THE "DIPS" WORK IN CIRCUS CROWD

Many Are Robbed at Greensboro—One Man Loses About $100.

Gazette-News Bureau, Daily News Building, Greensboro, Oct. 21.

The appearance of the Barnum & Bailey circus in Greensboro made rich picking for the "light fingered gentry." It was reported to the police Thursday night and yesterday many people had lost money and other articles while at the circus and at the passenger station. Several empty pocket-books were picked up and taken to police headquarters as souvenirs of the pickpockets' activity and that collection is now on exhibit marked "pickpocket gallery."

Robbed of $100.

One man who came to the circus a year ago and played a return engagement Thursday was relieved on both occasions of money. A year ago he lost $100 and Thursday nearly $100. To be sure that he wouldn't have his pocket picked this time, he placed his pocket book with money in it on his inside coat pocket and kept his hand near the treasure "box." All went well until he started to board a train. Then some "guy" in front jammed the platform while people behind commenced pushing. When the jam was over and the man safely inside the coach he felt for his money and found that it was gone. He reported his loss to the police and gave a description of the man whom he believed was responsible for the theft but the man described could not be found.

Losses Case, Keeps Counsel Fee.

The fight between Ben Jennings of Greensboro, sometimes called the "lightweight" pugilist of Guilford and the "monkey man" at the circus in which Ben received a severe scalp wound during the first circus performance, was aired at considerable length before the police court judge yesterday. The case was finally ended by a fine of $5 being imposed upon each. The "monkey man" had employed counsel but after getting fined $5 and taxed with the trimmings he failed to see just how the affair could benefit him and declined to pay the lawyer his fee. At last accounts the difference between the lawyer and his client had not been adjudicated.

Graduate Nurses Organize.

The graduate nurses of St. Leo hospital of Greensboro met here Thursday night and decided to organize an alumnae association. The nurses now at the hospital and several graduate nurses residing in other towns nearby were present. The organization was perfected by the election of Mrs. D. Hayden, president; Miss Nora Blow, vice-president; Mrs. Andrew Schosser, secretary and treasurer. The purpose of the organization is to stimulate a frank interchange of ideas and views among the nurses and generally to better the conditions of the members.

Independent Tennessee Company Demands Interstate Connections with the Cumberland.

Washington, Oct. 21.—A controversy between the Home Telephone company of Clarksville, Tenn., an independent concern, and the Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph company of New York, was brought to the interstate commerce commission yesterday for settlement. The petition filed with the commission charged that the Cumberland company is a corporation substantially in the nature of a trust, which controls telephone lines throughout the country. The Home company asked that, as a common carrier under the law, it be accorded interstate connecting facilities with the lines of the defendant companies.

Early last August the complainant enjoyed such facilities but since that time its interstate connections have been destroyed by the defendants and they now refuse to permit the Home company to establish interstate communication over their lines. The commission was asked to establish through routes between Clarksville and points in other states.

CASE TRANSFERRED

Judge Pritchard Decides Horsford et al. vs. Gudger et al. is Not in His Jurisdiction.

The case of Eben N. Horsford and wife vs. Jackson J. Gudger et al. was brought before Judge Pritchard in the equity court today but it was removed by him to the United States District court upon finding that it was not within his jurisdiction. The case is an old one, having been in the courts for the past 12 or 15 years, and involves a considerable tract of land in which both sides claim a right. The present action is brought by the plaintiff to have a certain decree, heretofore entered, corrected. The plaintiffs in the action are represented by Hon. Henry J. Ingersoll of Knoxville; the defendants by Congressman J. M. Gudger, Jr., Judge H. A. Gudger, Gen. Theodore E. Davidson and S. P. Ravenel, the latter representing the interest claimed by the Elliott heirs.

Commotion Among Raleigh Spectators When Parading Animal Got Nail in Foot.

Gazette-News Bureau, The Hotel Raleigh, Raleigh, Oct. 21.

Governor Kitchin did not go to New York, as was reported in several papers, but on the contrary went to Marion, McDowell county, and opened the fair there. He left Raleigh yesterday.

The funeral of Addie Bagley Daniels, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daniels, was held from the residence yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, Dr. W. McC. White and Rev. J. N. Cole conducting the services.

