Testimony Ends and Both Sides Take a Day Off to Have Look at Their Hands.

HOW'D HIGHWAYMAN OBTAIN THAT GUN?

That Is Prosecution's High Card-Dangers of Circumstantial Evidence Is That of The Defense.

Richmond, Sept. 6 .- Judge Watson today declared that unless something unforeseen developed he would issue an order for Beulah Binford's release tomorrow. The girl received the news Joyously. When asked if she knew any reason why she had not been allowed to testify, she said she guessed they found out enough through other witnesses. "If Henry Beattie is guilty," she said, as she leaned over a banister in the jail and talked with several newspaper men "I should like to see him punished I'd say that about any man, whether I loved him or not; but I don't think Henry Beattle would kill his wife. His disposition was always good." confided that she had a stage offer but had not decided yet to accept it Paul Beattle, confined in the same jail, also expects his release tomor-

Expects to eB Home Sunday. Chesterfield Court House, Va., Sept I feel that my story impressed the jury and believe they will give me a square deal." Henry Clay Beattle, jr., indicted for murdering his wife, made this confident remark, seated in his cell, gazing in restrospect at the 11 cell, gazing in restrospect at the 11 days of evidence-taking which was brought to a close last night. Uneasiness or nervousness were not visible in his countenance or manner. He still possessed the outward calm exhibited since the trial began.

The court house was clothed in quiet today, Judge Watson having adjourned court until tomorrow. The his young wife. Evidence Closes Suddenly. With unexpected brevity both the commonwealth and the defense closed the evidence in the case shortly after 6 o'clock last night. Judge Watson stretched his arms wearily, yawned stretched his arms wearily, yawned audibly and with a sigh of relief announced that court would adjourn until Thursday morning, today to be devoted to argument of counsel with the court as to the instructions to be given the jury before the argument proper is begun tomorrow. When court adjourned Beulah Binford, the so-called "girl in the case," alleged by the prosecution to have been the motive for the murdor by Beattle of his youns ecution to have been the motive for the murder by Beattle of his youns wife, still was in jall without having uttered a single word of testimony. Scarcely an hour had passed in the 11 days of testimony when her name was not on the lips of witnesses or counsel for either side.

Considered Her a Doubtful Proposition Admittedly fearing that she would acrupulously avoid injuring the case of her former companion at any cost, although statements and interviews galore had fortified the prosecution with what it regarded as all necessary information the commonwealth did not put her on the stand. "We have proved that she was the motive for the crime," said Prosecutor Wendenburg, "without hearing her testimony as our witness, and the admissions of the prisoner himself have told the jury enough."

Another figure, Paul Beattle, cousin of the accused, whose confession concerning the purchase of a shotgun for Heary four days before the homicide led to the building of the case for the prosecution, likewise was kept in jall, but both he and the limford girl are likely to be released tomorrow. Judge Watson explained his attitude toward her continued imprisonment by saying in the court room yesterday that unless stand he wished to "turn her loose."

New Orlean, Sept. 6 .- "No Amerian cotton crop ever grown has sold for as much as the one just marketed, the total valv , including the seed, having been $1,029,009,000."

This remarkable statement is con-cained in the detailed statistics of last eason's cotton crop, issued yesterday by Colonel Henry G. Hester, secretary of the New Orleans cotton exchange. The 13,511,-000 bales crop of 1906-'07 brought $222,000,000 less than the past season's crop.

As a whole the crop averaged within a shade of strict middling and the farmer was paid an average of 14.60 cents per pound.
