The MARKETS

The Leading Stocks on New York Exchange—Cotton Market Quotations.

New York, Jan. 10.—Opening prices of stocks advanced as a rule, but gains were moderate, and speculative interest apparently languid. The market became heavy for an interval. There were large fractional losses in all active stocks before the list turned upwards. The drifting movement of prices turned downwards again, selling was light and the whole market dull and narrow. Bonds were steady.

The death of Senator McLaurin of Mississippi reduced the number of Confederate veterans in the senate by eight, but the appointment of Col. James Gordon as his successor restored the number to the original figure of nine. The other eight ex-Confederates in the senate are Bankhead of Alabama, Johnston of Alabama, Tallaferra of Florida, Bacon of Georgia, McEnery of Louisiana, Money of Mississippi and Daniel and Martin of Virginia. By a curious coincidence there are also just nine ex-soldiers of the Union among the senators—Bulkeley of Connecticut, DuPont of Delaware, Bradley of Kentucky, Burrows of Michigan, Nelson of Minnesota, Warner of Missouri, Aldrich of Rhode Island, Scott of West Virginia and Warren of Wyoming. Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York, whose term will expire next March, is a candidate for re-election.

INTEREST FELT IN PINCHOT MATTER

The Great Work of the Deposed Forester Was Started Here Where He Was Highly Regarded.

WRECK AT REEDY FORK WILL BE INVESTIGATED

Merchants of Raleigh Have Voted a Hundred Dollars in Cash For the Wake Corn Contest.

The Gazette-News Bureau, Chamber of Commerce Rooms, Holleman Building, Raleigh, Jan. 10. No little interest is felt in North Carolina over the dismissal of Gifford Pinchot. For one reason, his great work began in this state, when he was a forester for George Vanderbilt at Biltmore, where he did the first great work. President Roosevelt was greatly attracted to Pinchot, and last December a year your correspondent, then a delegate to Washington to the conservation congress, was profoundly impressed by this. Over and over again he alluded to Pinchot, in terms of the most extreme friendship. What will he think of the dismissal?

The Wake Corn Contest. The Raleigh Merchants' association has voted $100 in money prizes for corn growing in this county this year, and there is going to be a notable contest. Wake holds the championship and cannot afford to lose it.

The Melver Statue. State Superintendent Joyner, in charge of the great movement among the teachers and pupils in the public school to raise money for a marble statue of the late lamented Charles D. Melver, president of the State Normal and Industrial College for Women, announces that of the $7000 necessary there has been collected $6000 and that $500 is pledged. The sculptor who has received the order for the work is Frank W. Ruckstuhl, whose portrait-bust of William A. Graham, recently done for this state, shows its fine talent as an artist.

A bronze railing is being placed in front of the niche in the rotunda of the capitol in which the W. A. Graham bust stands, and the dedication will take place next Wednesday evening.

It is very evident that the investigation which the corporation commission will make into the circumstances which brought about the Reedy Fork wreck on the Southern Railway, will be searching in the extreme, and that a very full and careful report will be made upon it.

Laymen's Conventions.

The final arrangements have been made for the sending to the Laymen's convention at Greensboro next week of a delegation not less than 50 strong. Exactly that number of men stood up three weeks ago in the Presbyterian church and announced that they would go, and this number may be exceeded. Secretary Brown of the conference was here last night and met with representatives of the various churches. He expressed his pleasure at the spirit Raleigh is showing in this great movement.

Many Blind Children.

