

FULL BINS OF CORN AND OATS MAIN CAUSE OF CHEAPER MEAT

SECRETARY WILSON

Drought in Southwest, Shortage of Hay, Causing Farmers to Sell Stock, Also Has Something to Do With It.

TOO SOON AFTER ELECTION FOR POLITICS TO CAUSE IT

Present Sudden Drop in Price Too Pronounced to Be Caused Altogether by the Year's Great Crops of Corn and Oats.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Full bins of corn and oats have had much to do with the fall in meat prices, in Secretary of Agriculture Wilson's opinion. "The present break in meat prices," said Secretary Wilson, "is hardly a normal market development. While it is true that we should expect a downward trend of prices because of the great crop of corn and oats, the present sudden drop in meats is too pronounced to be an effect from the cause, altogether. I believe the drought in the southwest and the consequent short and high price of hay are responsible for this unusual movement for this season of farmers rushing to market with stock. They see that it pays to sell now rather than to feed through the winter. They probably are also influenced by probable lower prices. "It is too soon after the election to connect politics with the decline of prices. The country is full of corn and oats. That is the reason, fundamentally, for lowering prices."

BRAZIL INAUGURATES DA FONSECA PRESIDENT

Resume of the Acts of the Retiring Government Headed by President Nilo Pecanha.

Rio Janeiro, Nov. 16.—Apropos of the inauguration of Marshal Hermes da Fonseca as Brazilian president yesterday the newspapers published a resume of the acts of the retiring government, constituting a very good record. The figures given show that the present financial position of the country, which is good, is due to the retiring finance minister, Leopoldo Bulhões, who reduced all useless expenses, converted the Brazilian external debt from five to four per cent, resumed the amortization of external loans suspended since 1898 and redeemed a 4 1/2 per cent loan amounting to more than $10,000,000. The currency in circulation at the present rate of exchange amounts to more than $25,500,000. Imports and exports had a considerable increase. Gold imports this year amounted to more than $42,500,000 and exports to more than $220,500,000. During President Nilo Pecanha's term all frontier questions with neighboring countries were settled. Arbitration treaties were concluded with Ecuador, Costa Rica, Cuba, Great Britain, Bolivia, Nicaragua, China, Salvador, Peru, Sweden, Haiti, Colombia, Greece, Russia and Austria. During the present year 2000 kilometers of railway were opened and about 6000 contracted for. The Brazilian fleet was increased by two dreadnaughts, two scout cruisers and ten destroyers. A new 32,000 ton dreadnaught was contracted for.

INHERITED DISHONESTY PITTSBURG MAN'S PLEA

Arraigned in Savannah for Burglary and Forgery—Says He Knows Nothing About It.

Savannah, Nov. 16.—"Inherited dishonesty" was the plea by Leroy Roush of Pittsburgh when arraigned here to explain charges of burglary and forgery. "I remember nothing of the occurrence," he told the court. "I was drinking. My grandfather, when drinking, would commit crimes unwillingly. I inherited the tendency to be dishonest when drinking."

Waterway Convention Closes

Pensacola, Fla., Nov. 16.—Delegates and speakers attending the third annual convention of the Mississippi to Atlantic Waterway association were guests of citizens this morning on a trip about the harbor, across the bay to the life saving station, the navy yards and forts. The convention closed this afternoon.

THE CONFERENCE WORK UNDERWAY

Dr. Byrd and Others Received by Transfer—A New District to Be Recommended.

Special to The Gazette-News. Winston-Salem, N. C., Nov. 16.—The Western North Carolina conference met today, Bishop Hendrix presiding. W. L. Sherrill was re-elected secretary. Characters of superannuated and supernumerary preachers were passed. C. W. Byrd, R. E. Hunt and A. H. Whistner were received by transfer. Boards and committees were appointed. A new district will be recommended, known as North Wilkesboro. The Epworth league anniversary will be celebrated this evening.

