FASHION'S FADS AND FANCIES

Correspondence of The Gazette-News

New York, May 3.—Notwithstanding many predictions to the contrary blouses will be born as usual during the coming summer. The plainness is particularly noticeable this year. A few tucks and a frill are the sole trimmings in many cases, or these in a simple banding of embroidery introduced down the front. Bat, material, in the case of the best waists, are beautifully fine, and some of these exquisitely fine blouses with dainty ruffled trimmings and a pleated frill along one side of the front and quite as attractive and in much better taste than the honeycombed lace and lawn models of a few seasons ago. A marquisine blouse for wear with tailored suits was made in this fashion, the material being fine French batiste. Half-inch tucks were run across the front from shoulder to bust, continuing all the way down the front as the center was reached. The blouse fastened toward the left, and the edge was finished with a shaped frill of the lawn some four inches wide at the top and tapering to a point at the bottom. Down the center front of the blouse went a row of fine Hamburg embroidery. The sleeves of this waist, in bishop style, were gathered into cuffs of tuckings and the upper sleeve was made smaller by rows of tucks running from the top down to about the elbow.

It's The Sure Dandruff Cure

Men and women, be sensible, what's the use of wasting time and money trying to drive dandruff and dandruff germs from the scalp when Smith's Drug Store guarantees Parisian Sage to completely rid your scalp of dandruff in two weeks or money back.

Mrs. F. J. Moreau, 9 Oak street, Concord, N. H., wrote Nov. 1, 1909, "Parisian Sage has done wonders in my case as a dandruff cure, for my scalp was in a bad condition. "Hair doesn't fall out as had, the new is making its appearance fast. Am still continuing its use."

In over a thousand towns in America news of the marvelous cures of Parisian Sage are spreading. It is undoubtedly the greatest hair grower in the world.

It will stop itching scalp and falling hair in two weeks, or money back.

It refreshes the scalp, gives it a delightful, comforting feeling, and is not sticky or greasy.

It puts the radiance of sunshine into woman's hair, and women who use it regularly are sure to compel admiration. It makes women's hair grow profusely; yet silky and lovely.

A large generous bottle only costs 50 cents at drug stores everywhere and at Smith's Drug Store. Get with the Auburn hair on every bottle.

the new summer shirt waists and some of them are very pretty. A white batiste waist, tucked across the front, has a pleated frill bordered with blue and white dotted lawn, and the dotted lawn also finishes cuffs and collar. This blouse would be very dainty with a blue serge suit. A pink and white cotton voile blouse in tiny stripes had a plain pink lawn frill set under the striped one of voile, and pipings of the plain pink were used on cuffs and collar. This model was also shown in green and white and was much admired.

Lingerie blouses, like the tailored styles, show more fineness of material and less elaboration of trimming than formerly. Very dainty models of sheer batiste, tucked all the way across front and back and with three-quarter sleeves finished with tucked cuffs may be purchased for very little and by adding a few yards of good lace may be transformed into handsome blouses that could not be purchased for twice the price.

Many women, undoubtedly, will be pleased to hear that Dutch necks are still in vogue and promise to remain thus during the hot and summer season. Nothing so cool and comfortable for hot summer days was ever devised, and one pities the poor masculine folk who may not doff their horrible linen collars and go about with their throat bared to cooling breezes. The woman who cannot stand the severe test of a round Dutch neck may have her high boned stock if she will, or she may wear one of the comely little French frills which encircle the throat, being flat like a collar and finished with a pert, becoming bow of dark velvet under the chin.

Women have not put aside black with the coming of spring days and springtime colorings and a surprising number of black street costumes are to be noted wherever fashionable folk congregate. Many of these costumes are in soft satiny black silk and chiffon, silk and etamine, silk and cashmere or serge, or all silk, and they usually take the form of trailing frock and coat, the coat being entirely of the silk, while the frock is largely of the other material trimmed with the silk. Often the frock skirt is of silk up to where it meets the coat.

Some exceedingly good looking, tailored models are in a black raw silk, which probably bears the name of some kind of pongee, and add, enough several of the smartest models of this type seen recently have been trimmed in a black silk of high luster or satin. One model from France which was particularly trig and knowing looking was of the black raw silk with pipings of black satin and had a curious Eton or bolero jacket arrangement with a collar of Japanese blue embroidery.

