AT THE PALACE

A capacity house at both perform-ances at the Palace theater inst night vouchsafed its appreciation for the very excellent program presented. Gardner and Parker, two winsome young ladies delighted the audience with a high class singing act. Both had good voices, and both the duet and solo selections were very pleasing. In their last selection, a telephone duet "Hello, Hello," they brought down th chouse. Copland and Walsh accomplished their part of the entertainment by musical numbers both vocal and instrumental, and convulsed the house with laughter with their store of jokes. It was a toss up as to which was the better-team. The illustrated song "Baby Rose" was well sung and the pictures were good.