The Twentieth Question. The 20th question, "Are all the preachers blameless in their life and official administration?" is the first question called during the conference, first with reference to the presiding elders, and then with reference to the preachers in the different districts, each presiding elder answering for the men in his district. No preacher can submit his report or be appointed to work for another year until this question has been answered in the affirmative.

During the year just closed only three members of the conference have died—Rev. J. M. Huggins, Rev. R. G. Barrett, and Rev. H. F. Chreitberg, D. D. A service in memory of these ministers will be held on Sunday afternoon.

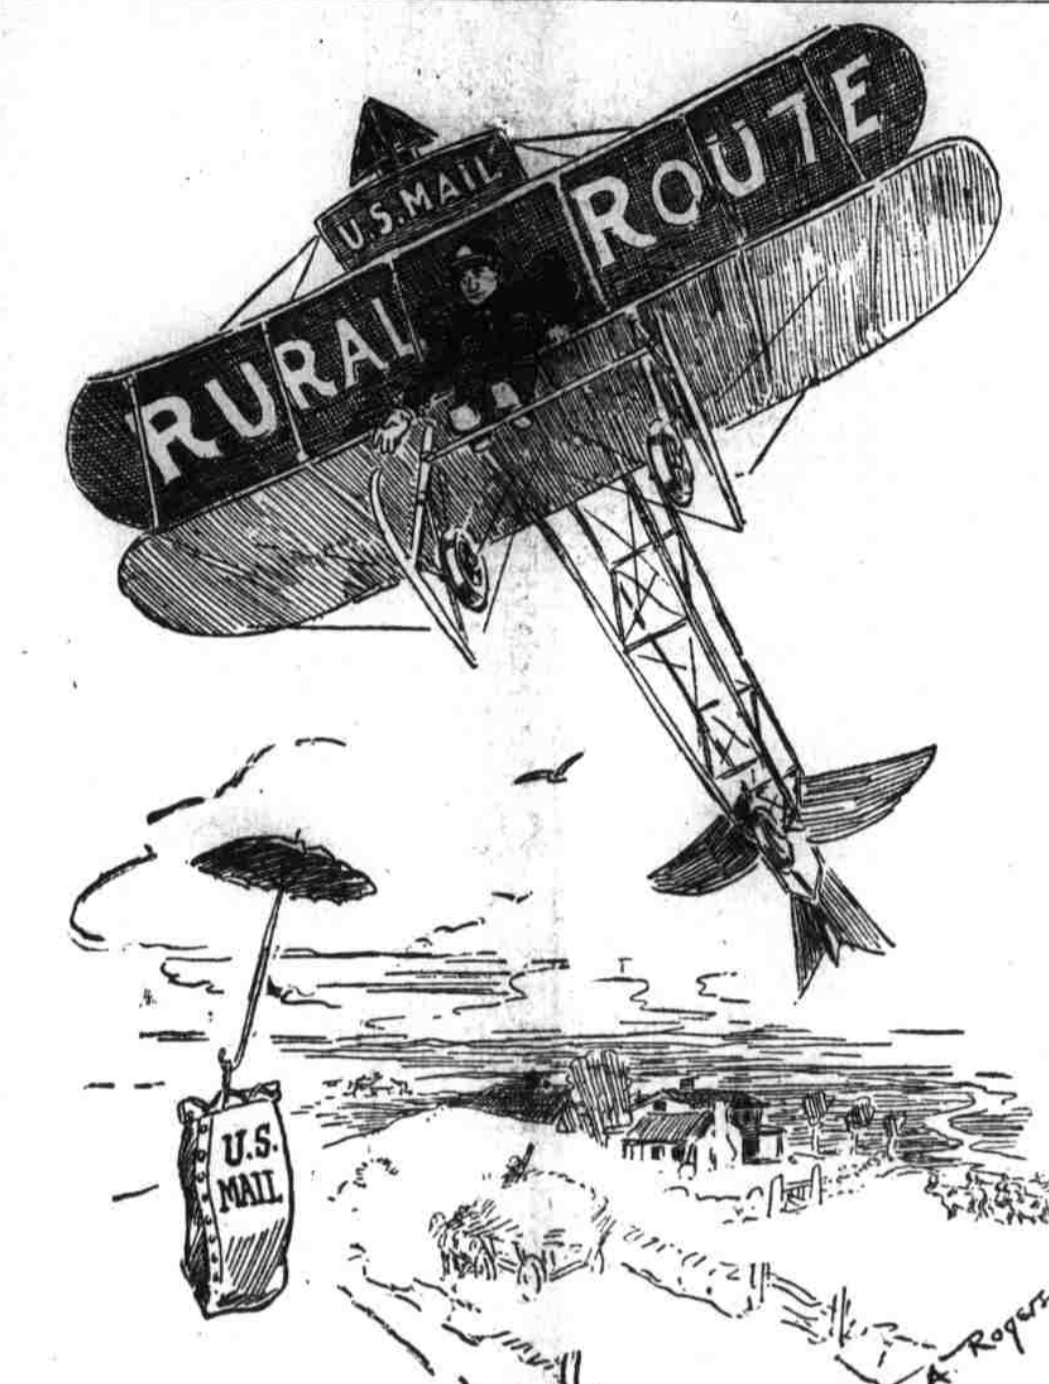

Throughout the conference session the minds of the members of the body and the members of the church which they represent are centered upon the appointments of the preachers for next year. The surmising, guessing and "kitchen cabinet" work begins long before a meeting of the bishop and his cabinet is held, and it not infrequently occurs that many of the guesses thus made are found to agree with the appointments as read at the closing session of the conference. The time has come when significance is placed even upon the location of the preacher, of the presiding elders, especially, during the conference session, and more than one careful reading is given to the conference directory for the purpose of ascertaining conference associates. The late Rev. Sam P. Jones remarked upon more than one occasion that while the appointments of the preachers for the smaller appointments were considered and made during the conference session, most of those for the larger churches were made six months in advance of the conference meeting. The four year "time limit" will compel only 14 of the preachers in this conference to be changed to other appointments at this session, but that does not mean that only 14 changes will occur. Judging from the before conference rumors as to the appointments for next year, a considerable "shaking up" is looked for at this time. It often happens that necessity for moving one pastor, is the occasion for the moving of a dozen more, in order to get the right man in the right place. No one of the eleven presiding elders has served his present district four years, but it does not follow there will be no changes in the cabinet this year.

