CARPET BAG BONDS RUN TO MILLIONS

Books Show $11,407,000 Issued, But Some Say There Were Sixteen Million.

The Gazette-News Bureau, Chamber of Commerce Rooms, Holleman Building, Raleigh, Jan. 20.

Now that there is so much talk about the schemes of the syndicate of New Yorkers which represents, or claims to represent, holders of the North Carolina special tax bonds issued during the reconstruction period, it may be interesting to ask who knows how many of these bonds there were. The carpet baggers who issued them may have printed a lot more than were named or put on the books. The books, for example, show that these carpetbag bonds totaled $11,407,000, yet some persons claim that really there were 15 millions of them.

The bonds on which South Dakota sued some years ago were not in this class, but were issued before the carpetbag period. They were sealed to 25 cents on the dollar by the state, just as under the law debts of private individuals had been sealed. Two years before the suit was brought the New York man, Schaffer, who had the western North Carolina bonds not exchanged, offered to take $500 apiece for them. Then he gave South Dakota 10 of the bonds, and that state got for each of these face value and interest from 1879. Schaffer got for his bonds $892 each. It is said that he was afraid to give away any more of them to states, for the bringing of suits because he feared North Carolina would return the bonds which course the state would certainly have taken. All of these western North Carolina bonds of which there is any record on the books have been paid off and destroyed.

DEFECTIVE RAIL CAUSE OF WRECK

So Commission Finds, After Full Investigation of the Ready Fork Horror.

The Gazette-News Bureau, Chamber of Commerce Rooms, Holleman Building, Raleigh, Jan. 20.

The corporation commission has given a great deal of care to the investigation of the fatal accident on the Southern Railway near Brown Summit. The rail, which had been down one year and which weighed 85 pounds to the yard, and which was laid by a Tennessee rolling mill, was defective from end to end, the welding being imperfect and extending perpendicularly, although from the outside there was no sign of this. Practically all the rail was shown here before the commission. There is naturally an interesting question as to the liability of such mills for defective rails, and the further question of what recourse a railway would have upon a mill in such a case. Such accidents as this one carry a fearful cost to railways; not only for property destroyed, but in the way of damages which have to be paid for loss of life and injuries to passengers. Thus one accident in the state cost a railway something like half a million dollars.

The commission's finding is in part as follows: "The commission is of the opinion that a latent defect known as 'planing' in the rail, was the cause of the wreck. This defect was in the planing of the rail, and could not have been discovered by the railroad company. The commission is of the opinion that the rail broke first at the point 19 1/2 inches from the point, and immediately over a small weather-beaten but sound oak tie. From an inspection of this tie, and the pieces of broken rail but are of the opinion that the defect in the rail was the cause of which the wreck is attributed."

ELKS LODGE FAVORS LARGER GOLF COURSE

At an Interesting Meeting Last Night a Formal Resolution on Subject Was Adopted.

At last night's meeting of the Elks lodge favorable expression was given to the proposed establishment of an 18-hole golf course here and a formal resolution adopted putting the Elks on record as in favor of the extension of the golf facilities. The members of the Elks lodge, numbering many of the most progressive and substantial business and professional men of the city, are, like other interests, keenly alive to the need of better golf facilities and the movement undertaken for an 18-hole course will bear fruit it is believed. Other resort towns and cities of the south have long since recognized the fact that golf is the chief attraction to many tourists from the north and have provided this source of amusement for their guests. Asheville has now come to realize that better golf facilities is imperative and it is hoped that the ways and means to this end may be found. The resolution endorsing the golf proposition adopted by the Elks follows: "Be it resolved that the Elks' club of Asheville regards with favor the present movement looking toward the extension of Asheville's golf facilities."

The Asheville lodge of Elks is in a more flourishing condition now than ever before and the members are more enthusiastic. Five applications for membership were received last night.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT HAS BUSY EVENING

Home of W. S. Weddle, 15 John Street, Destroyed, but Neighbors Save the Furniture.

Fire last night about 8:30 o'clock razed the residence at No. 15 John street and occupied by Engineer W. S. Weddle and family. The alarm given by the fire bell from the depot by those discovering the fire but by reason of the fact that the flames had gained great headway when discovered and the long run from fire headquarters to the scene the firemen were unable to save the structure and realizing this upon arrival gave their best efforts, conscientiously saving nearby buildings. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective flue. Mr. Weddle's family was out of the city at the time and he had visited the home in the evening and lighted a fire and later went out. Neighbors were able to save some of the furniture belonging to Mr. Weddle. One person while engaged in an effort to save household goods suffered severe bruises on the hands by picking up a piece of hot china ware. A second alarm of fire was turned in a few minutes after the department was called to the depot on account of a blaze in a negro house on North Lexington avenue and for a time during the evening the department's entire complement was in commission.

ALL-MEMBERS' MEETING OF MERCHANTS TONIGHT

At This Meeting, First of Year, Matters of Importance Will Be Considered.

The all-members' meeting of the Asheville Retail Merchants' association, the first all-members gathering of the new year, will be held this evening in the association headquarters in the Electrical building and all members are urged to be present. Matters of importance, says the president and secretary of the association in calling attention to the meeting, will come up for discussion and "we feel that every member can offer material assistance in solving the different problems that come before us."

The association has a committee appointed to take up with a similar committee from the board of trade the matter of continuing permanent street lighting and this can be easily accomplished, say the officers of the association, if it receives the hearty co-operation of the Retail Merchants' association and the board of trade.

Another interesting matter that the Merchants' association has in hand in which the board of trade is co-operating are train schedules and the addition of new trains for Asheville and this vicinity. In this connection the officers of the Retail Merchants' association and the board of trade believe that a good shopping train on the Murphy division coming into Asheville in the morning and returning in the afternoon would prove of great benefit and the transportation committee of the Merchants' association is working actively to this end with the hope that it will be able to get results.

President Hoffman and Secretary Lee in calling attention to the meeting this evening say: "Another year has past and gone and we are now entering upon the work of the year 1910. We trust that this will be the greatest year in the history of our association. It is up to the members to make it so."

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They do the work whenever you require their aid. These tablets change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, gloominess into joyousness. Their action is so gentle one doesn't realize they have taken a purgative.

ifying to his many admirers all through the south. He will be seen at the Grand in this famous romantic comedy tonight. Mr. Dexter's role in this play is that of a young American sculptor, whose career in London is threatened by the enforced adoption of a little orphan girl, the child of a late friend, and the heart interest is represented in his fatherly and motherly protection of his charge, and her development from babyhood to girlhood and to splendid womanhood. These two characters are surrounded by many interesting and some laughable personalities who serve to thicken the plot and increase the interest of the narrative. Clippings from newspaper criticisms in other cities credit Mr. Dexter with having scored a pronounced hit in this part and praise his management for a thoroughly capable cast and elaborate production.

The advance sale at the Mountain City Stationery store is unusually large which is the best proof that Mr. Dexter still retains his popularity among his many friends and admirers and admirers in this city.
