 Thomas Dixon's
 "Sins of the Fathers."

To-day.
 Vogel's Big City Minstrels.
 Vogel's Big City Minstrels arrived in the city yesterday in their private Pullman cars and are giving a matinee to a very large and well pleased audience at the Auditorium this afternoon. They will give another performance to-night at 8:20 o'clock.

Did you hear the Dixie band as it filled the town with its merry, hurried music? Did you notice the men in the procession, wearing high hats, long light colored coats, buttoned with precision around figures which seemed animated with music, and wires, or something of the sort? Did you see the banners and the souaves carrying them? How the horns sounded, and how the tunes echoed through the streets.

Many a grizzled man saw the parade pass and turned from the window with a wish that for just one day he could be like the boy who followed the minstrel band, admiring in his excited mind the wonderful heroes in the long light coats, which are only fantastic departures from the minstrel show of the past.

Get your tickets for to-night's big show at the Mountain City Stationery store, prices $1.00, 75, 50 and 25.

Saturday, November 5, Thomas Dixon's "Sins of the Fathers."

In the upper part of New York city, near the Hispanic Museum and the Park where the naturalist Audubon made the first collection of American birds, is a roadway leading off into green fields. On a crest overlooking the Hudson river to the west and facing a tangle of wild woodland to the east, stands the home of Thomas Dixon. Here he wrote "The Sins of the Fathers," which will be produced at the Auditorium next Saturday, November 5.

It is characteristic of the Southern author's love of Nature that he chose so un-fitted a spot for his dwelling. Only three blocks away are the bee-hives of New York, the great apartment houses accommodating fifty to a hundred families to a building. The underground trains roar and rattle just out of hearing. To the midnight worker on the lone hilltop the only sounds are the night voices of owls and crickets or the occasional blast of tug and steamboat passing up or down the river.

Mr. Dixon gets home at 6 o'clock in the evening. After dinner he pilots his high-power limousine for a fifteen-mile spin along the Riverside drive. At 8 p. m. he is at his desk. Mrs. Harriet Bussey Dixon, a devoted helpmeet, is his amanuensis. There is no time limit to the labor of composition. When Mrs. Dixon becomes sleepy or fatigued, she retires to her room; but the playwright works on and on, forging into words the brain-images that demand expression until a goodly pile of manuscript has been heaped up and the graying dawn gives the signal for bed.

The author sleeps soundly until 10 o'clock, has breakfast, reads his mail, and then goes to his down town studio

Catarrh Sufferers

Good Things to Know.

If you now own a Hyomei hard rubber inhaler, Smith's Drug Store wants you to know that they will sell you a bottle of HYOMEI for only 50 cents.

Remember this, all who suffer with catarrh—a bottle of HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) is put up in a separate package and sold for 50 cents to accommodate the vast army of people who already own a Hyomei inhaler.

Smith's Drug Store will sell it to you at that price and give you the opportunity to begin at once to rid yourself of vile catarrh, and the snuffling, hawking and spitting that go with it.

Many people through years of neglect have let catarrh get a strong hold upon them. Some of these people unreasonably think that one bottle of HYOMEI ought to cure them.

No matter how chronic you are, Smith's Drug Store is guaranteed to cure you if you give it half a chance. Don't breathe in their will, and their heart is in the cure. Write for literature.

WEAVERVILLE EATING HOUSE CHANGES HANDS TOMORROW.

Mrs. Simmons of South Carolina will conduct it, mainly as a Road House for Automobiles.

The handsome little eating house near the station in Weaverville will be under new management tomorrow and a number of essential changes will be made both in equipment and manner of conducting it.

Mrs. Simmons, who will take charge tomorrow, is a South Carolina lady with an inborn gift of pleasing hospitality. She has had many years of experience in this line of work and is well qualified to bring this place into special favor. It will be conducted principally as a road house for the accommodation of automobilists and travelers of that class, and Mrs. Simmons feels that a house of this character will fill a long felt need at Weaverville.

Mr. Postel, who has had charge of the place since its establishment, has rented the North residence in the north of Weaverville and will continue to reside in the town.

UNUSUALLY BIG DOCKET FOR THE DISTRICT COURT

Greater Number of Arrests Made Than for Quite a While—Some of the Cases.

When Judge J. E. Boyd convenes the November term of United States District court here, November 19 he will find one of the largest criminal dockets that he has had here for years. The records show that a greater number of arrests have been made than in quite a while. Among the cases on the docket are several charges of illicit distilling, a perjury case, in connection with a civil service examination, a postoffice case, a charge of fraudulent use of the mails, a violation of the oleomargarine laws, and a charge of tampering with the mails in addition to what the grand jury may report.