Rumors of Transfers.

Much interest is felt concerning the rumor that several of the members this conference will be transferred to other conferences this year, and that several members will be received by transfer from other conferences into this. It is known that a good deal of transferring is taking place in the Methodist Episcopal church, South. While this is in perfect keeping with the policy of the church, it is a feature that is always watched with special interest. It is believed that the transfer system will touch more than one of the leading appointments in this conference this year. This is the third time the conference has been held in Winston-Salem; the first time it met here was in 1892, and Bishop Hendrix presided at that session also; the second in 1898, at which time Bishop O. P. Fitzgerald presided. Winston-Salem is known as a most delightful meeting place, and every session of the conference held here is anticipated with special interest and pleasure.

Bishop Hendrix.

Bishop Eugene R. Hendrix, the presiding officer of the conference, is a native of Missouri, and in that state he has spent most of his life. He was elected to the episcopacy at the general conference of 1899, and is recognized as one of the ablest men in that body. He was president of Central College, Missouri, at the time he was elected bishop. As a man, a preacher, and a presiding officer, Bishop Hendrix is popular, and he possesses that natural charm and refinement which always mark the true gentleman, and which renders him welcome in the life of the home and the church. Mrs. Stevens Re-Elected. Baltimore, Nov. 16.—Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens of Portland, Me., was unanimously re-elected president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union, at the annual convention today.

New York Herald and The Gazette-News.

