In places where curbs have been made, some of the curbs have proved inadequate for carrying off the water and a great deal of damage has been done by reason of the overflow, and the sliding of dirt. The rock crusher has been in place for some time, and a convenient ledge of stone has been uncovered on the farm of Dr. J. A. Reagan; a road has also been built to the crusher. As soon as the most important streets are put in shape the work of broadening and macadamizing the sidewalks will begin. GARMENT AND CLOAK MAKERS ON A STRIKE

Fifty Thousand Quit Work in New York—Demand Higher Wages and Shorter Hours.

New York, July 8.—New York enters today on the second day of the garment workers' strike, which late yesterday called off probably about 50,000 workers. Fifteen hundred shops are affected.

New York, July 8.—Fifty thousand garment and cloak makers, of whom 8,000 are women, walked out yesterday afternoon at the call of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, which demands an 8 hour day, an increase in wages and a guarantee that contractors shall stand behind sub-contractors for wage payments. The fight thus far is purely local, but officers of the union say that if the employers attempted to sublet their work in other cities, notably, Chicago, Philadelphia and Cleveland, the union would call a strike there also. The 1,200 factories here employ 100,000 hands, of which approximately half are organized. The strikers hope to draw many of the non-union workers out by sympathetic appeal.

"We have plenty of money, between $70,000 and $100,000," said Vice President Polakoff of the union, "and the members in other cities will help us. We have received a great many offers of settlement already and these will be considered by the settlement committee." On the other hand the executive committee of the cloak and suit manufacturers' association, which has 2,000 members in this and other cities, said that no decision had been reached by the committee but it is certain that no member of the association will meet the demand of the union.

Burke county had no candidate and the delegates from that county were divided among the aspirants. During the many ballots the several counties stood solid by their favorite son and a long-drawn out fight was at once apparent. During the balloting Burke county shifted her vote from one candidate to the other in an effort to break the deadlock, but it was not until about midnight and on the eighty-third ballot that the deadlock was broken and Mr. Johnson, receiving a majority of the votes, was declared the democratic nominee for solicitor.

MILLIONS OF ACRES OF COAL LANDS WITHDRAWN

President Has Signed Orders Withdrawing More Than 35,000,000 Acres.

Beverly, Mass., July 8.—Continuing his policy of practical conservation, late last night President Taft signed orders withdrawing 35,073,164 acres of coal lands from the public domain in the states of North and South Dakota, Washington, Utah, Colorado and Arizona.

Of the total withdrawal 26,698,469 acres are new, while 14,374,695 acres are covered in confirmations and ratifications under the new law, approved June 25, of withdrawals made during the past four years by both Presidents Roosevelt and Taft.

THE COLONEL IS FOR BEVERIDGE

Mr. Roosevelt Promises to Make Speech for the Insurgent Senator in Indiana.

Oyster Bay, July 8.—Theodore Roosevelt was hard at work today. He expected no political visitors, but as he still has thousands of letters unanswered, as well as editorial work, he kept very busy. Governor Hughes is expected to visit Sagamore Hill Tuesday.

Will Speak for Beveridge.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 8.—Albert J. Beveridge, United States senator from Indiana and one of the most prominent and consistent of the progressive republicans, came down from Sagamore Hill yesterday afternoon with a promise from Theodore Roosevelt to deliver a campaign speech in his fight for re-election to the senate. Mr. Beveridge departed content and smiling, but he left it for the colonel to make announcement of the proposed campaign speech in the senator's behalf, and this is what Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Mr. Foulk and Mr. Swift came to Sagamore Hill last night and spent the night here. They came to request me to go to Indiana and speak in favor of Senator Beveridge. I promised them that I would."

Will Make One Speech.

He added that he had agreed to make only one speech for the senator and so far as is now known he will make only one. The time and place for this speech have not been fixed.

Those who have followed the political conferences at Oyster Bay since Theodore Roosevelt's return, share the belief that he has cautiously been feeling his way in his attitude toward the administration and the insurgents but yesterday's incidents are considered the most important yet developed. Senator Beveridge is making his fight for re-election as an insurgent. He is opposed by John W. Kern, who ran with Bryan in the last campaign. In his fight the senator is placing himself squarely against President Taft in so far as the tariff law figures—the law which the president has approved as the best tariff measure ever passed, and denounced by the senator in the same republican state convention which endorsed Beveridge for another term, and virtually repudiated the law. In the senate Beveridge fought the bill to the last and then voted against it.

Where Beveridge Stood.

It is pointed out, however, that with this exception President Taft and the senator from Indiana have been pulling together so far as administration policies are concerned. There has been no break between them. The president entrusted to the senator the conduct of the last session of congress—the statehood bill and the Alaska government bill, and although the senator worked faithfully with the insurgent band in the senate and had a hand in the alteration of President Taft's railroad bill, he supported the administration regularly in the last session when the votes were taken.

They Talked Politics.

Sagamore Hill was fairly swarming all day with men of various political persuasions. They talked politics all day long but as they left town they were unanimously reticent. Oyster Bay is involved in an atmosphere of deep mystery.

There were three Indianians among the visitors. Besides Senator Beveridge they were William Dudley Foulk and Lucius B. Swift of Indianapolis. Three came from New Hampshire—Winston Churchill, the novelist, John Bass, war correspondent, and his brother, Robert R. Bass, who is a candidate for the republican nomination for governor. New York state was represented by Representative Hamilton Fish and James R. Sheffield.

Roosevelt Well Pleased.

From Montana there was United States Senator Thomas H. Carter. Colonel Roosevelt appeared to be well pleased with the result of the day's work of talking politics, which began almost as soon as he was up and lasted well through the afternoon. To interviewers, however, he would say little except that he had promised to make one speech for Mr. Beveridge. Thus those who sought to interpret the day as a general insurgent rally looking toward the shaming of Colonel Roosevelt's future attitude were left in the dark. And as an indication that this was not the case there was the presence of Senator Carter, a man who in the past steadily opposed insurgency.

"Did you come away pleased with the results of your talks?" Senator Beveridge was asked as he left Oyster Bay.

Beveridge Had Pleasant Visit.

"Well," he said, "I have had many talks with Mr. Roosevelt in the past few years, but never in my experience have I had one more satisfactory than today's. Further than this (Continued on page 4)