There are now in the state school for the white blind and that for negroes both in Raleigh, 268 blind children. Principal John E. Ray makes the striking statement that from 55 to 90 of these children are doomed to a life of darkness and a handicap in the race for bread-winning all their lives and yet that those 55 to 90 need never have been blind and would not have been if proper preventive remedies had been used within 24 hours after their birth. In other words, if directly after birth their eyes had been thoroughly washed and one drop of a solution of nitrate of silver, of no greater strength than one per cent., had been put in each eye not later than 24 hours after birth. This is the way to head off blindness. Mr. Ray says that there are in North Carolina at least 128 blind children who have never been enrolled in the state school at all, at least one-fourth of these are unnecessarily blind. Mr. Ray urges that every physician and midwife in the state have a supply of this preparation and attend to its proper administration in every case. Mr. Ray gives another side of this situation, saying that it costs the state at least $200 a year to properly teach a blind child, and not less than $20 to clothe one; so that for the 128 children here who are unnecessarily blind the total is $19,568. What a saving to the state the course Mr. Ray indicates would be. Mr. Ray goes on to speak of the conclusions reached by the greatest expert as to hereditary blindness, saying that persons born blind ought never to marry and that persons should not marry into any branch of any family in which there is congenital blindness, however remote, since there is more liability to blindness arising from marrying the cousins, uncles or aunts of consanguinity blind persons than from marrying a blind person's daughter.

It is the purpose to make the next session of the North Carolina Teachers' assembly the largest and best ever held. Two of the members of the executive committee of last year hold over this year, those being Miss Edith Ruster, who is the assistant county superintendent of Wake, and Supt. J. F. Webb of Granville. As yet it is not decided whether the next meeting shall be held in the mountains or on the coast.

A street employe named Jones, who forged the name of a fellow-employe which was exactly the same, and got the money on a money order here, has been convicted, but if money

For Constipation

A Medicine that Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Gives Satisfactory Relief.

If you suffer from constipation in any form whatever, acute or chronic, we will guarantee to supply you medicine that we honestly believe will effect permanent relief if taken with regularity and according to directions for a reasonable length of time. Should the medicine fail to benefit you to your entire satisfaction we promise that it shall cost you nothing. No other remedy can be compared with Rexall Oederles for the easy, pleasant and successful treatment of constipation. The active medicinal ingredient of this remedy, which is odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other valuable ingredients, it forms a preparation which is incomparable as a perfect bowel regulator. Intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Oederles are eaten like candy, and are notable for their gentle and agreeable action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience, and may be taken at any time, day or night.

We particularly recommend Rexall Oederles for children and for delicate or aged persons, because they do not contain anything injurious. They create a habit, but instead they overcome the habits acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics, and harsh physic, and remove the causes of constipation or irregular bowel action that are not of surgical variety.

We want you to try Rexall Oederles at our risk. We know of nothing that will do you so much good. They are prepared in tablet form in two sizes, 26 tablets 25 cents, and 12 tablets 10 cents. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Asheville only at our store.—The Rexall Store—Smith's Drug Store, Pack Square, opp. Public Library.

is furnished to pay his expenses to his home in the west he will be dismissed; otherwise he will be sent for a year to the penitentiary at Atlanta. He admitted the commission of the offense and is very penitent.

Court Vacancies.

There is more or less talk already about the two vacancies on the Supreme court bench which occur next year. A chief justice is to be elected, but there does not seem to be any opposition to Judge Walter Clark. It is said that for the nomination for associate justice, made necessary by the resignation of Judge Connor, there will be a very interesting contest between the present incumbent, Judge Manning, and Judge William R. Allen of the Superior court. Judge Allen's friends are quite active, and it is said that Judge Manning, who was appointed by Gov. Kitchin, will very naturally seek a renomination and that of course he will have great influence in the way of support.

State Geologist Pratt announces that it has been definitely decided to hold the North Carolina Good Roads conference at Raleigh January 27, beginning at 11 o'clock, in the rooms of the chamber of commerce.

Invitations have been received by all the officials here to attend the exercises at the opening of the new industrial building at the Stone and Jackson Manual and Training Industrial school near Greensboro. State Auditor Dixon, a delightful and popular speaker, will deliver the address. This school is doing a splendid work.

The last legislature took from the North Carolina hospital commission $35,000 of the money appropriated by the legislature of 1907—$500,000—using $31,000 of this to pay deficits of the central hospital at Raleigh, and the western hospital at Morganton, made during preceding years; the other $5000 having been taken for use in enlarging the quarters for the criminal insane in the penitentiary at Raleigh. Chairman Charles A. Webb of the state hospital commission says that if this $35,000 had not been so taken from the commission it would have had ample funds to make provisions for the needs of the eastern hospital, for negroes, at Goldsboro. The commission will hold a meeting here this month.