One of the big elephants with the Barnum & Bailey circus, which exhibited here, stuck a nail in his foot during the parade yesterday. The great animal emitted a yell that caused those near to fall over each other in their efforts to get out of the way. The trainers had the 18 other elephants up, drove the wounded animal in the middle of the circle, had him lie down and extracted the nail. This done the big fellow joined the parade as if nothing had happened. One of the big show wagons came near going through the dry bridge when it gave way, but no damage was done.

Fair is Over.

The state fair went down into history last night as the most successful one, the officials say, ever held in Raleigh. The crowds Thursday were simply enormous and there were many people here yesterday, but it must be said that the great majority of them had the circus on their minds. Still, a large number paid their way into the grounds.

Held for Shooting.

James Perry, a negro, is in the guard house on the charge of having shot Johnnie Jones, white, late last night. The ball entered the left side of the head just over the eyebrow and inflicted a painful though not dangerous wound. The bullet was removed.

Marshall Electrocuting Friday.

Norval Marshall, the negro who committed the murder of Mrs. Joseph Chaplin in Warren county last month, will live another week. His electrocution was postponed from yesterday until next Friday so that Capt. T. P. Sale, warden at the penitentiary, might attend the convention of prison commissioners at Omaha, Neb. Marshall will run the penalty of his crime next week. There are five other prisoners either waiting electrocution or the result of appeals for new trials. Those under death sentence are L. M. Sandlin, New Hanover; Brad Baxley, Williamson; and Taylor Love, Wayneville.

Cabinet's Law Officer Seems Taft's Favorite for Vacant Place on Bench.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 21.—George Wickersham, attorney general of the United States, seems the most prominent candidate for justice of the Supreme court of the United States. Out of a long list of possibilities which President Taft has taken for consideration, Wickersham seems to be the favorite. While the chief executive declines to discuss the matter of the appointment for publication, it is learned that the possibility of a "progressive jurist," succeeding the late "great dissenter" is very remote.

It is said that while the president realizes that the appointment of Wickersham would undoubtedly call for a good deal of criticism, because of his former Wall street connections, he believes his trust prosecution record would overbalance this criticism, and he has a very high opinion of the attorney general's legal ability. Besides it is said that many of the president's advisers are in favor of getting Wickersham on the bench.

President Taft, however, has refused to make any fixed decisions regarding his successor until he reaches Washington, November 18.

In addition to Secretary of the Interior Fisher, and Wickersham, Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel are also said to be under consideration for the post. Solicitor General Lammiman, Thomas Marshall, a New York lawyer, and Circuit Judge John W. Warrington, of Cincinnati, who was recently appointed by President Taft, are also on the list of eligibles.

The cabinet members have been made to the president, but he has steadfastly refused to commit himself, and when he reaches Washington he will take the matter up with his advisers. He believes this appointment will have a strong political effect, as it will place him on record as having named five justices, a majority of the court.

INVESTIGATING NUMBERS

Houses Must Be Numbered and Correctly, or Fire Will Be Imposed.

One of the patrolmen started on a round of the city today to see that all houses fronting on streets or alleys are numbered, and if so, if the numbers are correct. If any house is found that violates either of these points the owner or occupant will be brought to police court to make known to Judge Adams the reasons for such violation.

The city ordinance requires that every house in the city fronting on either a street or alley shall be numbered, each number to cover a 25-foot frontage, the even numbers to be on one side and the odd numbers on the other. The city engineer is able to furnish everybody with information as to what his number should be. Anyone refusing to put on a number or failing to put on the right number is liable to a fine of $1 for each offense and every day in which such violation exists constitutes a separate offense.

Good-Hearted Cabbage.

A well known expert in cooking encountered trouble in a suburban community the other afternoon when she appeared to lecture to the Mothers' club. Her subject was "How to Cook." She began by telling how much a man appreciates good cooking, and then she proposed to give various receipts.

Among the first was one for cold-slaw. "To have this best," began the lecturer, "take a good hearted cabbage and—"

At this point a young matron interrupted. She was eager to get all the information possible. "Tell me please," she spoke up, "how is one to know the disposition of a cabbage?" Philadelphia Times.

NEW PAPER CURRENCY DEMAND IS COSTLY

New York, Oct. 21.—The demand for new paper currency is so great that Treasurer McChesney and Director Ralph of the engraving and printing bureaus are seeking a tour of the sub-treasuries now making a tour of the way to limit the redemption of bills. The making of new paper money is now costing more than the treasury can afford.

