The Latter Usually Caused by the Former, Which, In Turn, Has Its Origin in Intestinal Indigestion.

Chronic constipation is a disease which is about as prevalent as dyspepsia and indigestion. Nearly every one suffers from it occasionally, but there are millions of people who endure it habitually, and who are accustomed to resort to the use of laxatives and catharties daily.

Many people seemed to have developed a perfect mania for taking pills. and instead of trying to ascertain the latent cause of the disease, and removing it by appropriate treatment they are content to continue the reckless use of laxatives, aperients, drascathartics and violent purgatives, until finally inflammation of the bowels occurs, which reaches the appendix, and the result is appendicitis.

In investigating and tracing the causative factors of constipation and its frequent sequel, appendicitis, it has been noted by physicians that the majority of cases were preceded and accompanied by a long-standing gastrointestinal indigestion.

The idea that appendicitis brought on by foreign bodies, such as her and his brother, Lester Butler, of goeds, etc., becoming lodged in the appendix, is an exploded theory.