Mr. Webb Gives Information.

At the request of your correspondent Chairman Webb gives some interesting information regarding the idiotic boy, whose parents live near the Southern railway, in McDowell county, very near the Buncombe line. Mr. Webb says he has tried his best to get this boy into the western hospital for the insane ever since he heard about the case. He went to the place and investigated the case, and the hospital authorities agreed to admit the boy. The name of the father of the boy is Andrew Bartlett and he lives in a cabin about four miles west of Old Fort. The boy is about 18 years old and since he has grown to be so large his mother cannot control him while the father is absent. The boy has a very high temper and frequently attempts to fight his mother and younger brothers and sisters, and so whenever the father has to go

Go to Work

It is more fashionable in this country to get a living by working for it than by marrying for it. Easier, too. But let's be exact about this. You not only want work,—you want pay for your work,—and every cent of pay that your work is worth. No need to feel bashful about that. Fact is, John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie felt just the way you feel about it. That's why they're rich. But sometimes your skill and work are worth more to one employer than they are to another. The best way for you to find the man to whom you will be most valuable is to put a little classified Munnimak ad in Gazette-News. Don't go hunting for him on foot. It doesn't pay. And you haven't time. Gazette-News ads are quicker than feet. At their present price they're cheaper than shoe leather,—unless you get your shoes for nothing. Put a little classified ad in the Gazette-News if you want to go to work and if you want to get what your work is worth.

Dear Mr. Munnimak,
Care The Gazette-News Classified Column.
Through a little Munnimak Classified Ad in The Gazette-News, I found a job for a horse that was idle.
Yours truly, J. W. D.

ON THE FLAT SHELL.

Oysters Opened That Way With a Purpose, the Waiter Said.

The waiter had taken a long time in getting the oysters, but as he was well known to his guests and his guests to him that occasioned no comment when the oysters were brought, the waiter set them down before his customer and asked: "Do you like them better that way?" The diner looked, but he didn't notice any difference, so he asked, "What way?"

"Why, on the flat shell," replied the waiter. "Don't you see they aren't on the curved part of the shell, as usual?" "I see it now that you tell me about it," said the diner, "but I don't expect you get the significance."

"Well, you see," said the waiter, "they always keep them upstairs on the round shell, and when any one calls for oysters if they do come on the round shell it isn't a certainty that they have been opened fresh. Some times they aren't good, just because they have been standing. When I call for them on the flat shell, as I do for some of my customers, then they have to open them specially for that order. Is that way you get them fresh?"

"Ah, I see," remarked the diner. But when he told the professional cynic about it the cynic said something about betting that they kept them standing opened in both ways.

"Besides, any one knows they look fatter on the flat shell, which is all the more reason they'd be likely to serve them to some folks that way. If they asked for extra large oysters they'd get them on the flat shell. The same oysters on the curved shell would go as ordinary sized oysters," remarked the cynic gloomily.—New York Sun.

The Humble Librettist.

In the history of opera there are many curious anomalies, but perhaps the strangest is the role played by the librettist. For the most part obscure and unimportant and generally unremembered, his ranks have nevertheless been recruited from the ablest and most brilliant men of letters. Among those who have undertaken the part are, such unlikely names as Voltaire, Goethe, Winans, Addison and Fielding, while others of considerable poetic talent, as, for example, Metastasio, Calzabini, Rincocini, Bullo and Coppée, have tried their hand at libretto writing with assurance, giving to it their best efforts. And yet the successful librettists are few—the merest handful out of a harvest of three centuries.—Forum.

How Sunshine Beats Down.

It is a common thing on hot days to hear people say that "the sun beats down." But few suspect that the rays of light actually do beat down upon the surface they strike. Light is a wave motion in the ether, and waves, whether of sound or water, press on bodies in their way. Clerk Maxwell calculated the pressure of light, and experiments of Herr Lebedew have shown that he was right. The pressure is very slight, but it may be supposed, but it really exists.
