ANCIENT LANDMARK IS TO BE RAZED

House, Probably Hendersonville's Oldest, to Be Replaced by Bank Building.

Gazette-News Bureau, Hotel Gates, Hendersonville, Nov. 11.

The recent sale and proposed razing of the Tombs building, better known by Hendersonville's oldest citizens as the "Old Rock House," has brought out some interesting reminiscences pertaining to this old landmark in years gone by. The house was built some time between the years 1841 and 47 by John Mills, who soon afterwards sold it to Valentine Ripley, one of Hendersonville's earliest settlers.

Hendersonville is thought to have been first laid out for a village about the year 1840, thus making it more than likely that this was the first building of any importance to be built in this town. Dr. T. A. Allen, the oldest physician and one of the most prominent citizens, when asked by The Gazette-News representative for some information about the old building, stated that the building had been standing as long as he could remember and that in 1851, when he first opened his office, it was comparatively an old looking house, known by everybody as the old Rock House and stage stand.

In the days when the stage lines were in operation this house was used by the traveling public as a stage stand on the old Buncombe Turnpike, running from a little village in central Georgia to Greenville, Tenn., at that time perhaps the longest stage road in the south.

On the corner, next to the Old Rock house, where now stands the magnificent structure, Hotel Gates, was erected a typical old-fashioned hostelry, long remembered by the older residents of this town as the Ripley house. It being built by the same Valentine Ripley mentioned before. It was here that the stage passengers, those who desired, stayed over night, but the stage always stopped at the Stage stand or what was known as the Old Rock house and exchanged passengers and horses to continue the trip to Greenville, Tenn.

Pertaining to the old Buncombe road it might be of interest to state that for seven miles this side of Asheville it was a plank road and some signs of this old road are yet left.

The Tombs building will in a short time be torn down and be replaced by a handsome, two-story, brown stone front, bank building to be occupied by the People's National bank.

The removing of this old landmark will be notable among the many changes now taking place and which mark Hendersonville's new era in business activities.

J. H. Patterson and A. M. Ives, with their families, who have beautiful homes in this town and have been spending the summer here, returned yesterday to Jacksonville, where they will resume their business interests for the winter, returning to this city early next spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hamilton are spending some time in Hickory, visiting relatives.

Captain M. C. Tooms went to Zirconia yesterday on business.

Dr. Paul H. Ringer and Dr. W. L. Dunn of Asheville passed through here yesterday in an automobile en route for Atlanta.

LAYING THE MACADAM ON MAIN ST., MARSHALL

Work Progressing Well—Many New Stores and Residences Being Built.

Special to the Gazette-News

Marshall, Nov. 11.—The work of macadamizing Main street is rapidly progressing under the supervision of Chairman J. E. Swain of the street improvement committee. Some time ago bonds were voted to the amount of $20,000 for the purpose of completing the water system, paving the streets and improving the sidewalks.

The Rectory house, Marshall's popular hostelry, has a number of prominent lawyers here for court week, among them is Hon. J. M. Gidger, jr., of Asheville.

The Capicola Yarn Mill is now running full time, both night and day. A number of new buildings, both stores and residences, are in course of erection here, and the merchants are receiving a fairly good trade.

Attorney Zachary of Broadway is in the city attending court.

Records Being Prepared in Whitney Company Case.

A. H. Price, who was recently appointed by Judge Pritchard as special master in the foreclosure proceedings of the Whitney company will probably go to New York in a few days to examine the records upon which the decree of sale will be based, says the Salisbury Post. The records are being prepared with all possible expedition by the receivers, John S. Henderson and Charles W. Smith, and forwarded to New York as completed.

It appears from information coming from a source that may be regarded as altogether reliable, that the sale will be made shortly after Mr. Price's report to Judge Pritchard is submitted. This course would be followed by the immediate resumption of work at Whitney.

A Gander and Cow are Very Close Friends.

John A. Yoder and family have returned from Linville to spend the winter in Newton, says the Newton Enterprise. Mr. Yoder brings with him a story of a strange attachment between a mountain cow and a big white gander. The both belong to Tom Morrison of the Table Rock section of Burke county. Mr. Morrison keeps cattle, hogs, sheep, goats, mules, jennets, horses, pease, ducks, turkeys and every other kind of farm animal or fowl you can think of. And from this medley one old gander and a cow have paired off, and will not associate with any of the other stock or fowls, and each becomes disconsolate, if separated from the other. The gander roosts in the cow's stall at night and goes with her to the pasture by day. If one is taken and the other left, both keep up a constant racket until they are united again.

Campaign for Missions.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Two thousand delegates from 100 of the leading churches in the national capital are taking part in the big convention of the Y.M.C.A. missionary movement, which held the first of its three days' sessions today. The list of speakers is headed by President Taft, and among other men of note who are to be heard are Rear Admiral A. T. Mahan, former Secretary of State John W. Foster, Robert E. Speer, secretary of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions; John R. Mott, general secretary of the World's Student Federation; Rev. Arthur S. Lloyd, bishop-conductor of Virginia, and J. A. McDonald, editor of the Toronto Globe. The convention is one of a series to be held during the coming winter and spring in more than 75 of the leading cities of the United States.

with the purpose of inspiring members of the different churches to active missionary work. The movement is entirely of an interdenominational character.