It is hardly probable that the Gilbert-Hopkins suit will be tried at the term of court, but it may be set for a special term in January when a more time can be given it.

FOUNDER OF RED CROSS, HENRI DUNANT, IS DEAD

He Conceived the Idea After Witnessing Needless Suffering from Neglect on Field of Battle.

Geneva, Switzerland, Oct. 31.—Henri Dunant, founder of the International Red Cross society, died last night at Heiden, a health resort.

Henri Dunant was of Swiss birth. At the battle of Solferino, in 1859, he witnessed needless suffering and loss of life resulting from neglect of the wounded. He conceived the idea of pledging the nations to regard and protect as neutral all sick and wounded combatants and those aiding them. Through co-operation of the Swiss federal council he brought about an international conference at Geneva in October, 1864. This was followed by the Geneva convention of 1864, which adopted nine articles of agreement, for amelioration of the condition of wounded in armies in the field. These were signed by 13 governments and the number has since increased to 49.

PREMIER BRIAND GIVEN A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Quiet Follows Storm of Saturday—Deputies Vote Down Resolution to Impeach Briand.

Paris, Oct. 31.—Amid an impressive hush, which contrasted strangely with Saturday's unprecedented passion and tumult in the chamber of deputies, Premier Briand yesterday in cool and incisive phrase and accomplished oratory, taxed the Socialists for their violence in forbidding him the right of speech. The premier assured the chamber that he was no dictator, but a man of law and order and at the end of the session his frank appeal for the republican support resulted in a vote of confidence 329 to 182.

Since the days of the Boulanger and Dreyfus affairs, no such interest has been displayed in a session of the French parliament. Vast crowds besieged the doors at an early hour and unable to secure entry, assembled in the square, three streets and on the Pont de la Concorde and waited for hours in the rain to learn the outcome.

Carried away by his passion Saturday the premier, defending the attitude of the government in suppressing the railway strike, exclaimed: "Had the actual laws of the country not been sufficient I would not have hesitated to resort even to illegal measures for the purpose of preserving the fatherland."

Following M. Reynaud, who justified the premier's words by the axiom

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT ON TUBERCULOSIS MEDICINE

"Have used Eckman's Alternative in several cases of tubercular glands of the neck, with excellent results every time. In one case it cost me $50, for the girl was put on it only until she could arrange to be operated, and in a short time an operation was not needed, suppose your records are just as fine as of old. You know my faith in Eckman's Alternative is effective in other forms. Read what Mrs. Garvin says:—
 'Gentlemen: I have gained twenty-two pounds since last February and my baby is in perfect health. She is now four months old. I have been waiting since she was born to see how I would get along. I am now doing all my work, have been ever since she was four weeks old, and I am steadily gaining. I do not cough or raise anything at all. I believe my lung trouble cured.'

WHAT TWENTY DILLON LADS HAVE DONE

That 20 boys planted one acre each in Dillon county, South Carolina, have produced this year about 1700 bushels of corn, that each of them produced as much as 70 bushels on his acre and that the crop of one of them, Hovey Edwards, was 132 3/4 bushels, while that of Frank McDonald was 112 bushels, are statements of facts that ought to arouse the attention of people everywhere who are disturbed about the high cost of living and the inadequate supply of food-stuffs.

When one man in a generation succeeds in raising an extraordinary crop on a single acre, it is of no final significance, but when 20 lads, all under 18 years old, with their respective acres distributed throughout a county, produce an average crop of 80 or 85 bushels of corn to an acre, no doubt lingers that the region where these lads live is notably a corn region and that only the application of intelligent methods and industry are required to get great wealth out of the soil. Meantime, the success of the Dillon county boys is not exceptional in South Carolina; similar results are being obtained in a score of South Carolina counties and the proof of corn productivity is equally clear in other sections of South Carolina.

With cotton fetching more than 14 cents a pound and with hundreds of demonstrations of prodigious corn production, it is singular that the tide of immigration does not set in towards South Carolina in tremendous volume. If it be said that the lands of Dillon fetch $100 it is answered that in many counties land may be purchased at $10 an acre that is equally fertile by nature and that only require the skillful treatment that the lands of Dillon receive to produce crops of like size.

Meantime, what The State has already said about the boys' corn-club will bear repetition—the members of all the food that it consumes. The expert corn growers and a generation is coming to manhood that will enable the State to produce practically the bread that it consumes. The excellent showing that the 20 Dillon county boys have made is most important in the promise that it gives for the future.—Columbia State.
