SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Personal Mention, News of the Societies, Meetings, Etc.

Redmon-Fritchard.
One of the most brilliant weddings of the season occurred last night in the town of Marshall when George Fritchard, a prominent young attorney of that place and son of Judge Jeter C. Fritchard of Asheville, was married to Miss Mary Robena Redmon, also of Marshall. The wedding was solemnized in the Baptist church and was largely attended by friends and relatives. Quite a number of people went down from Asheville for the event, including Judge and Mrs. J. C. Fritchard, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Fritchard and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Rollins. Rev. Mr. Gude, pastor of the Baptist church, performed the ceremony.

The church was elaborately decorated in a color scheme of yellow and palms and golden rod were extravagantly used. Special music had been arranged for the occasion and was played by Miss Hurd of Marshall. Mrs. Arthur T. Fritchard sang "My Violet" just preceding the entrance of the wedding party. Mrs. Thomas S. Rollins, a sister of the groom, was dame of honor and was lovely in a white lace gown over chiffon, trimmed with yellow satin. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Brown of Asheville and Miss Womble of South Carolina, who wore white marquisette gowns with yellow bands and sashes and carried bouquets of white roses. Misses Mary Weaver and Lillian Rollins, both of Asheville, were the dainty little flower girls scattering rose petals before the approaching bride. James Price of Greenville, S. C., was best man and Dr. Arthur T. Fritchard and Dr. Charles Sprinkle were the groomsmen. The bride presented a most charming picture in a soft white satin gown trimmed with Irish lace, and the conventional long tulle veil. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. After the ceremony a brilliant reception was held in the leading hotel of the town and afterward the couple left for a three weeks bridal tour. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Fritchard will reside in Marshall.

Dufour-Allport.
Mrs. Ellen Ramon Dufour yesterday issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Miss Francis Elsie Dufour, to Hobart Allport on the evening of October 4 at 8:30 o'clock. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's mother, 32 South French Broad avenue, and will be attended only by relatives and close friends.

A recital is to be given at the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday evening, September 26, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Aid Society of Trinity church. This entertainment will be of unusual interest owing to the prominence of the artists taking part, some of whom have never been heard in Asheville. The following program will be given:

THE POSTMASTERS IN YEARLY MEETING

Hear a Number of Interesting and Valuable Talks—About 150 Present.

The second session of the convention of the North Carolina Postmasters' association, which convened last night at the Battery Park hotel, was held this morning at 10 o'clock. Since the meeting began 50 more postmasters have arrived so that there are now an attendance of about 150. There were three addresses this morning on subjects pertaining to the work of the postmaster and after that there was a general discussion on the postal savings system.

J. P. Spence of Charlotte delivered a most interesting address this morning on "The Organization of the Postoffice Force," which was of much value to the hearers. At the conclusion of Mr. Spence's address, T. E. Wallace of Wilmington spoke for some time on the question, "Sunday Closing and Compensatory Time," and he in turn, was followed by an address by Inspector Bulla, who spoke on "The View of the Postal Savings System from the Tax Payers' Standpoint." This address was followed by a general discussion on the subject, and Postmaster Douglas of Greensboro, Briggs of Raleigh, Hoover of Thomasville, White of Mebane and Rollins of Asheville took part in it.

Mrs. W. W. Rollins was appointed a committee of one to send telegrams of best wishes to the president and the postmaster general.

Afternoon Session.
The convention adjourned at 12:30 for a group picture and dinner and met again at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The Postmasters' league, composed of officials of fourth class offices, held a short business meeting at the Asheville club at 3 o'clock. Directly upon the reconvening of the convention, Mr. White, secretary of the association, read a telegram from Mrs. Helen P. Longstreet, postmistress at Gainesville, Ga., and widow of General Longstreet. It was as follows: "J. Arthur White, Secretary, North Carolina Postmasters Association, Asheville, N. C.

"Loyal salutations from the Empire state of the south to the progressive postmasters in convention at Asheville. Deeply regret my official duties make it impossible for me to be present. May your deliberations make not only more efficient postmasters but more patriotic Americans, who will zealously guard our great country's free institutions, that Abraham Lincoln's dream of the union of states may be more truthfully fulfilled in this, the fiftieth year after the rival war."

"HELEN D. LONGSTREET."
Several addresses are on the afternoon program.

SWEET SLUMBER BROUGHT BACK

Mrs. White, Unable to Sleep, Tells How She Brought Back Natural Sleep.

Gastonia, N. C.—Mrs. Ellen White, of this city, says: "I suffered for several years, with womanly troubles. I could not rest at night. I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and before I had finished one bottle, I could sleep well. It just acted like a charm. Since taking Cardui, I have been in better health than for 10 years. It is the best medicine I ever used. It did me more good than the doctors. I can certainly recommend Cardui to all suffering women, for I have been greatly benefited by its use. It will build them up. Cardui has been worth its weight in gold to me, for now I am well and hearty."

No matter how long-standing the trouble, Cardui will help. It is a tonic remedy. It is prepared for women, to bring relief from womanly ailments. It helps sleeplessness, one of the most common symptoms of nervous breakdown. It helps build nerves and system.

Made from strictly vegetable ingredients, it has no ill-effects on any organ of the body, but acts naturally, gently, and safely.

You can rely on Cardui. It will do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

It will help you. Try it.

Opening Session.
The first session of the fifth annual convention of the North Carolina Postmasters' association, which includes the organization of the presidential postmasters and the Postmasters' league, met in the Battery Park hotel last night with a large attendance. The opening exercises consisted of the following addresses, the responses, several addresses by the visiting postmasters, and officials and the appointment of committees. All the officers of the association are attending. J. B. Joyce of Reidsville presiding.

After the invocation was delivered by Dr. R. E. Campbell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Chas. G. Lee, in behalf of the mayor of the city, welcomed the visitors to Asheville. He referred to them as a representative body of men, declaring that he was honored to extend to them the hospitality of the city; that they came of the best people and have the good of the communities at heart. He spoke of the numbers of conventions that have come to Asheville and in conclusion welcomed the members as a body and as individuals.

He was followed by W. J. Leary, sr., of Edenton, who made the response. He thanked Mr. Lee for his expressions of hospitality. He said that North Carolina is proud of Asheville, which is known as a city of hospitable people. He praised the beautiful scenery, comparing it with that of Switzerland, and thought that the postmasters would find this convention one of the most pleasant in the history of the association.

President J. B. Joyce of Reidsville then appointed committees, after which C. F. McKeon of Morganton spoke on "The Village Postmaster and His Relation to the Public." His speech was full of wit and good humor and he also made suggestions of value. He said the postoffice must be manned with polite people; that the postmaster of every place should be of the highest type of citizenship. He declared that the village postmaster can say what he thinks but he must think right. In conclusion he complimented Mr. Hitchcock on the efficiency of his service.

On the subject, "Regulations Pertaining to Second Class Mail Matter," R. D. Douglas of Greensboro made a most interesting and helpful talk. He thought that North Carolina postmasters can help to keep down the postal deficit; that newspapers are subsidized and postmasters should see that every publisher keeps up to the regulations because of the low rate. He answered a number of questions relating to his subject, which were asked him by those present. He declared "special editions" are nuisances and are not second class matter when used in lieu of advertising. Inspectors Bulla and
