Philadelphia Piles up Seven in One Inning, the Slaughter Started by Baker.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—Batteries: New York—Ames and Meyers; Philadelphia—Bender and Thomas. Umpires: Connolly behind plate, Brennan on bases, Dincken right field, Klem left field.

FIRST INNING. New York—Devore grounded out, Bender to Davis. Doyle doubled to right. Snodgrass flew out to left. Boyle scored on Murphy's muff of Murray's fly. Murray was caught off first a moment later by a beautiful throw of Bender's to Davis; one run.

Philadelphia—Lord was put out, Doyle to Merkle, and Oldring fanned. Collins also fanned; no runs.

SECOND. New York—Merkle flew out to Oldring, after a long run. Herzog was safe on Barry's muff of a line drive. Herzog stole second. Fletcher fanned and Myers drove a hard ground-er over second, but on Collins' sensational pick-up and throw to first was out; no runs.

Philadelphia—Baker flew out to left. Ames hit one to Doyle. It was too hot for him to handle and was a hit. Davis lined an easy one out. Ames to first, Murphy taking second. Barry fanned; no runs.

THIRD. New York—Ames singled; Devore forced Ames out at second. Bender to Barry. Doyle fouled out to Baker. Devore was put out stealing second; no runs.

Philadelphia—Thomas walked. Bender was thrown out, Fletcher to Merkle. Thomas taking second. Lord doubled over the temporary fence in right field, scoring Thomas. Lord went to third on Oldring's out, Fletcher to Merkle. Collins flew out to Devore; one run.

FOURTH INNING. New York—Snodgrass flew out to left. Murray flew out to Murphy. Merkle hit a fast one over second and Collins duplicated the trick when he got Meyers at first sensationally; no runs.

Philadelphia—Baker singled. On a hit and run play Baker went to third on Murphy's single to center. Baker scored on a beautiful slide to the plate. Ames, in trying to field Barry's beautiful bunt to first, hit Barry on the top of the head and Murphy and Davis crouched, and Barry himself coming home on Murray's wild throw, attempting to catch Barry at second. Thomas fanned. Bender was thrown out, Boyle to first. Lord flew out to Devore. Four runs.

FIFTH. New York—Herzog fanned; Fletcher grounded out, Bender to Davis. Meyers singled. Crandall, who was batting for Ames, walked. Devore fanned; no runs.

Philadelphia—Wilson was now pitching for the Giants. Oldring lifted a fly to Devore and was out. Collins was out, Witse to Merkle. Baker was put out at first, unassisted; no runs.

SIXTH. New York—Doyle fouled out to Baker; Snodgrass flew out to Oldring, who made a brilliant catch. Murray walked, and was forced out, Barry to Collins; no runs.

Philadelphia—Murphy doubled and Davis advanced Murphy to third on his out, Doyle to Merkle. Murphy scored on Barry's sacrifice fly to Devore; Thomas fanned; one run.

SEVENTH. New York—Herzog was given a lift on Barry's fumble. Fletcher fouled out to Davis. Meyers fanned, and Witse likewise fanned; no runs.

Philadelphia—Bender flew out to Doyle. Lord beat out an infield hit on Oldring's single to center; Lord went to third and Oldring took second, later on the throw to third. On a squeeze play Lord scored on Collins' grounder to Witse. Oldring scored on Baker's single over Doyle's head, Collins taking second. Davis singled to right, scoring Baker, and Murphy taking third. Barry doubled over the temporary fence in right field, scoring Murphy. Davis going to third. Marquard here relieved Witse. Davis and Barry both scored on a wild pitch; Thomas singled, Thomas was out stealing second, and Bender struck out. Seven runs.

EIGHTH. New York—Devore grounded out, Barry to Davis. Doyle was out, Davis to Bender; Snodgrass given a lift on Barry's fumble. Murray went out, Collins to Davis; no runs.

Philadelphia—Wilson was now catching for the Giants. Lord doubled to left on Oldring's fly to Snodgrass; Lord took third. Then Collins went out, Boyle to Merkle and Baker fanned; no runs.

NINTH. New York—Merkle flew out to Barry. Herzog grounded out, and was out stealing second, and Bender struck out. Seven runs.

CRIPPEN'S FATE ISGITED BY GIRL

Sensational Letter to Alleged Cyanide Poisoner Is Intercepted by New York Police.

