THE STONE OF SCONE. The Richmond Times-Dispatch says: It has now been discovered that the stone of Scone, on which the kings and queens of England sit when they are crowned, is the same from which ses struck water for the children is Israel on their long march through the wilderness. It has also been claimed that this stone was the one used by Joseph for his pillow at Bethel. Canon Wilberforce astonished the congregation at Westminster Abmon that the stone was really the one Moses used in the wilderness. However this may have been, there is no evidence to support the theory, which is almost certain to be advanced, that the stone was found at the base of Chimney Rock, in North Carolina. Certainly not. The stone of Scone, as a matter of fact, was thrown up by Old Bald in an earthquake eruption which occurred several years before the birth of the editor of the Times-

Dispatch.-Charlotte Chronicle. NEWSPAPER ABUSE.

Talking with a very intelligent genman of South Carolina the other day we were told that the present governor of South Carolina was elected by his bitterest enemies, the daily newspapers. They were so unrelenting and extreme in their opposition and so personally abusive, that sympathy was created and votes made for Blease that he otherwise could never have secured. This gentleman himself voted against Blease and deplored his leadership in South Carolina poli-Whereas, It appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary discountry than the proceedings for the voluntary discountry than the control of the proceedings for the voluntary discountry than the control of the force of the force of the control o mark further that so far from learning a lesson from their past indiscretion the newspapers are preparing to wage a florcer warfare than ever which, this Palmetto citizen thinks, will land Blease in the senate of the United States. It is curlous that men are so slow to learn that the way to elect a man is to abuse him. Public sympathy is sure to turn toward the man who is persecuted; and it is a good thing that this is true. > THE RECALL.
> We have been giving the western regressives credit for originating the lectrine of the "recall," the addition progressives credit for originating the doctrine of the "recall," the addition recently made to the old Populist smooth sounding phrase, "initiative and referendum." But the other evening, after failing to find any light reading to our taste to pass off an hour while waiting for supper, we went to the other extreme and began turning at random through a treatise on the Constitution of the United States. One of the first paragraphs stumbled on was one giving the starting information that under the old Confederation of the States, each state had the privilege of sending the same number of members to continental congress, no state to have more than seven or less than two members in congress, and the right at any time to "secall" a member. When the constitution was adopted, the members were apportioned among the states according to population and the right of "secall" omitted. So our
