

VAST TREASURE FIND REPORTED

It is Estimated at from Fifteen to Sixty Million Dollars; and Was Hidden Many Years Ago.

New York Herald Syndicate Special. SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 12.—Treasure, variously estimated at from fifteen million to sixty-five million dollars, which was hidden by the crew of a Chilean cruiser off the coast of Honduras more than a generation ago, has been recovered, according to reports received here, by a party of explorers aboard the steamship Eureka, now bound for this port.

The Eureka is commanded by Captain Burtiss, and about two weeks ago steamed from here under a 30 day charter, with a party of San Francisco men. Their movements were so cautious and so surrounded in mystery that it was suspected that the vessel was on a filibustering expedition against Mexico.

The expedition is supposed to have been financed by Harry Krelling of San Francisco. The map showing the location of the buried treasure was in the possession of an erstwhile resident of Honduras, who tried for many years to attract capital to finance an expedition in search of the hidden gold. He was unsuccessful up to the time he met Mr. Krelling, several weeks ago.

MOVEMENTS OF EXPLORERS SURROUNDED BY MYSTERY

But Cable Has Been Received at San Diego Saying They Were Successful—Search Was Off Coast of Honduras.

A message has been received from Salina Cruz, which read: "Expedition a success in every way. Reach San Diego for all next week. Meet us."

CONCERN AT WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., June 12.—The movements of the steamship Eureka have given much concern to the State and Navy departments for a month. The Nicaraguan minister here learned through private sources that the vessel had cleared from San Francisco about May 12 for the Bay of Fonseca, on the west coast of Nicaragua, supposedly with arms and ammunition. The gunboat Yorktown was sent from Panama to Amapala to overhaul and search the Eureka. Two days ago she reported to the Navy department that no arms had been found on board the vessel.

Washington, June 12.—"Reciprocity will go through the senate all right," said Senator Lodge of Massachusetts at the White House. "Whether the Root amendment goes through is not so material. If it does not, the agreement will be as effective."

Senator Lodge said he had abandoned his idea of offering an amendment for the protection of Massachusetts fishermen.

ARE READING UP LORIMER CASE

Members of Senate Committee Are Busy Studying Voluminous Testimony in Investigation in Illinois.

MANY SUBPOENAS ISSUED FOR PROMINENT ILLINOISANS

Greatest Secrecy Attaches to Action of Committee—No Day for Next Meeting Has Been Definitely Fixed.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Subpoenas for a number of prominent men to testify here in the new Lorimer investigation have been issued and a special officer from the office of the senate sergeant-at-arms is on his way to Chicago to serve them, probably left today. The greatest secrecy is attached to the actions of the special committee of eight senators having the investigation in charge. It is understood that among the men to be subpoenaed are Lee O'Neill Browne, the democratic leader of the Illinois house, Edward Hines, president of the Edward Hines Lumber company of Chicago, Edward Tilden, whose name was connected with the $100,000 fund alleged to have been collected for use in electing Senator Lorimer, and Clarence S. Funk, the officer of the International Harvester company whose disclosures of the attempt to give his corporation a share in the Illinois fund was a feature of the investigation by the Illinois senate.

Going Over Testimony. The Lorimer investigating committee has not yet definitely fixed a day for the next meeting. The members are going over the voluminous testimony in the Illinois inquiry. Until this is complete such meetings will be held merely for the purpose of organization. Lorimer for the first time in several weeks appeared in the senate today. He arrived this morning from Chicago in response to a request sent to all absentees to return for a vote on the resolution providing for the election of senators by direct vote.

Stokes Will Take the Witness Stand Against Two Women Who Shot Him

MRS. W. E. D. STOKES. MR. W. E. D. STOKES.

NEW YORK, June 12.—W. E. D. Stokes, who was shot by Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, in their rooms in the Varuna Apartments, No. 235 West Eightieth street, last Wednesday, told his lawyer in Roosevelt hospital that he would take the witness stand against the young women. Mr. Stokes will defy the defense to prove that he went to the flat for any other reason than to obtain certain letters.

McMannus was paid after the pistols were bought. Miss Graham asked for $500, but did not receive that amount. Letters Were Not in His Possession. McMannus said the letters which Stokes wanted were not in his possession, but were probably picked up by the detectives. All the detectives denied that they had seen any letters signed by Mr. Stokes.