"NEXT THING YOU KNOW"

REMAINS OF CLAY ARE LAID TO REST

Business Suspended for the Day in Marietta, Traffic Stopped During Funeral Services.

Marietta, Ga., Nov. 16.—Funeral services for United States Senator A. S. Clay of Georgia were held this afternoon in Marietta Methodist church. Business was suspended for the day in Marietta. Senator Clay's home for many years. During the services all street traffic stopped. Senators in attendance at the funeral were Koscoff of West Virginia, Dupont of Delaware, Tallaferrero of Florida, Swanson of Virginia, Dick of Ohio, and Bacon of Georgia. Congressman present were Bartlett, Brantley, Hardwick, Livingston, Howard, Lee, Rodenberg, Hughes, Edwards and Adamson of Georgia, Clark and Sparkman of Florida, Clayton of Alabama, Moon of Tennessee and Finley of South Carolina. The interment was in Marietta cemetery.

BIG CANAL WILL BE COMPLETED BY 1913

That Was the Information Given President Taft While Inspecting Gatun Dam.

Panama, Nov. 16.—The Panama canal will be completed December 1, 1913. This information was given to President Taft yesterday while he was inspecting the famous Gatun dam, on which he spent several hours. The official date of the opening remains January 1, 1915. Lieut. Colonel Goethals desiring one year in which to train the canal tenders and to get the machinery working smoothly. Ships meantime will be granted the privilege of the canal, but at their own risk of delays incident to inexperienced operation. In addition it was announced by Lieutenant Colonel Goethals that the report that President Taft's visit was the forerunner of a request of another $100,000,000 from congress was unfounded. The canal will be completed in 1913, he said, within the $375,000,000 already authorized. The president was greatly surprised at the immensity of the dam, some idea of which can be gained from the fact that the special train was under way nearly three hours on the spur tracks overrunning the great fill. The president exclaimed "This is a mountain, not a dam." The visit of President Taft has utterly dispelled any fears gained from sensationalists respecting the stability of the dam base which is a half mile wide and so gradually sloped that it could never be recognized as a dam. Mr. Goethals informed the president that the informal opening of the canal will be in 1913, and necessitate immediate action on the part of congress relative to toll rates, because eighteen months will be required by shipping interests to adjust their rates to the new routing.

A NEW SENSATION IN SCHENCK CASE

A Warrant is Said to Have Been Issued for Physician to Whom the Woman Paid Visits.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 16.—A new sensation developed when it was reported that a warrant had been issued for a prominent physician to whom Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenck made frequent visits unknown to the wealthy husband she is accused of slowly poisoning. It is said that the police have discovered a mysterious bottle, which with its contents will be given to chemists for analysis. Through exposure and overwork in the prosecution of the Schenck case prosecuting Attorney J. E. Handlan became seriously ill. Should his illness extend over a long period the case may be indefinitely delayed. The prosecutor has worked on the case alone, taking no one into his confidence. Continued improvement is reported in the condition of John O. Schenck. It will be some time, however, before he can leave the hospital. Although the wife of a man of large wealth, Mrs. Schenck permitted her mother to die in the poorhouse, and has never aided in any way her weak minded sister, Lucy Farnsworth, who is now a county charge at the Pleasants County Infirmary, at Belmont. Mrs. Farnsworth, mother of the woman in jail as a poisoner, died May 5, 1905, in the same poorhouse in which her daughter now lives. Prosecuting Attorney Handlan intends to make use of these facts in the trial of Mrs. Schenck. Since her incarceration Mrs. Schenck has not seen her two children. Erat-while friends of the accused woman have turned against her. Her counsel have warned her against seeing any body, but even though Mrs. Schenck's friends were not aware of the warning none has inquired at the jail regarding her or made any effort to see her. Mrs. Schenck manifests a lively interest in the case and reads all the newspapers without making comment. She has recovered her voice since the first few days in jail, when she was nearly a wreck.

CHOLERA SUSPECT SHIP ARRIVES AT NEW YORK

Two Died on the Voyage—Other Passengers Are Sick—The Vessel is Held at Quarantine.

