SOLD GROCERIES ON THE SABBATH

Mrs. Cohen and Her Daughter Sold Butter and Police Say They've Offended in Similar Manner Before.

One of the enlivening cases in city police court this morning had to do with the sale of "groceries on Sundays" in violation of a city ordinance. The defendants before the bar were Mrs. Cohen and her daughter, Miss Cohen, whose speech was of the broken English type. The mother and daughter were represented by Robert R. Reynolds, and during the progress of the trial the counsel apparently had greater difficulty in keeping his clients quiet than in presenting the facts. Incidentally the cause hinged around a certain half-pound of butter and the profit of loss of a penny.

The prosecuting witness alleged that she had purchased from Mrs. Cohen yesterday a half-pound of butter; that she paid for the said butter 12 cents. The daughter and the mother said that the prosecuting witness only borrowed the butter, promising to return butter of the same weight today; further, the daughter and the mother said, in effect, why should we sell a half-pound of butter for 12 cents? we paid 12 cents for it; the inference being that such a sale was absurd. The police, however, said that the place was kept open on Sunday and heretofore groceries had been sold on the Sabbath day. In reply the defendants said that they had sold ice cream, soft drinks, etc., on Sunday; that they had a license.

The court held that the defendants were guilty and imposed a fine of $5 and costs with the warning that if there were any more violations of this specific ordinance by these particular defendants the court next time would be more severe.

FIFTY CASES IN THE POLICE COURT

The Moral Code Seems to Have Been Attacked on Every Hand by Asheville Folk Since Saturday.

It was a docket of no mean size over which Judge P. C. Cooke presided in city police court this morning when more than a half-century of cases were disposed of. When court was opened a huge bunch of spectators was crowded into the small court room while the door was jammed, the corridor was filled and likewise the prisoner's dock. The offenses charged against the 54 defendants included gambling, disorderly conduct, drunk fighting, selling liquor, intimidating witnesses, etc. It was one of the largest and withal, one of the most diversified courts of the year. Ten gamblers who were interrupted by the police early Sunday morning while enjoying a little pastime of stud poker, appeared through counsel and pleaded guilty to the charge. The court in passing sentence said that the offense was aggravated by reason of the fact that it was committed on Sunday and the ten sports were required to help the school fund along to the tune of $200, each defendant being fined $20 and the costs, the costs in addition to the total fines of $200 amounting to something like $45.

A scrap in a house of ill-fame Saturday night in the "red light" district resulted in the keeper of the house and several inmates being required to appear and answer the charge of keeping a disorderly house and aiding and abetting. The keeper of the house drew a fine of $20 and the aiders $5 each.

Several drinks drew prizes of $2, $5 and $10 each.

Vague or Fantastic Names.

Names given when there is a gambling raid are likely to be vague, if not fantastic, and that is why it is noted around that H. H. Littell was among those gathered in yesterday morning. Mr. Littell has never turned his talents toward stud poker, and has not even a theoretical knowledge of the game. Moreover, he was not among those present—as it is hardly necessary to tell those who know him. Perhaps the rumor grew from a name given as "H. Little," or "H. Little," or "H. Littell," as it severally appeared or was talked in police circles.

Captain Neil Seriously Hurt.

Capt. Lambert Neil, aged 80 years, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Transylvania county, was knocked off a trestle near Brevard a few days ago, by a backing train, and is thought to be fatally injured. The unfortunate man was crossing the trestle, which is near a sharp curve in the road, when he was overtaken by the train and injured. His injuries are both external and internal and little hope was entertained yesterday for his recovery.

Rev. Plato Durham at Central.

Rev. Plato Durham, who preached an able sermon yesterday morning at Central Methodist church, was the week-end guest of his cousins, Miss Kathleen and Miss Margaret Ware, at the home of A. B. Ware on Orange street. Dr. Durham left this morning for Hickory, where he is attending the Methodist conference.

Forbes & Campbell, real estate agents, have sold a half-acre lot at New Bridge station on the Weaverville car line for H. S. Howland to J. P. Jarvis; the consideration being $150.

The Asheville fire department was called to the rear of Carrie N. Brown's house on Haywood street late Saturday afternoon to extinguish a small blaze in an outbuilding. The damage was slight.

Of interest to her many friends in Asheville will be the news that Mrs. J. P. Howatt, now living in Knoxville, is steadily recovering from her recent illness, and is able to sit up for a short while each day.

The statement of the Citizens' bank, published elsewhere in this paper, shows that the deposits have increased 25 1-3 per cent. during the past year. This is a most gratifying showing and the officers are to be congratulated.

At a meeting of the creditors of W. H. Lasater, bankrupt, today E. H. Atkinson was appointed trustee in bankruptcy. Mr. Atkinson will take charge of the plant and stock in trade of Mr. Lasater and will probably offer it for sale at a date in the near future.

The Simpson Tea and Coffee company of No. 25 East College street, a new tea and coffee store, state elsewhere in the advertising columns of this paper that on next Wednesday they will give away one pound of coffee free with every pound of tea they sell.

News has been received here of the death in Detroit Friday of John Child, formerly a resident of Asheville and a brother of H. D. Child of this city. Mr. Child was engaged in a real estate business here eight or ten years ago with A. J. Lyman and had many friends in Asheville. The interment was at Springfield, Mass.

Rev. Plato L. Durham preached at Central Methodist church yesterday to large congregations. Mr. Durham was assigned to Central church instead of Rev. Mr. Abernethy and filled the pulpit at both the morning and evening hours. He is one of the ablest ministers in the Western North Carolina conference and is now stationed at Concord.

Revenue Agent Sams' office this morning received notice of the destruction by Deputy Collectors Miller and Harkins of a large copper still in Wilkes county, as well as the seizure of a large amount of corn meal, and about 500 gallons of beer. The raid was made in the dark and the two men, who were at the still escaped.

For the last two weeks the members of the "busy men's" class at the Young Men's Christian association have been playing match volley ball games twice a week in the gymnasium. This afternoon teams number 2 and 4 will play and as these two teams are in the lead a hot contest is expected. The men of the city are invited to witness the contest.
