THE AIRSHIP GAZER.

New York Times. He had a neck as stiff as a board. There's nothing that can bind it. He started out last week alone. To seek an airship in the zone. Where man was soon to send it. He skyward gazed from dawn till dark. From point to point he shifted; He heard below the auto spark. The small boy shout, a mongrel bark. But kept his face uplifted.

The evening came, he still looked high Into the starry heaven; Eight, nine o'clock passed slowly by. The moon came out and lit the sky; He stayed till half past seven.

Next morning he was up and out And every morn succeeding; He never deigned to look about, Although he still heard urchins shout, But keep the heavens reading.

At last a murmur caught his ear, Or some gay rustic jabbed him; He tried at last his sight to clear, Look down on earth, but, dear, oh, dear!

His neck just up and stabbed him! Today he wears a plaster cast That soars above his collar, His ears and chin are buckled fast, But he has seen a ship at last. An ain't out a dollar!

AMUSEMENTS

The Show Girl, Thursday, Nov. 18. Of all the light musical successes of this season, no offering has greater vogue than H. C. Whitney's famous Broadway success, "The Show Girl," which will be the attraction at the Grand next Thursday, Nov. 18. This jolly bit of tomfoolery, which made such an excellent impression at Walden's theatre, New York City, and had a run of over three months, will be presented with its tasteful costumes, gorgeous scenery and effective stage business. There is a cat, not a real cat but a cat, but the most remarkable cat ever seen on any stage. The impersonation is done by a prominent artist who bears the reputation of be-pickers for her breakfast to the juicy grape fruit or the luscious melon.

Pickert Stock Company. The announcement that there will soon be another 10, 20 and 30 cent attraction at the Grand may not create a big sensation, but when the Pickert Stock company, band and orchestra begin their week's engagement here the patrons of popular prices will have a treat. This company is one of the best attractions on the road for the money and present royalty plays and introduce unusual clever specialties between acts.

Other attractions announced by the management of the Grand, dates not being given, are Adelaide Thurston in "Contrary Mary," "The Climax," "Isle of Spices," and "The Servant in the House."

One Comfort. "Halloo, Rivers! You seem to have a bad cold." "Worst I ever had, thanks." "I'm sorry for you, old fellow. Wish I knew of something that would cure you, but I don't."

A Bright Boy. "Now, Tommy," said the teacher, "you may give me an example of coincidence."

"Why—er," said Tommy, with some hesitation "why—or—why, me fadder and me mudder was both married on de same day."—Harper's Weekly.

The Flower of the Ranch. Whenever it is announced that one of the Howard musical comedies is to be presented in a city it always causes much local comment as the theatergoer of today fully realizes that it will be a real treat from a musical standpoint. Mr. Howard is without a doubt becoming the greatest musical writer of the age. In the past two or three years he has written the music to no less than a dozen of our most successful light operas. Among those which were the most successful was "The District Leader," "The Time, The Place and The Girl," "The Girl Question," "A Stubborn Cinderella," "A Prince at Tonight," "The Golden Girl," "The Goddess of Liberty" and the sensation of them all, "The Flower of the Ranch." This delightful comedy will be seen in this city soon.

The Golden Girl. Eat prunes if you wish to preserve your youthful complexion. The authority for this receipt is Miss Nellie Watters, the diminutive comedienne, who will be seen here soon in "The Golden Girl." Many of Miss Watter's friends have admired her milk-and-peaches complexion, which looks even better on the street than it does on the stage, and she has finally let the cat out of the bag. She credits her fair skin and rosy cheeks to her daily dish of prunes, which she never misses. As long as she can remember this generally despised fruit,

Offering Money

Now isn't this sense! A man who advertises that he wants to buy something, is likely to be pretty eager, even if he has to pay a good price. And if the thing he wants to buy is something you have, then it really means that the advertiser is OFFERING MONEY TO YOU. And if anybody is out with an offer to pay money for something that you are willing to part with, surely you want to know about it, don't you? How will you ever know about it, if you don't look through the Market-place of the Munnimakers every day?—the live, enterprising, snappy offers that are made in the little classified ads in the Gazette-News!

Dear Mr. Munnimaker, Care The Gazette-News Classified Columns. Through a little Munnimaker Classified Ad. in the Gazette-News, I closed out my Grocery stock. Yours truly, J. D. S.

Write Mr. Munnimaker, care of the Gazette-News, or phone him, No. 202, whenever you want anything.
