Roman-Bigby.
 A wedding beautiful and impressive in simplicity will take place tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock on West Chestnut street when Miss Sarah Rhett Roman will be united in marriage to Fred Childs Bigby of Columbia. The house will be decorated with flowers appropriate to the occasion, with the color scheme of pink and white prevailing. Miss Roman, dressed simply in a white lingerie gown, will carry bride's roses and will be unattended. Her brother, Rhett Roman, who arrives this afternoon from Virginia, will give the bride away. The Episcopal service will be used, Rev. Saumenig performing the ceremony, with only the families of bride and groom present.
 Immediately after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Bigby leave for Columbia where they will make their future home.

Baraca and Philanthropist Straw Ride.
 The Junior Philanthropist and the Junior Baraca of the Ora Street Presbyterian Sunday school enjoyed a very pleasant evening yesterday, on a straw ride out to Weaverville. The party was chaperoned by J. C. Blackwood, and Rev. E. Lyander Grau, the pastor. Among those in the crowd were Misses Mamie Swain, Thelma Michael, Emily Blackwood, Grace Schuler, Daisy Winslow, Freda Isaac, Montez Willis, Dora Willis, Rita May, Flossie Hunt, Jessie Potts, Ohla Misenheimer, Susie Misenheimer, Cordie Bailey, Christine Blair and Estelle Blair; Gray Hunter, Oscar Steele, Henry Blair, Leslie McNamara, Frank Willis, Bascombe James, Clifford Misenheimer, Will McLean, Will Keener, Willie Blair and Rudolph Monk.
 When the crowd were nearly to Weaverville they got out of the wagon and were served with a delightful lunch, which had been prepared by the girls.

Donald-Jarman.
 Tomorrow will occur the marriage of a popular Mobile girl who has frequently spent the summer in Asheville. Miss Dorothy Donald, whose engagement to Lieutenant Sanderford Jarman of the United States coast artillery was recently announced. Miss Donald is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gordon Donald and is an especial favorite in Mobile. The ceremony will be performed at Christ church.

The Ben Greet company will give an out of door performance for the benefit of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, on May 9 in Asheville. A committee will select a place with suitable setting for the Shakespearean play, the name of which will be announced later. As it is a popular company, playing for a popular cause, a great deal of interest is being manifested in this performance.

The Asheville chapter of the American Woman's league held an interesting meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. E. E. Heston on French Broad avenue. Many matters of interest were discussed by the members and it was decided to include The Gazette-News among the publications of class A.

THE SUPERIORITY OF GAS AS FUEL

Pleasantly Demonstrated by Mrs. Armstrong, While She Prepares Dainty Dishes.

In the presence of more than half a hundred ladies of the town, with one or two colored cooks in attendance, Mrs. Helen Armstrong, expert cook and demonstrator of national reputation, entertainingly and in graceful manner prepared and served a number of dainty and substantial dishes and evidenced the superiority of gas as a fuel over either wood or coal yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A.

The lecture was the first in the cooking demonstration series which Mrs. Armstrong is conducting this week under the auspices of the gas department of the Asheville Electric company, and notwithstanding the inclement weather the attendance indicated the interest that Asheville housewives are taking in cooking and the popularity of gas as a fuel.

It was evident from the outset of the lecture that Mrs. Armstrong is in full possession of the fine points in cooking; she worked rapidly in mixing the ingredients for the several dishes on the menu and at the same time talked interestingly and in entertaining manner about her work; answering questions that were asked and inviting her audience to ask any other questions that might suggest themselves as to the art of cooking and the use of gas. She does not effect the stiffness of a lecturer but carries on a running, good-humored, cheerful conversation with definite aims and like a magician puts together some flour, a pinch of butter, an egg or two; milk, sugar and numerous other things; all the time explaining and answering questions. She then slips the concoction into the oven, explaining just how long the gas should be lighted before the oven is ready; how it is a waste of fuel to run the blaze too long before the dish in preparation is ready, and likewise a waste of gas to run the blaze after the dish is cooked. Shortly she has another dish prepared and in the oven or over the blaze, and then another and another. Presently the dishes are all ready for serving; the gas is turned out; there is no soot; no flushed face from leaning over a coal-heated stove; the atmosphere is cool and above all the cost necessary to prepare the meal is the minimum. The dishes prepared yesterday afternoon and served were delicious. There was a peach pudding that made one yearn for more; there were meat turn-overs and tomato sauce; popovers that were delicious, and raisin buns. It was an interesting demonstration and the ladies of Asheville who fail to take advantage of Mrs. Armstrong's presence here this week will miss a treat and miss gaining much valuable information. The housewives' cooks are also invited to attend the lectures.

Tomorrow afternoon an oven dinner will be prepared and served consisting of roast beef, smothered potatoes, sweet pickles, spring salad, apricot roll.

MOST BRILLIANT WEDDING OF THE YEAR IN NEW YORK

ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH, MADISON AVE. & 44th ST.

New York, April 19.—The most brilliant wedding of the year took place this afternoon at St. Bartholomew's Protestant Episcopal church in Madison avenue, when Miss Marjorie Gould, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, was married to Anthony J. Drexel, Jr. in the presence of a distinguished company, which included eminent representatives of society in London, New York, Philadelphia and other cities. Following the ceremony at the church, for which several thousand invitations were issued, there was a reception at the Gould family residence in Fifth avenue.

St. Bartholomew's, which lends itself to a beautiful floral decoration, was profusely adorned with white azaleas, bride roses, and white lilacs. The bride's attendants were Miss Drexel, a sister of the bridegroom; Miss Vivian Gould, a sister of the bride; Miss Hope Hamilton, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, and a cousin of the bride; Miss Dorothy Randolph, a daughter of Philip S. Randolph of Philadelphia; Miss with masses of delicate ferns and the choicest tropical greens matted about the pulpit platform and rising almost to the arched ceilings.

The ushers who seated the company were William Rhinelander Stewart, a cousin of the bridegroom; John Fell, a son of Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer by a former marriage; Craig Bidler, another cousin of the bridegroom; Kingston and Jay Gould, brothers of the bride; Newell Griffith of London, Julian W. Noyes of New York, and Viscount Maidstone, who is soon to marry Miss Margaretta Drexel, sister of the bridegroom.