New York, Nov. 16.—With two deaths during voyage from what evidently was cholera, the steamer San Giorgio arrived from Naples and Palermo and was detained at quarantine for bacteriological examinations in cases of the sick passengers. The bodies of the two victims, one child and the child's mother, were buried at sea. These fatalities were reported as due to acute gastro enteritis, but there seems no doubt that they were cholera victims.

IN THE NINTH WISCONSIN KONOP'S MAJORITY STANDS

Canvassing Board, by Vote of Two to One, Refuses to Admit 34 Alleged Republican Votes.

Marinette, Wis., Nov. 16.—The Marinette county canvassing board by a vote of two to one refused to admit 34 alleged straight republican votes in the second ward, which were missed by republican inspectors. This leaves Thomas P. Konop (democrat) a majority of five in the sixth congressional district. Stumbled, with Dynamite in Pocket, Will Die. Bangfield, Minn., Nov. 16.—Marvin Hudson, a farmer near here, placed a stick of dynamite in his pocket to take to employes in a field. Hudson stumbled and fell. That he was not blown to pieces when the dynamite exploded is marvellous. Hudson will die.

CREeping INFLAMMATION OF LUNGS IS DIAGNOSIS

Condition of the Aged Author, Count Leo Tolstoy, is Regarded as Critical.

Astapova, Russia, Nov. 16.—Count Leo Tolstoy's illness was diagnosed by physicians this afternoon as creeping inflammation of the lungs. The aged author is in critical condition. THE WEATHER. For Asheville and vicinity: Fair tonight; Thursday partly cloudy. For North Carolina: Fair tonight; Thursday unsettled.

FUTURE OF COUNTRY DEPENDS ON THE DEMOCRATS IN CONGRESS

—CHAMP CLARK

MEXICAN FRONTIER IN ARMED QUIET

No Semblance of Disorder Reported—Warlike Sentiments Expressed by the Mexicans.

Tuba, Okla., Nov. 16.—The reported lynching of a negro, W. Mansford, at Oklahoma is without foundation. John Lelland, a farmer, was shot and killed by an unknown negro, near Olive, Okla. Posses are now pursuing.

Quiet Along the Border. Laredo, Tex., Nov. 16.—Everything is quiet along the border in the vicinity of Laredo and there is no semblance of disorder, either anti-American or anti-Diez. Consul Diebold states that in the event of a disturbance the Mexican government is amply able to cope with the situation. The border is well protected on the Mexican side by infantry and cavalry troops.

Want a Scrap. Guadalajara, Nov. 16.—At a meeting of political clubs last night at Sayula, one of the principal towns in this state, those participating passed a resolution that they would be the first to offer their services for military operations in the event of war between Mexico and the United States as a result of the lynching at Rock Springs, Texas. A further resolution was adopted requesting the secretary of war to send instructions to all the principal cities and towns in the republic to teach military tactics.

Cause of the Trouble. San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 16.—The murder of Mrs. Lem Henderson, wife of a rancher living 18 miles northeast of Rock Springs, Edwards county, on the afternoon of November 2 and the burning at the stake by a crowd of Rock Springs citizens of her slayer, Antonio Rodriguez, the following afternoon are the causes of the recent anti-American demonstrations in Mexico and the reported marching on Monday of armed Mexicans upon Rock Springs.

Mrs. Henderson was alone except for two small children when Rodriguez, then unknown, came riding by on a horse. It is still unknown what led up to the killing. When Mr. Henderson came home in the evening, his little daughter told him a "bad Mexican has killed mamma." Henderson found his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had killed his wife's body lying by her sewing machine on the rear gallery of their home. Henderson sent out an alarm and a description of the Mexican. Posses searched practically all the night, but failed to find their man. Next morning Rodriguez came to the ranch of Jim Hunter, some miles from Henderson's place. He was recognized from the description sent by Henderson as the man who had