

TARIFF BILLS FACE DEFEAT

Democratic and Insurgent Republican Senators not Likely to Unite for Downward Cotton and Wool Revision.

INFLUENCE OF PARTY NAME CHIEF STUMBLING BLOCK

Cummins-La Follette Faction Refuse Even to Compromise on Wool Measure—The Free List May Possibly Fare Better.

Gazette-News Bureau, Wyatt Building, Washington, July 25.

THE potent influence of party name is all that stands in the way of passing radical tariff legislation in congress.

Both the democrats and the insurgent republicans are committed to revision of the tariff downward. Both sets of politicians are specifically unpledged to lower tariff taxation upon clothing—to reduce the woolen and cotton schedules.

The democrats possess a majority of the house and, hence, have been able to put their own program through that body.

Insurgent Republicans Hold Back. As a matter of fact the house wool bill, in many particulars, contains exactly the rates so eloquently championed in 1909 by the late Jonathan P. Dolliver of Iowa.

Therefore the probabilities are that upon next Thursday proposals to lower the wool duties will be beaten. The insurgents will coalesce with the standpatners to that end.

Chance for Free List Measure. The result may be different when the free list is taken up.

Washington, July 25.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson today brought to the White House the papers in the case of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley. He refused to say what recommendations he made to the president regarding the charges against Wiley.

KITCHIN DANIELS FIGHT DISCUSSED AT RALEIGH

Wide Difference of Opinion as to the Probable Outcome—Other Raleigh News Notes.

Gazette-News Bureau, The Hotel Raleigh, Raleigh, July 25.

News was received in Raleigh today of the death in Knoxville, Tenn., of Dr. John Randolph Brown, a leading physician and nerve specialist of Indianapolis, Ind.

Miller E. Starling, 25 years old, is under arrest at Tarboro on the charge of having obtained by forgery goods and money to the amount of $2,300 from banks and citizens of Quitman, Ga., and Chief of Police J. P. Wade of Quitman is in Raleigh awaiting the action of the North Carolina authorities.

Starling, who was born near Goldsboro, went to Georgia several years ago and became a truck farmer. He cultivated the friendship of the best people and was soon an influential person in the community.

He was pursued up and down the Atlantic seaboard, was arrested once, but escaped, and is now in jail at Tarboro. Governor Kitchin said today that he would honor the requisition from the governor of Georgia unless friends of Starling applied to the courts.

A great deal of comment has been caused here by the now famous Kitchin-Daniels controversy, and opinion is about evenly divided as to who will get the better of the argument.

Friends of the editor claim that it is now Mr. Kitchin's move, but it is hard to get expressions from either camp.