New York, Oct. 26.—"Dear Mac—Be careful. You know what happened to Dr. Crippen," is the text of a letter alleged to be from Miss Florence Bromley to Allison MacFarland, held for the grand jury in Newark on suspicion of the murder of his wife, Frank M. McDermitt, attorney for MacFarland, reported that the original of this letter had been intercepted by the Newark police before reaching the prisoner and gave out the foregoing as its principal sentence. He contended he could show that it was not significant.

When Wilbur M. Mott, county prosecutor, was asked about this letter he said that he had not heard of its existence, and if he knew of the receipt by MacFarland of such a message he would have his author arrested.

Mr. McDermitt followed with the statement that the police had taken from MacFarland a letter intended for Miss Bromley which ran:

"Dear Dunny: It's a shame since our affairs were going so smoothly. Don't you care. The worst is that we can only die. It was probably a mistake as my wife did not know of our affairs. She may have done it purposely. (Signed) MAC."

Girl Ready to Testify. Miss Bromley was MacFarland's stenographer for three years in Philadelphia. A representative of her father, John H. Bromley, and herself, has notified the Philadelphia police that the girl stands ready to testify in the case against MacFarland whenever she is wanted.

When asked about several letters found in his Newark home after his arrest and written by Miss Bromley, MacFarland stated that their appearance of intimacy was due to Miss Bromley's knowledge that he had pawned in Milwaukee his wife's jewelry, including a diamond brooch and a pearl necklace which she supposed were in storage in Michigan.

His wife, he said, was unfamiliar with his financial stress while it was known to Miss Bromley through her employment as his stenographer.

The letter quoted, however, Mr. McDermitt said his client admitted writing to Miss Bromley last Wednesday after MacFarland had found his wife dead in their home, No. 246 Park avenue, Newark, supposedly from cyanide poison. The letters alleged to be from Miss Bromley to MacFarland found in his home all begin with endearing expressions, such as "My dearest," "Beloved," "My own," &c.

Indanapolis, Oct. 26.—That department of justice agents have been investigating allegations against John J. McNamara of conspiracy to destroy buildings by dynamite has become known here. A federal grand jury will soon open an investigation. Subpoenas have been issued for witnesses.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—The Giants and Athletics clashed in the sixth game of the world's championship series at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Philadelphia team is grievously disappointed by the failure to defeat the Giants yesterday, and went in today's contest to clinch the championship.

"Eddie" Plank, the Athletics' reliable left hand pitcher, probably will be selected to stop the Giants' batting attack, and Ames or Crandall seemed the likely choice of the Giants for the pitcher's mound.

The weather is splendid for the game, and a long line of people stood in front of the downtown ticket offices waiting to purchase reserved seats this morning and at the ball ground's office there was another long line. Thousands of people stood at the bleacher gates shortly after they opened at 9 o'clock. The Athletics reported at Shibe Park at 10 o'clock and all got into their uniforms and began batting practice.

The probable batting order is as follows: New York—Devore, 1f; Doyle, 2b; Snodgrass, cf; Murray, rf; Merkle, 1b; Herzog, 3b; Fletcher, ss; Meyers, c; Crandall or Ames, p.

Philadelphia—Lord, 1f; Oldring, cf; Collins, 2b; Baker, 3b; Murphy, rf; Davis, 1b; Barry, ss; Thomas, c; Plank, p.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 26.—Jack Coombs, the brilliant pitcher of the Athletics, is in bed at his home with serious internal injuries. In the sixth inning of yesterday's game at New York, he wrenched his intestines and today his condition is worse.

His physician has called in two other doctors and they have succeeded in reducing the injury saying that no operation will be necessary. Coombs will be in bed a week, but he will be able to pitch again next season.

Coombs said that in the sixth his cleats caught in the pitcher's box and when he delivered a ball he felt a terrific jar. The pain was intense in his right side, but he kept on pitching. Rupture of the intestines killed Mike Powers, an Athletic catcher, several years ago.

IN THE LEAD

Politics and Masonry in Opelousas Case Bitter Charges and Counter-Charges Feature M'Ree Trial—Judge Upholds Sheriff.

