

A GIRL'S SCHOOL UNDER AUSPICE OF CATHOLIC ORDER ON MOUNTAIN TOP

Proposition of P. S. Henry Will Make Possible the Carrying Out of Plans by Sisters of Hillside Convent.

SCHOOL IS TO BE BUILT; SITE NOT DECIDED UPON

Plan is to Lay out the Entire Summit of the Beaumont Peak for School Purposes, and Erect Capacious Building.

It is learned today that the Sisters of the Hillside Convent school are soon to establish in Asheville a girls' school that will in many ways rival any educational institution in the state or in the south.

The Beaumont property is a magnificent site for a school such as is contemplated by the Sisters. It is removed from the noise of the city, with an excellent view overlooking the entire city, and yet it can be made easily accessible.

School Has Been a Success. It is known that the Sisters are going to build in or near Asheville, and that the abundant success which they have achieved with the Hillside Convent has warranted them looking for other quarters.

That the order intends to build a school there is no doubt; the only question, it is understood, will be the head of the Ladies of Christian Education, at Tournai, Belgium, under whose auspices the Hillside convent is conducted.

The limited facilities for education for women is one thing which people have pointed out as one of Asheville's lacks, and such a school is planned by the Sisters.

Should the Beaumont site be decided upon—and there is every indication that Mr. Henry's offer will be accepted—it is said the whole mountain will be arranged to the best advantage of the school.

When seen by a Gazette-News representative today Rev. Mother De Planck while admitting that a change of location of the school within the next year had to be considered, said she was awaiting an answer from the authorities of her order before announcing definitely her plans.

Forecast until 8 p. m. Thursday for Asheville and vicinity: Threatening weather, with probably occasional showers tonight by Thursday.

MANY VACANCIES IN PUBLIC OFFICES

These and Other Matters Will at Once Demand the Attention of President Taft.

MR. TAFT IS SCHEDULED TO REACH CAPITAL TONIGHT

And When He Settles Down to Business He Will Find a Tariff War Is Threatened.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Wearied by his fifty-seven-day trip across the continent and return, President Taft reaches home tonight to find his desk piled high with matters demanding his attention.

But the president will have plenty of business to engage his attention, aside from that connected with the filling of offices. For one thing, he has the new tariff law on his hands.

Following his long absence from the capital, the president will resume work in the new executive offices of the White House.

It seems that he was at work for the Champion Fibre company on the yards at Canton, assisting a crew of a switch engine in making up a train of cars.

CAUGHT BETWEEN CARS IS CRUSHED TO DEATH

Fatal Accident at Canton Last Night Cost the Life of Clyde Hyams of Old Fort.

News has been received here of the tragic death at Canton last evening about 7 o'clock of Clyde Hyams, son of Postmaster Hyams of Old Fort, and a nephew of W. S. Hyams, clerk of the U. S. court of this city.

It seems that he was at work for the Champion Fibre company on the yards at Canton, assisting a crew of a switch engine in making up a train of cars.

Mr. Hyams was about 23 years of age; a strong, handsome young fellow and quite popular with those with whom he was thrown.

Paris, Nov. 10.—Fighting loyally for her mistress, Marrietta Wolf, the cook of the Steinheil household, the principal witness in the trial of Madame Steinheil, was led through a labyrinth of contradictory statements by the judge.

Witness volunteered the startling statement that the prisoner's husband was addicted to the opium habit.

This afternoon at one point Madame Steinheil interrupted. She shouted defiantly that if it was true that she received $1,200 from her lover, Chouard, the iron manufacturer, he made a hundred times that amount of clients she sent him.

Cincinnati Hears About the Woman in the Case

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 10.—It is learned here from official sources, that the Chicago woman who shared her ill gotten spoils, mad because her income had been cut off, gave the first intimation of the impending scandal involving Charles L. Warriner, the deposed treasurer of the Big Four railroad, accused of the responsibility for the defalcation of $600,000 of the company's funds.

EVERTON, TRAVELING HYPNOTIST, CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

William Davenport, a Student of Hypnotism, Tried to Bring the Dead to Life.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 10.—The autopsy disclosed the fact that the death of Robert Simpson, who died in a trance, was due to a rupture of the aorta. Prof. Everton, the hypnotist, will probably be charged with manslaughter.

A Cell Scene

While Arthur Everton, self-styled "professor," and traveling hypnotist, sobbed in his cell, three calm medical men witnessed a weird performance in the morgue of the Somerset hospital in the morgue of the Somerset hospital in the morgue of the Somerset hospital.

Davenport failed, Simpson was declared officially dead, and an autopsy was held tonight. Meanwhile, unnerved and shaken, Everton remains in prison where he must await the action of the grand jury as a sequel to a stage trick familiar throughout this country and abroad.

Autopsy Postponed

It was at the piteous insistence of Everton while in jail after his ineffectual attempts to revive Simpson, that Davenport, a friend of Everton, came into the case. Notwithstanding the declarations of physicians that Simpson was dead, Everton asked that Davenport be allowed to try to arouse him.

Then, invoking the power of suggestion, he spoke in the dead man's ear: "Bob," he said, "Bob," your heart action—your heart action—your heart action is beginning."

Your heart is beginning to beat! Your heart is beginning to beat! Again and again he repeated this assurance to the inanimate form which the medical men looked grimly on.

Dr. Duncan Quackenbush of Columbia university, a leading authority on hypnotism, said this afternoon that it was not unlikely that Simpson's was a case of suspended animation and that an autopsy should be made with caution or perhaps deferred until there was no possibility of life.
