Arbogast-Gudger.
The wedding last night of Miss Elizabeth Arbogast and Frank Gudger at the home of the former, was the biggest surprise their friends have ever been given. It had been suspected for some time that the young people were engaged, but the marriage was not expected to come off before the winter season. The ceremony was performed last evening at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. Dr. R. F. Campbell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and only about 25 of the close friends and relatives of the bride and groom were present. There were no attendants; it was simply a quiet home wedding.

The residence was handsomely decorated for the event, the principal flowers used being yellow and pink dahlias and chrysanthemums. It was through this elaborate decoration that a large number of their friends guessed the secret of what was going to happen. When they had become practically certain of this through the continual arrival of florists and caterers' wagons, they were taken fully into the secret and a further spread of the news prevented.

Immediately following the ceremony, a buffet supper was served and later Mr. and Mrs. Gudger left on the southbound train for Lake Charles, La., where they will spend a two weeks' honeymoon. Returning, they will reside at Hendersonville, Mr. Gudger's present location.

Invitations have been received from Gen. and Mrs. John T. Wilder to the marriage of their daughter, Katherine Yeagan Lee, to Frederick G. Swope will respond.

A FALLEN LIVE WIRE CAUSES HORSE'S DEATH

Youth Named Anderson, Riding It, Had Narrow Escape From Death.

A horse was killed early this morning near Dr. Brownson's residence in West Asheville and a young man named Anderson, who was riding it, narrowly escaped death, by a live wire which had fallen across the road at that place. Young Anderson is the son of Rufus Anderson and works for H. J. Olive.

He started on his work this morning riding the horse, and he was in the road, when he saw a wire in the road. He was almost upon it before he saw it and tried to get the horse away but could not do so and suddenly the horse fell, although the young man did not think he had touched the wire.

When the horse fell young Anderson was unable to rise and lay stretched on the ground. Help was at once secured and a dry stick extended toward the prostrate youth. It seems he was able to use one hand and grasped the stick and was dragged to safety. He soon recovered but the horse was dead when an employe of the electric company came to fix the wire.

WHAT A WOMAN CAN AND DID DO

Mrs. Hennessee, of McMinnville, Tells How She Succeeded in Spite of Many Discouragements.

McMinnville, Tenn.—Mrs. Lucy Hennessee of this place says: "I suffered, about six years, more or less, with womanly troubles. My head hurt so terribly that I could get no sleep. My husband had no faith in it, but I commenced using Cardui, according to directions, and now he is thoroughly convinced that Cardui is doing me more good than all the doctors."

Before I had used all of one bottle of that wonderful medicine I had commenced to improve. Now, I feel like a different woman.

The misery is all gone, and I have a good appetite and feel greatly improved in every respect.

It will certainly benefit others, as it has me, and I am glad to know that such a remedy is within the reach of every suffering woman."

If you suffer from any form of womanly weakness or irregularity, try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It helps nature to perform a cure in a natural, easy way.

The ingredients used in Cardui are mild herbs, which have a gentle, tonic effect on the womanly constitution. It builds up the strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks fresh and rosy.

If you are a woman, try it.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK IS FOR CAUTIOUS PEOPLE

Those Who Are Full of Distrust, and Suspicions, and for the Secretive.

At the postoffice it was stated this morning that the deposits for the postal savings bank are coming in about as fast as was expected. Since the interest rate is so low it was hardly hoped that any great number of people would deposit, but the officials do expect to get deposits from people who do not and never have put their money in banks. It is thought that this system will reach those who have in the past kept their money in the toes of old socks or in the clock, who have always looked upon banks as likely to fail at almost any time. They will doubtless realize that the "government" is behind this system and will likely be satisfied to accept a lower rate for what they consider extra safety.

Many people are rather secretive about their money also, and do not wish anyone to know how much money they have. It is pointed out that some, even when paying bills, hide their pocketbooks and always select a bill as near the amount of the debt as they can. It is this class of people, too, that the officials expect to reach and it will probably result in bringing much money into circulation that otherwise would stay hidden.

IMMIGRANTS FROM JUNGLE

New York Sun.
The trip the Royal Mail Liner Atrato has just ended here from Southampton by way of Colon and the West Indies was enlivened by a few storms, one waterspout, and the lashings of the tails of eight caymans, or South American crocodiles, the biggest of which has a longer tail than any other reptile, if serpents don't count as tails. The Atrato got the crocodiles, or caymans, or alligators, at Colon. They were shipped thither from the interior of Colombia by one of the great men of tropical animal hunters, J. D. Schmidt, who says that the big cayman is more than 15 feet long and weighs 800 pounds.

Among its jungle shipmates are two pumas, much like our own mountain lions, six capybaras, which are the tallest of aquatic rodents, these six being loftier than any ever imported, being not less, Mr. Schmidt says, than 3 feet high; a marvelous roll of anacondas, mostly mere infants of 10 or 12 feet, which may grow larger on the show bills of the circus; three big bears, hundreds of tropical birds, mostly of the parrot family, and the biggest iguana, which is an arboreal lizard, good to eat if you like lizard, that ever poked its sluggish nose into America. This iguana is, according to its importer, Louis Ruhe, the animal dealer, 8 feet long, which is a few feet bigger than the encyclopedia.

MISSION TO THE SICK PLANS ARE SHAPING UP

Enthusiastic Meeting Held Today—Another Meeting Called for Monday Night.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at noon today at the Y. M. C. A. to consider the establishing of a mission to sick strangers in the city. The churches and secret orders of the city were well represented.

Rev. Dr. R. P. Campbell presided. The movement was unanimously approved by those present, and plans for carrying on the work were freely discussed.

It was decided to call another meeting next Monday night at the Y. M. C. A., to be composed of the pastors of all the churches and the presiding officers of all the secret orders, to adopt a plan of immediate action. This meeting will be at 6 o'clock and supper will be served.

This movement was suggested at a recent meeting of the Asheville Ministers' association and seemed to meet with immediate favor. It is felt that such an organization can do much toward the comfort of the sick who come here.