Less soutache embroidery is seen than last season, yet it appears effectively on many of the most successful models. Tavernier has a frock which has been copied frequently and with various modifications. In one version it is of white crepe, a simple bodice and skirt, the latter trimmed in a deep bounce of Valenciennes lace

Back From Western Tour

MR. WILCOX, PRESIDENT TAFT, SECRETARY KNOX, MR. ANSLEY WILCOX. THIS IS THE HOUSE IN WHICH THEODORE ROOSEVELT TOOK THE OATH OF OFFICE.

Washington, May 5.—President Taft arrived in Washington from his western tour at 8:30 this morning. He remained in his car until 7:30, and then was driven to the White House.

Inset with Venetian motifs. This blouse is weighted down by a wide border of "antique" printed soutache. The soutache not only outlines the design but is massed in scroll designs here and there over the surface. Reverse of the soutached portion are on the bodice, which is largely of the lace, and bands of the trimming in shawl sleeves of crepe.

The pelerine of the period of 1820, but in modernized form, has arrived. It is a simple cloth or silk vest, worn with a separate skirt and its blouse to match. At any rate, there is a wonderful possibility in the garment, for the changes are legion, the effect always charming. When viewed from the front the pelerine has the effect of a crossed fichu. This is quite attainable when the soft silk is used. The narrow ends encircle the waist and tie in a butterfly bow at the back. Or, if the material be perishable, the bow can be permanent and the fastening secured by a hook. At the back this little wrap is cap-like, dropping in folds over the shoulders. The top edge is kept in shape by the narrow collar; the lower part is finished with a ruffle of the same material of chiffon, that exactly matches the shade of the wrap, or by long silk fringe that is again invading fashion's realm.

The sailor dress and the middy blouse have reached a state of perfection, so far as pattern and workmanship go, that makes them more than ever desirable for little boys and girls as well as for older girls, and even for their youthful mothers who need the outing garment for camping or seashore wear. It is not now possible to escape the becoming line in the middy garment, since they have been planned in many ways to suit various figures and faces. Collars are elongated as to the front point, or they are short and broad in effect; they are even square. Some of them are of moderate size, while other extend down, covering the shoulders and nearly half of the back.

Many of the turbans displayed in the fashionable millinery shops are quite simple, resting far down on the head, and of such a convenient roundness that the trimming may be shifted from back to either side at the pleasure of the owner. A softening touch of plaited chiffon, net or lace is used on the under surface of the straw brim. This is just the relief that many women require, for the straight line of straw across the forehead is trying in its demand for good features.

Roses and more ribbon are used on many of the turbans. The colors may be the palest shades of buff, pink or olive and look extremely well when trimming the favorite leg-horns. Tulle, net and gauze are being seized with delight, for the transparency produces an iridescent effect and the fineness of the material insures a comfortable lightness of weight.

(Superior to Buckwheat.)

And Infinitely More Digestible.

To one cup of WHEAT HEARTS add one cup of flour, one teaspoon of salt, two teaspoons of baking powder, one tablespoonful of brown sugar, one well beaten egg, and sufficient sweet milk to make a thin batter. Bake on hot, well greased griddle, and serve with syrup.

THE TOXAWAY COMPANY AFFAIRS COMPLICATED

It Will Take Months to Get Ready for a Sale Under Order of Court.

A. H. Burroughs, who, under an order of Judge Pritchard was appointed receiver of the Toxaway company, was in the city this morning on his way to Lake Toxaway to take charge of the property. The receivership was instituted upon complaint of R. B. Arrington, a representative of the Dukes, who hold the majority of the $272,000 outstanding bonds.

It is the intention of the receiver to issue $10,000 in receivership certificates, as provided in the order appointing a receiver, and pay off the taxes, insurance premiums, etc., on the hotels. These certificates become a lien on the property.

This promises to be a very complicated suit and it will take some months time to get the titles of the property in shape so it can be sold under order of the court. When the sale is ordered, it is expected that the property will be bought in by the Dukes, who want it for water power development.

It now seems probable that since the property is in the hands of the court, some arrangement will be made for leasing the resort hotels to some hotel man this summer. It will be some time before this can be arranged.