Opelousas, La., Oct. 26.—The examination of talesmen to serve on the jury that is to pass on the guilt or innocence of Mrs. Zee Runge McRee for the alleged murder of young Allan Garland, was resumed yesterday afternoon following a hard-fought but futile effort of the prosecution to have a special panel of talesmen dismissed because of alleged bias in their selection. After excusing several talesmen, P. C. Hidalgo of Opelousas, a farmer, was accepted as the third juror.

Politics and masonry were injected into the proceedings and during the heated arguments of opposing counsel the charge of bias in the selection of talesmen was hurled back at the prosecution by Judge Hunter, of counsel for the defense, who charged that an alleged plan to secure talesmen favorable to the Garlands had been made.

Verbal clashes between counsel were frequent and at times presaged more serious consequences. Judge Peavy, after hearing testimony made arguments on the state's motion to dismiss the special panel, decided that the charge that Sheriff Swords had acted improperly in talking Pickens Butler, an alleged partisan of the defense, with him on his trip to summon talesmen, had not been sustained. The motion was overruled.

The court also overruled the motion of the defense that District Attorney R. Lee Garland, who previously had been excused because of his relation to the deceased, be barred from active participation in the trial.

EXPLOSION WRECKS HOUSE; 20 INJURED

Nine Believed to Be Penned in Ruins of Gas-Wrecked Tenement.

New York, Oct. 26.—Twenty persons were injured, two fatally, and nine are missing as a result of a gas explosion which wrecked a tenement house on Powell street, Brooklyn, this morning. The ruins are being searched for bodies of the injured, seven of whom are children.

Gas leaked from a cellar into four store rooms on the ground floor and the explosion came from all four rooms simultaneously.

TO EXPEDITE HEARING OF THE M'NAMARA CASE

State and Defense Try to Get Together as to Jury Service Modifications.

Los Angeles, Oct. 26.—That apparently antagonistic theories of state and defense regarding jury service qualifications may be reconciled or defined sufficiently to expedite the further examination of talesmen was regarded as likely today when court reconvened in the McNamara murder case.

The last venireman of the 125 summoned was under examination when court adjourned yesterday and the problem of assembling more veniremen became perplexing.

More than any other cause, objection to finding a verdict of guilty on circumstantial evidence slowed down progress in obtaining a jury.

Just how to obtain more veniremen was a question discussed by opposing counsel. It was said the defense might object to taking veniremen from other branches of the Superior court. The alternative seemed to be the summoning of a new venire, which might take days.

Eight veniremen were excused for cause yesterday.

WAR MINISTER KILLED; MUTINY

General Yin Tchang, Commanding Chinese Imperial Army, Slain by His Own Disaffected Troops.

MANCHU OFFICIALS FLEE TO SHANG-HAI

Sho-Chuen Province Controlled by Revolutionists—The American Legation Asks Protection.

Shanghai, Oct. 26.—It is reported that the minister of war, General Yin Tchang, commanding the imperial forces, was assassinated by his own troops, and that the imperial artillery was seized by the revolutionists.

The rebels are throwing up entrenchments at Kiu-Kiang and the entire province of Sho-Chuen is practically controlled by the rebels. Manchu officials from every quarter are coming to Shanghai.

Shang Nounan-Husi Dismissed. Washington, Oct. 26.—Shang Nounan-Husi, president of the Chinese ministry and minister of posts and communication, has been dismissed. Tong-Shuo-Yi is appointed to succeed him, according to state department advices.

Ask More Warships. Peking, Oct. 26.—The American legation has requested that more warships be sent to Chinese waters as the present number is insufficient to cover the ports endangered.

Ultimatum to the Throne. Further defection to the rebels, including Nan-Chang, capital of the province of Kiang-Si, and Kwed-Lin, capital of Kwan-Si, have served to increase the tension here of the revolution. To add to the seriousness of the situation, the Tzu Cheng Yuan, China's first national assembly, yesterday gave to the Manchus what the legations consider an ultimatum.

The assembly impeached Shang Nounan Husi, president of the ministry of posts and communications, and demanded his dismissal with severe punishment.

A reply is required from the government, failing which the assembly will dissolve and the members return to their respective provinces. From the temper shown, it is believed the government is either to sacrifice a man who is considered by foreigners the strongest member of the cabinet, or retaining him, declare war on the assembly, as well as the vast majority of Chinese.