CHICAGO GRAFTERS ARE BEING INVESTIGATED

N. J. Martin, Secretary of Alderman Kenna, Wants to Make a Confession About Jury Drawings.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—When the judge's committee investigating the jury commissioners convened here yesterday, State's Attorney Wayman offered to introduce an alleged confession signed by Nicholas J. Martin, relative to tampering with jury drawings in the commissioner's office. Martin is the private secretary of Alderman Michael Kenna of the first ward, and is now under indictment with Jury Commissioner John J. Holland and W. J. Rayburn for complicity in alleged illegal drawing of grand and petit juries.

Judges Barnes, Honore and Blinaker, the investigating committee, decided that the investigation was a judicial and court procedure, and the expectation is that it will henceforth be governed by the usual legal rules in the presentation of evidence. The judges refused to regard the alleged confession as evidence and declined to permit it to be read.

The prosecutor asserts that Martin admitted that he had agreed to furnish Rayburn with a list of names of men who would be amenable to outside influence should they be called as jurors in the trial of Police Inspector McCann, who was recently found guilty of accepting money from improper persons for protection purposes.

The judges gave State's Attorney Wayman permission to file the alleged confession, but would not allow him to read it in evidence. The state's attorney then withdrew the document and declared his case closed.

When the hearing is resumed next Wednesday the judges will inspect the office of the jury commissioners and the commissioner will present rebuttal of the allegations made by the state's attorney.

He Knew His Worth.

Self-confidence is one of the most valuable qualities to one who would rise quickly. No doubt the youngster who figures in this story from the London Daily Mail is already well on the way up.

A gentleman calling on a member of parliament one day, while waiting in the reception room, was attracted by the manner of the small attendant, and started a random conversation.

"And how much do you earn a week, me boy?" he inquired.

"Ten pounds," said the youngster with avidity.

Being shown into the member's private office just then, the visitor's surprise found vent in words.

"Mighty bright youth you have, to be getting 10 pounds a week," he remarked.

"Why," said the member of parliament, "he gets only 22 shillings."

"But he told me just now you were giving him 10 pounds a week," persisted the gentleman.

Gems In Verse

OLD FAVORITES.
HOW DO I LOVE THEE?
How do I love thee? Let me count the ways.
I love thee to the depth and breadth and height
My soul can reach when feeling out of sight
For the ends of being and ideal grace
I love thee to the level of every day's
Most quiet need, by sun and candle light
I love thee freely, as men strive for right
I love thee purely, as they turn from praise
I love thee with the passion put to use
In my old griefs and with my childhood's faith
I love thee with a love I seem to lose
With my lost saints, I love thee with the breath,
Smiles, tears, of all my life. And, if I God choose,
I shall but love thee better after death.
—Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

THE SIN OF OMISSION.
It isn't the thing you do, dear,
It's the thing you've left undone,
Which gives you a bit of heartache
At the setting of the sun.
The tender word forgotten,
The letter you did not write,
The flower you might have sent, dear,
Are your haunting ghosts tonight.
With troubles enough of your own,
THE stone you might have lifted
Out of a brother's way,
The bit of heartsome counsel
You were hurried too much to say,
The loving touch of the hand, dear,
The gentle and winsome tone,
That you had no time nor thought for,
With troubles enough of your own.

DO THEY MISS ME AT HOME?
Do they miss me at home, do they miss me?
I would be an assurance most dear
To know that this moment some loved one
Were saying I wish he were here;
To feel that the group at the fireside
Were thinking of me as I roam,
Oh, yes, 'twould be joy beyond measure
To know that they missed me at home!

WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA.
They Clog the Pores—Only a Liquid Can Reach the Inner Skin.
Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and can not penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

One of the Heathens.
A missionary came down to take the Sunday services at the church of Giggleswick-in-Craven. On behalf of the foreign heathen a collection was taken up. One of the wardens offered the box to a certain member of the congregation who did not believe in foreign missions. In a stage whisper, here in a meeting held in Kensington, this man said in blank vernacular, "Tak it awa', lad, I'm not going to give owt."

At that period the collecting boxes were taken direct into the vestry. Down came the preacher from the pulpit, went into the vestry, brought out one of the boxes, and marched straight toward the gentleman, all the congregation imagining that the minister was going to shame the unbeliever into giving something. Nothing of the kind, the clergyman merely offered the box to the heretic with the naive remark, "Tak, what thou wastest, lad; it has been gathered for the heathen!"—Church Family Newspaper.

A Cowardly Egg.
A campaign orator was delivering a flood of frozied eloquence the other evening and departed for a moment from the text of his discourse to tell of an experience he had the night before in a meeting held in Kensington. "Yes," he said, "the opposite political party was out in force and at every attempt of the speaker to make himself heard he was met with jeers, catcalls, hoots and hisses which drowned his voice."

When I arose to speak someone hurled a base cowardly egg at me, which struck me in the chest!"

NO SUBSTITUTE
Has ever been found as good as the original Vick's Croup & Pneumonia Salve. Too much is involved to risk one. See that you get Vick's. 25c, 50c and $1.00.

An auditor here interrupted to demand what kind of an egg a "base cowardly egg" might be.

"Why," answered the story-teller, "a cowardly egg is one of that kind of eggs that hits you and then runs."—Philadelphia Times.

The Scale.
A "carte de jour," you know, is where the prices soar up in the air.

A "menu" is where you may hope to find them with a telescope.

A bill of fare is where you get Meals without being held for debt.

A table d'hôte—but, then, O pshaw! 'Tis best to live with pa and ma.

—Chicago Evening Post.
