LENGTHY HEARING; VARIOUS VERSIONS

Different Stories Told About the Encounters of Messrs. Bean and Goodlake.

The young war which sprang up in the new concrete hotel building Wednesday morning, in which S. I. Bean and Claude Goodlake were the principals, was aired, and is still being aired, in police court today. There was a very small preliminary docket of drunks and other minor cases disposed of and then the big proceedings began about 9:30 with an array of witnesses and attorneys that rather indicated a murder trial than an assault case.

Several Charges.

There were two charges against both Messrs. Bean and Goodlake for assault and one against A. M. Goodlake for urging on the second fight. All were tried together. The taking of testimony began immediately and was concluded about 1 o'clock. Judge Thomas A. Jones, representing Mr. Bean, presented part of his argument and then the demands for nourishment prevailed and adjournment was taken until 3 o'clock for dinner. The rest of the argument by Judge Jones was then heard and he was followed by Wells & Swain, appearing for the Goodlakes.

Varying Viewpoints.

In the taking of testimony it was evident that the witnesses giving evidence for the two sides had witnessed the two fights from widely varying points of view, or else so much happened that it was impossible for anyone to see it all and they had to divide time on watches. One group swore that when Bean hit Goodlake with a missile, either a brick or a stone, the latter was advancing toward him in a very threatening manner, while the other group testified that the recipient of the brick was being held fast by several men. In the second fight one side saw Mr. Goodlake use a pair of "knucks" on his adversary's head, from the rear. The other side was quite certain that only his fist was used and that on the gentleman's face. In fact it would seem from the general evidence that there was quite a feud existing between the men and their respective employes.

Some little bit of comedy was added to the general tragedy from time to time, especially on one occasion when a negro on the witness stand was asked by an attorney with what faction he was affiliated and replied that he wasn't connected with either "family," that he worked for the Greene-Lange company. All the witnesses were rigidly cross-examined, objections were raised, sustained or overruled; there were bickerings galore and the almost unbearable weight of the case was constantly pressed more deeply home to outsiders in the court room.

The trial was concluded at 3:35 this afternoon with the following results: In the first case Claud Goodlake was fined $20 and the costs and S. I. Bean was fined $30 and the costs; in the second case Mr. Goodlake was fined $10 and the costs and Mr. Bean was adjudged not guilty; A. M. Goodlake was adjudged not guilty of aiding and abetting in the assault.

HER AILMENT A COMMON ONE

Happy Experience of Mrs. Dillinger, Who Finally Found Relief in Cardui, the Woman's Tonic.

West Baden, Ind.—"For about four years," says Mrs. Sarah Dillinger, of this place, "I suffered with an ailment common to women, and I was so poorly that I could not do my work. Since taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, I am stout, and able to work all day, hard. It is certainly a great medicine for women. I recommend it to a great many ladies.

My daughter is now taking Cardui, and it seems to be helping her already, although she has now taken only one bottle.

Cardui is the best medicine I ever took. It has done me so much good! It saved my life, and I can't praise it too much."

Every woman would always keep Cardui handy, for when needed, if she knew what benefit it gives, in cases where weakened vitality makes the body and brain seem tired and worn-out.

A few doses of Cardui, at the right time, will often save much suffering by preventing a more serious sickness. To relieve pain and misery, due to womanly troubles, nothing has been found, during the 50 years that it has been before the public to take the place of Cardui.

Won't you try it?

CHAS. UNDERWOOD HELD AS SLAYER OF FLETCHER

Body Had Bullet Hole in It, and Underwood's Story Is Not Straight.

Arrivals from Hendersonville today state that the people of Fletcher are very much concerned over the death of the negro, Will Fletcher, whose body was found on the railroad track near that place yesterday morning. They stated that the body showed no signs of having been killed by a train and that there is a bullet hole in his head. They also said that Charlie Underwood, a negro, has been arrested and held under heavy bond because of certain contradictory statements as to his whereabouts on the night of the supposed murder.

Fletcher's hat was found some distance from the track and it is said that there were heavy tracks as though the body had been carried and placed on the track.

There are witnesses who tell of hearing a pistol shot in the neighborhood of the place where the negro was having a dance, near the plant of the Asheville Brick and Tile company.

ELKMONT HEIGHTS LOTS OFFERED ON EASY TERMS

Next Wednesday Is Date of Auction, by Southern Land Auction Company.

Next Wednesday the Southern Land Auction company is to sell at auction the lots of the proposed new town of Elkmont Heights, situated on the Asheville & East Tennessee railroad just below Grace, at the junction of the Burnsville and Beavertown roads. The site of the town is three miles from Pack Square and one-fourth mile from the spur of the Southern railway, which runs up from Craggy. It is also at the foot of Elk mountain and Gooch's peak, and the horseback trail to the peak passes through the property. It affords an excellent view of the surrounding mountains and the topography of the land is fine for building.

The land was formerly part of the Reynolds farm and a few years ago was bought by W. A. Swain, by whom it was sold to Greenwood & Blackstock. Only 75 lots will be sold at the auction and it is expected that they will go at once considering their location and the usual avidity with which property on this road is sought for.

The sale begins at 10:30 o'clock and the company will furnish transportation to those who wish to attend. Two valuable prizes are promised, for which those attending will have a chance.

The lots will be sold on easy terms.

DEFEAT OF RECIPROCITY GOOD FOR DEMOCRACY

Col. S. A. Jones of Waynesville was in the city today, on his way to Charlotte to accompany his daughter, Miss Elizabeth, who will enter school there. Col. Jones remarked to a reporter that he thought the defeat of Canadian reciprocity would prove a good thing for the country in general, and the democratic party in particular.

Col. Jones was inclined to favor the Canadian agreement, all things being equal, but in the absence of further tariff legislation, to accompany the trade pact, he thinks it just as well that Canada has concluded not to reciprocate.

MRS. CHILDERS' DEATH CLOUDED IN MYSTERY

Leesburg, Ga., Sept. 22.—Absence of evidence of a motive of any kind for the killing of Mrs. Mort S. Childers by either her husband or Robert S. Kennedy; the two men charged with the crime, has been a serious factor in delaying the investigation of the woman's death. The next step to be taken by the prosecution in the case will be the preliminary hearing of Mort Childers, which was postponed yesterday until September 25.

While the husband is confined in jail on suspicion of being connected with his wife's death, no reason of his alleged desire to get rid of her has been advanced. On the other hand Kennedy is said by many to have been a former sweetheart of the woman and jealous of the husband is hinted as a possible cause for him to want her out of the way.

The theory of suicide as well as that of accidental use of the strychnine, also has been spoken of by attorneys interested in the case, but each theory in turn has been abandoned as not being borne out by the known facts in connection with Mrs. Childers' death. Another story being circulated is to the effect that if it should be proved that young Kennedy had any connection with the case, he was merely the tool of other parties. So far the chemical analysis of the bottle of medicine in which the strychnine was placed and the dead woman's stomach have not been presented to the court. It is admitted by all concerned that strychnine caused the woman's death, but where it was obtained and the quantity placed in the medicine have not been made public. Some of these facts it is stated will be brought out at the hearing of Childers next Monday.

So far nothing has developed to show there was domestic infelicity in the Childers home, friends and neighbors declaring that they were a happily wedded couple.