Plenty of Money for Defense. When McMannus' statement was repeated to Herman Phillips, counsel for Miss Conrad and Miss Graham, he said the defense would probably waive examination today in the West Side Police court. "The girls will be defended to the end," Mr. Phillips said. "One man came forward with an offer of $25,000 to see them out of their trouble, and he will put up that amount to insure their liberty on bail. The man's name will be kept secret, and the bail will be given through a surety company to insure his name not being made public. Miss Graham and Miss Conrad have nothing to add to their statements as reported."

MRS. M. P. HANCOCK AND A WHITE RAT

Miss Battle That Was and "Birdie," Rodent, Furnishing Diversion for the New Yorkers.

Special to The Gazette-News. New York, June 12.—Mrs. Mortimer Hancock, wife of Major Hancock of the Royal British Fusiliers, and daughter of Dr. S. Westray Battle of Asheville, for which destination she departed yesterday, created a decided sensation and attracted by far the most attention Saturday in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel by wearing an ornament a white rat with a jeweled collar attached to a long necklace of gold.

She called the rat "Birdie" and his favorite pose was to coil his long tail around Mrs. Hancock's neck and rest comfortably upon her left shoulder with every appearance of contentment as she promenaded through the grill room, the palm room, the grill room, and the spacious corridors of the hotel. Mrs. Hancock arrived here a few days ago from India, where she obtained the rat as a souvenir and travelling companion, and visited San Francisco and Chicago to renew old acquaintances.

SEVERE DAMAGE BY STORM IN GOTHAM

Water, Lightning and Fire Cause Three Deaths and More Than $100,000 Property Loss.

New York, June 12.—Five dead, five persons missing, and a property loss of one million dollars, is the result of the two days' storm which raged over New York and vicinity. Two bodies were found early on the shore of Gravesend Bay and identified as Mrs. Emille Faulkner, a widow, and her brother, Capt. George Lant, a boat builder. Lant and his sister had gone out to his house boat with a store of provisions for a party which had been planned for Sunday. It is presumed they were returning to the shore when the storm broke and capsized their little skiff.

The third death was in Jersey City, where a live wire electrocuted David Clark. Losses aggregating more than $100,000 were caused by fires set by lightning strokes. It is estimated that $50,000 damage was done at Flushing, L. I., where 35,000 men and women were within a big enclosure witnessing a society circus. Twelve large tents were leveled by the wind, and in the stampede which followed six women were trampled and taken to the hospital.

"LIFER" REED BY PRESIDENT

Inmate of Government Insane Hospital, Who Prevented Escape of Inmates, Is Pardoned by Mr. Taft.

SENT UP FOR KILLING MAN WHO DEFAMED HIS WIFE

WASHINGTON, June 12.—President Taft has granted an unconditional pardon to Lorenzo D. Barnes, an inmate of the government hospital for the insane here, who recently prevented a wholesale delivery of insane convicts from the institution by overhearing their plans and notifying the guards. Barnes was convicted of killing a man who defamed his wife. While serving a life sentence he became insane, but has since regained his reason. Attorney General Wickersham recommended his pardon with the observation that he had "taken the life of one infidel, but saved the lives of several government officers."

HIGHEST HEAT RECORD OF THE WEATHER BUREAU

Old-Timers Say Yesterday Was Hottest Day in Asheville in at Least Quarter Century.

Yesterday was the hottest day in Asheville since the establishment of the local weather bureau, nine years ago. That was the statement made by the bureau this morning, the official temperature record being given at 93. The nearest approach to yesterday's temperature was on July 9, 1907, when the mercury reached 91.

While the weather bureau records only go back to 1903 old-timers who give attention to weather conditions today declared that yesterday was the hottest day in Asheville for at least a quarter of a century. Incidentally, there was a considerable range in temperature from the minimum to the maximum and while late yesterday afternoon was uncomfortably hot except along the river banks or in the cool shade of spreading oaks, last night was very comfortable and before midnight a blanket was needed to drive away the chill. The minimum temperature during the past 24 hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning, was 63.

While the record for high temperature was smashed in Asheville yesterday the people in this mountain metropolis fared much better than the millions of other people throughout these United States of America. In Washington, which won second place for heat, all records were broken for the past 30 or 40 years, the temperature rising to 102—and congress in session. In North Carolina, Charlotte, with a temperature of 94, stood second for Raleigh, where the mercury climbed to an even century. Phoenix reported 100, Spokane 100, Augusta 98, Knoxville 94, and Charleston 94.