That movements against Shang Nounan Husi were formulated by the people of Sze-Chuen, Hua-Peh and Nunnan. Shang negotiated the loans for the nationalization of the railways and has been a leading advocate of the anti-provincial policy which is regarded as largely responsible for the revolution. The inhabitants of these provinces have shown strong opposition to the proposed railway. At the meeting of the assembly yesterday members urged that they were not against foreign loans, but against the methods employed and the results which were tantamount to robbing Chinese, who had already begun the railways, and selling them out to foreigners.

ROSS FRENCH CONVICTED MURDER FIRST DEGREE

Entire Trial Consumed Less Than Half Day in Swain County Court.

Special to the Gazette-News. Bryson City, N. C., Oct. 26.—Ross French, the Indian who was charged with killing Miss Ethel Shuler, a 14 years old girl, near Birdtown about a month ago, was today tried before Judge Webb in the Swain county Superior court being held here, and was convicted of murder in the first degree.

French was arrested near here shortly after the crime was committed and was taken to Haywood county because of threats of a lynching. It was reported, however, that the mob intended going there after him, and he was hurried to Asheville and placed in the Buncombe county jail. He was kept there until yesterday, when J. E. Coburn went after him.

He was placed on trial this morning and the entire trial and finding of the verdict by the jury consumed less than half a day.

RICHESON CASE TO GRAND JURY

Special Body Today Hears Evidence Against Baptist Minister, Accused of Girl's Murder.

CLAIMS ENGAGEMENT WAS LONG AGO BROKEN

Preacher Tells Miss Edmonds, Heiress Fiancee, That Avis Linnell Returned Ring Voluntarily.

Boston, Oct. 26.—A special grand jury today began considering the evidence against Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, pastor of Immanuel Baptist church, Cambridge, charged with murdering Miss Avis Linnell. The jury may require several days to hear the witnesses.

For the first time since Richeson was arrested, one of his friends told his story of his relations with Miss Linnell.

The explanation Mr. Richeson is said to have given to his fiancée, Miss Edmonds, and her father and mother is responsible for their belief that the pastor did not kill Avis Linnell. Mr. Richeson told Miss Edmonds that his engagement to Avis Linnell was ended for all time last winter. He said he had letters to his possession, communications written to him by Miss Linnell, which would bear out his version of the broken engagement. The return of the diamond ring that he had placed upon Avis Linnell's finger is explained as her voluntary act.

Other letters from Miss Linnell which the accused pastor will show in court, it is said, told him of a serious trouble which she was in and pleaded with him to advise her. His advice, the preacher said, was sought by Miss Linnell because she trusted him as a minister and a friend, although their engagement had been broken.

Said She Yearned For Stage. "Mr. Richeson told Miss Edmonds," said his friend, "that he was not responsible for Miss Linnell's decision to come from Hyannis to Boston to study music. He said she told him she had made up her mind she would rather be an opera singer than a minister's wife."

The friend says Mr. Richeson said to him: "There was a time when I thought no girl in the world could compare with her. And I eagerly looked forward to the time when I could make her my wife. But trouble that I had not dreamed of arose."

Tells Father He Is Innocent. Col. Thomas C. Richeson of Amherst, Mass., visited in Charles Street jail yesterday his youngest son, Rev. Clarence. Since the young man left his Virginia home seven years ago to enter the Baptist ministry, his father had not seen him until yesterday, and the meeting was dramatic.

In the first words of greeting, even before he clasped hands with his father through the bars of his cell door, the clergyman exclaimed: "Father, I am innocent."

The veteran Confederate soldier who has a long expressed belief in his son's innocence, was visibly affected. He grasped the bars for support, while he answered only: "My boy, my boy!"

For more than an hour father and son conversed and Colonel Richeson then left the jail as he came, in a closed carriage.

The exhumation of the body of Miss Linnell precipitated the first court clash between attorneys for the prosecution and for the defense. It was the former which scored for Judge Murray in municipal court, ruled against the petition of Attorney Philip R. Dunbar that the defense be present at a second autopsy.

The body was subjected to an examination by Medical Examiner Timothy Leary, following which District Attorney Pelletier issued a statement declaring that no poison receptacle was found buried with the body. He also suggested the possibility that another poison as well as cyanide of potassium may have been used.
