"SOFT DRINK" TAX MAY BE RAISED

Judge Pritchard Addresses Aldermen as Spokesman for W. C. T. U. and Others.

NEAR-BEER PRIVILEGE TAX REFERRED TO AS "LICENSE"

"I Would Require a Court Mandamus to Compel Me to Issue One"

Judge Pritchard Says.

Judge J. C. Pritchard of the United States Circuit court, addressing the board of aldermen last night as the spokesman for a delegation of wives and gentlemen interested in the most rigid enforcement of the prohibition law, declared that if he were a member of the board it would require a court mandamus to make him issue a license for a soft-drink or near-beer establishment. This coming remark of the jurist after he had spoken to the subject for more than an hour brought a reply from Mayor Hardin that board of aldermen did not issue licenses for soft-drink or near-beer establishments; that the board of aldermen a year ago being advised by its corporation counsel that it could not refuse under the laws of North Carolina to allow the sale of near-beer had fixed a privilege tax. Mayor Campbell also stated that upon this, the board learned it could not refuse persons desiring to sell near-beer, that if the privilege tax had not been levied the near-beer dealers could have gone on and sold near-beer and the city would have had no revenue. He said that apparently many people had confused the issuance of a license with the fixing of a privilege tax; that the board of aldermen did not issue licenses for soft-drink places.

A Large Delegation.

The matter of refusing to issue licenses or increasing the privilege tax came up when a large delegation of wives and gentlemen made their appearance before the board. Among the gentlemen present interested in the subject were Judge Pritchard, Rev. Mr. R. E. Campbell, Rev. E. T. Coxner, Rev. Dr. W. M. Vines, Mr. Holt and others. Judge Pritchard appeared as the spokesman for the delegation. He addressed the board at length and near the close of his address when reference was made to a refusal of "license" or a "higher license." Alderman Fitzpatrick interrupted to state that the special tax committee had not and had agreed to make the privilege tax—not a license—strong, that this recommendation would be made to the board of aldermen next Friday and that he believed the recommendation would be adopted. In the event that this recommendation of the committee is adopted by the board the privilege tax on the sale of near-beer and similar beverages will be increased from $250 to $1000.

What the W. C. T. U. Desires.

Judge Pritchard in the course of his talk said that he did not come with criticism for the board, that appearing for the ladies of the W. C. T. U. and others interested in the enforcement of the prohibition law he desired to ask the board that if in their discretion they could refuse to issue "license" to near-beer establishments to do so if not then adopt such regulations and fix such a tax as would make more rigid the enforcement of the law. The speaker referred to the fact that the people of Asheville more than two years ago said that liquor should not be sold here and that later the people of the State of North Carolina said that liquor should not be sold, not only in Asheville but any place in the state, and he wanted to know if the prohibition laws were going to be enforced. He spoke of Madison county and said that in that county a sheriff and deputies were enforcing the prohibition laws, while in Asheville we have a police force and we pay thousands of dollars for the enforcement of the law but we are bound to admit that liquor is being sold here under our very noses. Judge Pritchard declared that he was opposed to the sale of near-beer or any form of "intoxicant." He paid a high tribute to the good ladies who he represented and said they had worked long and earnestly for a destruction of the liquor traffic. The speaker said that he was not one of those who claimed that prohibition had been a failure in Asheville; that he knew prohibition had done great good, "but if every man," said he, "black and white, rich and poor, when convicted of selling liquor was sent to the chain gang, then the blind tiger will cease." Continuing, he said that what the prohibitionists wanted was for the authorities to give every means within their power for a rigid enforcement of the law. "It has not been strictly enforced," he charged. "Now just give us a year's fair trial; that is what we ask."

A General Discussion.

The board had no right to refuse to permit near-beer establishments to do business; that the board could not even under the law impose a prohibitive privilege tax. Judge Pritchard wanted to know if the soft-drink places could be inspected. Mayor Campbell said that Judge Pritchard had fallen into error in supposing that the board "licensed" the soft-drink places; that if the city did not levy a privilege tax the soft-drink places could do business anyway. Alderman Glenn said that the special tax committee had met Thursday and adopted a report which will be made next week recommending that a privilege tax of $1000 be levied. Alderman Hardin said he was a bit misled; that a year ago the board was advised that it could not refuse to issue a certificate allowing soft-drink places to do business and "now here comes one of the ablest men in the state and says that he believes the board could refuse." Judge Pritchard arose and said Mr. Hardin had misquoted him;

ORDINANCE DIRECTED AT ICE CREAM CARTS Aldermen Determined to Stop Vending of Inferior Stuff—Routine Matters. Among the important acts of the board of aldermen in regular weekly session last night, after the board had disposed of the near-beer question for the moment, was the passage on first reading of an ordinance looking to the elimination of "ice-cream" vendors. The matter came up on an ordinance presented by Alderman Glenn which, if finally passed, prohibits the sale of ice cream from carts or on the streets or in a public park. The ordinance which passed its first reading says: Section 1. No person or persons shall sell, trade, or vend any ice cream on any public streets, or in any public park of the city of Asheville.