YUMA, ARIZ., WINS HEAT PRIZE

Washington, June 12.—The high mark in the heat which caused intense suffering in most of the country Sunday, was scored by Yuma, Ariz., which with an official reading of 110, topped all records not only from the territory east of the Rocky mountains, but every other weather station. The June record for Washington was 101, one degree less than the record scored on June 12, 1874. The down town thermometers registered 107 degrees. The hot wave continued in the middle Atlantic states, the Ohio valley, the south and the southwest, ranging from 95 to 102, the latter at Shreveport. It was 100 at Raleigh, N. C.

"No unusually cool weather expected," runs the weather bureau's weekly forecast issued last night. It says generally fair weather may be expected, with more moderate temperatures east of the Rocky mountains, although temperatures will continue high Monday in the interior Atlantic states and probably Tuesday, with unsettled, showery weather.

One Death in Baltimore. Baltimore, June 12.—With the official thermometer registering 93 degrees at 3 o'clock Sunday, Baltimore experienced the hottest June 12 in its history.

BULL REPORTS BOOST COTTON

Continued Drought and High Temperatures Put Price of New Crop Dollar a Bale Higher This Morning.

WATER IS BADLY NEEDED THROUGHOUT COTTON BELT

Continued Fair Weather, Which is Now in Prospect, Will Mean an Excited Advancing Market.

NEW ORLEANS, June 12.—Continued drought and high temperatures put the price of new crop cotton a dollar a bale higher as soon as the new week opened in the New Orleans future market. Heavy buying for both accounts was the result of a dry weather map and countless private reports from the belt, all pointing to more intense conditions even than those that have been putting the market up lately. Very Little Rain. Hardly a drop of rain is shown in the weather map of the cotton country. Mobile reported .08 of inch, Meridian, .01, Raleigh .02 and that was all. The forecast promised no rain for tomorrow except for North Carolina, and the long distance forecast for the week said: "Generally fair weather is indicated for the cotton belt, during the coming week."

Marked Deterioration. It was claimed last week that the crop deterioration had set in as a result of lack of moisture. This morning reports complained that the crop was beginning to go back in a marked manner in some sections. Brokers, even those who lean to the bear side, said continued fair weather would mean an excited, advancing market. On the first call new crops were 15 to 16 points up. Soon after they were 19 to 21 points up. October stood 26 points up, or a dollar a bale at 13. This is the highest level since last winter. Old crop months were comparatively inactive. The market's interest was chiefly centered in the new crop.

INVESTIGATION OF SUGAR BUSINESS HAS BEGUN

Witnesses from Leading Sugar Refineries Summoned Before House Committee.

Washington, June 12.—The house inquiry into the sugar business of the country, conducted by a special committee, formally began this morning. Witnesses of leading sugar refineries in the east had been summoned to appear. The committee announced its purpose to make one of the most thorough investigations ever conducted of the great business by congress. Representative Hardwick of Georgia is chairman of the committee.

Surprising State of Affairs. So carefully guarded were the operations of the American Sugar Refining company up to less than two years ago, E. F. Atkins, vice-president and acting head of the corporation told the special sugar trust investigating committee of the house, that stockholders were accorded no information as to how the company was being conducted. The London group of enormous witnesses said that New England stockholders combined and obtained control. When they did so in 1910 they discovered to their astonishment that H. O. Havemeyer, president of the organization, had maintained his supremacy with only 2000 shares of stock. The Havemeyer holdings at the time of his death, Atkins said, were valued at about $200,000 of a total of $90,000,000 in the American Sugar Refining company. That was a surprising discovery," he declared. "It had been generally supposed Havemeyer owned a greater part of the stock." Atkins said the New England interest obtained control after a committee discovered from examination that of the stock owners of the American Sugar Refining company 43 per cent were New Englanders.

Most of Them Women. "We found there were 18,950 New England owners," said Atkins, "and 18,000 of those were women. They were helpless as far as representation was concerned, and I was urged to take a place on the board, which I did." He explained how the control for New England holders was secured by his election and the election also of Samuel Carr, Charles H. Allen, W. R. Thomas and Edward Manning, all whom now represent that majority of stockholders, known as the New England syndicate.
