive and Virginia Hastings will entertain Wednesday afternoon with a card party at their home on Magnolia street.

Mrs. L. E. McBrayer and children have returned from Blue Mont, where they have spent the past six weeks at their cottage, "Camp-O-Brayer."

Mrs. B. J. Roth, who has spent the last ten weeks in Asheville visiting friends and relatives, leaves today for New York.

Miss Gladys Lindsey returned yesterday from Old Fort where she has been visiting friends for a few weeks.

H. C. Shook of Washington, D. C., is spending his vacation in Asheville and Clyde.

PREACHING OF JUDE AGAINST APOSTASY

Subject of Dr. Gaebelein's Last Bible Study Address Saturday Morning.

Finishing his series of Bible studies at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday morning with an exposition of the book of Jude Rev. Dr. Gaebelein held his last service yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. This was an evangelistic meeting.

Judge, said Dr. Gaebelein, was written about 60 A. D., as were nearly all the second of the Pauline epistles. That year seems to have marked a decided declension in the church. The apostles were fast passing away, and they left these warnings against the apostasy of the last days, a striking thing in the introduction, as in other of the "second epistles," is the divine multiplication. "Mercy, peace, love, be multiplied unto you." This was needful in a declining church. Another theory is Jude's statement that when he "gave all diligence to write of the common salvation," the Holy Spirit diverted his pen to exhort against apostasy. This is a notable illustration of verbal inspiration.

He also exhorted to earnest contending for "the faith once for all delivered to the saints." "When people ask me what church I belong to I say, 'All Saints' church' and my creed is the whole Bible."

Jude goes back and reviews the progress of apostasy in the past. He does not take things in chronological order but the order of apostasy as it progresses. First going into Egypt, worldliness; second, angels who fell,

The Pulp Grinders from Canton took the last game of the week's series from the Red Birds here Saturday, and not only that but they shut the locals out—whitewashed 'em. The game was played with Asheville falling after the sixth inning when Canton made one run. Canton made a couple more runs in the ninth and the game ended 2 to 0 in favor of the visitors. Lemon pitched for Canton and gave up but one hit during the entire game. Stafford in the box for Asheville worked well but allowed eight hits while three errors behind him were chalked up. The score by innings:

The Hendersonville Planets made another grab for the league pennant at Hendersonville Saturday afternoon when they again defeated "Dusty" Sherrill's top-notchers by a score of 1 to 0. Both Wood for Hendersonville and Clarke for Waynesville pitched great ball, the score being showing four hits off each; Waynesville made three errors and Hendersonville one.

COLLINS' CONDITIONS REPORTED AS FAVORABLE

Paul Cameron Collins, the cashier of the Bank of Hillsboro, who was shot at the Hotel Gladstone at Black Mountain Saturday morning, at the time John Hill Bunting of Wilmington received his death wound, was reported this afternoon as resting well, with strong hope of recovery.

Mr. Collins was shot through and through and his favorable condition is something of a puzzle to attending physicians. Necessarily it was thought from the course from the entrance of the bullet to its passage out of the man's body, a portion of the lung must have been struck, but the condition of Mr. Collins does not so indicate and it is now believed that unless complications set in, such as pneumonia or blood poisoning, the patient will shortly be safely on the road to recovery.

The shooting of Mr. Collins and Mr. Bunting by Township Constable Watkins and the incidents connected therewith and the prominence of the victims has created much comment and aroused interest throughout the state and especially in eastern North Carolina. A number of Mr. Collins' relatives including former Adjutant General Bennehan Cameron have come to Asheville, while many other relatives and friends have kept the wires hot with messages concerning Mr. Collins' condition.