Director Ralph says sentiment is largely responsible for the demand and depreciates the idea that old bills spread disease.

NATIONAL MEET FOR SUFFRAGE

The Advocates of Woman's Voting Rights Are Gathered in Convention at Louisville.

Colorado Conditions Related by Speaker

Rev. Anna H. Shaw Predicts Many Other States Will Soon Extend Right of Ballot.

Louisville, Oct. 21.—The next great transition that is destined to sweep the country will be the "political emancipation of women," in the opinion of Omar E. Garwood of Denver, who addressed the National Woman Suffrage convention here yesterday. Mr. Garwood told of conditions in Colorado during the 18 years that equal suffrage has been practiced there and declared that women's interest in matters political had resulted in placing the state among the leaders of progressive commonwealths. He said, in part:

"Complaint has been made that the women of Colorado have made a poor showing in procuring laws relating to children, yet the members of the Interparliamentary union, who made careful personal study of children's laws in all parts of America said that Colorado has the sanest, most humane, most progressive and most scientific laws relating to children to be found on any statute books in the world. Through the influence of women voters parental and truancy schools for girls and State Traveling library, wholesome factory laws, state labor agencies, compulsory education, the postponing of teachers, reform registration laws, the Australian ballot law, punishing wife desertions as a felony, the recall, initiative and referendum in certain localities, the local option law by which many towns and counties and the residence portions of Denver have been voted dry, and the commission form of government, have been obtained."

Public Men for Equal Suffrage.

"The strongest men in Colorado believe in equal suffrage. Governor Shafer, ex-Governor Alva Adams, Judge Ben R. Lindsey, United States Marshal Dewey C. Bailey, former District Attorney Isaac N. Stevens, Congressman Edward T. Taylor, John A. Martin and A. W. Rucker, are a few of the prominent men in Colorado who have declared time after time that equal suffrage experiment in Colorado had been a decided success."

"It is ridiculous to contend that there is any relation between equal suffrage and divorce in Colorado. Judges and lawyers all agree that no divorce case has ever arisen in Colorado which could be traced in the remotest way to the existence of equal suffrage."

Women Not Indifferent to Ballot.

"Equal suffrage has not worked against the home, nor has it tended in any way to deprive women of their womanliness; rather has it tended to increase her interest in civic affairs and the betterment of social conditions. Women are not indifferent to the ballot. Almost as many women vote in Colorado as men."

"I took some years to educate the women into the proper use of the ballot. Those who have held office in Colorado have done so with great credit to themselves. There has never arisen a single instance where a Colorado woman officeholder has been accused of any irregularity, much less corruption, in the administration of her office. As office holders and as voters women equit themselves more creditably than do the men."

"The critics of equal suffrage have entirely lost sight of the fact that the vast majority of Colorado women vote conscientiously, wisely and intelligently. Elections are held quietly. Women are shown every respect at the polls, and as a prominent Coloradan said: 'I would feel less anxiety in seeing my wife or daughter in the worst polling place in Denver on election day than to see her on Broadway in certain portions of the theater district in New York City after 10 p. m.'"

The men who are in charge of great political movements in Colorado realize that the woman vote must always be reckoned with, and no nominating convention dares to flaunt a known race's name in the faces of the women."

"Equal suffrage will always exist in Colorado; it is right in principle and successful in practice and is bound to become universal in America. The recent advent of Washington and California into the list of equal suffrage states, stands as an irrefragable indication of the next great transition that is destined to sweep the country—the political emancipation of women."

Rev. Anna Shaw's Address.

Rev. Anna Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, declared the past eighteen months had been ones of great progress for women and in reviewing the recent vote in California, contrasted the sections in which the vote on woman's suffrage had been strongest and weakest. She said in part:

"The 18 months which have elapsed since our last convention have been permeated with suffrage activity. Never in an equal length of time has the enrollment of recruits and in the development of active service, and in all the years of our movement there has never been such an army of alert, energetic and enthusiastic young women ready to do and to endure whatever the best interests of the cause demands of them."

"Thus by the aggressive out-of-order campaign the message has been carried to a not unwilling people. We congratulate ourselves for the triumph which vindicates the women of Washington. Never was there a more
