HUMOROUS QUIPS

Lines to a Husband.

[As Sir John Suckling might have written it.] Why so peevish, married brother? Why so peevish and pale? Will, if saying "No" can't move her, Sulking thus prevail? Why so peevish and pale?

Why so mute, you stinky sinner? Prithes, why so mute? Will, when reason cannot win her, Saying nothing do't? Prithes, why so mute?

Quit the sulka! 'Twill get your goat If foolishly you let. If she wants a Persian coat You may safely bet. That in the end she'll get it! —Buffalo News.

Undoubtedly Genuine. The mistress observed one morning that her dusky butler was wearing a ring with a setting almost large enough for a beacon light, if it had possessed the proper brilliancy. Later in the day she chanced to hear a conversation between the butler and the maid.

"Am dat a genuine diamond yo' is sportin', Jake?" the maid asked, suspicion and hope about equally balanced in her tone.

"Am dis a dittoht?" reproachfully. "Does yo' s'pose I'd buy anything else fo' a 'gagement ring? Huh! Dis am a dittoht, an' it am gold what it sets in."

"Et yo' mean yo' bought it fo' me yo' will have to tell the price 'fo' I'll believe it's a dittoht. I was fooled once wid a brass ring, an' I don't mean to be caught agahn."

"Cose it's a dittoht, Lucy. It cost $2.50."

"Well, gimme here. Long as it am a genuine dittoht I'll 'cept it fo' a 'gagement ring."—Housekeeper.

Cause for Generosity. "I fear the Greeks even when they bring me gifts," said Senator La Follette apropos of a trust he disliked.

"And when I see this trust being generous and charitable I think of a young Madison man in a smart restaurant."

"This young man's wife said to him in a shocked tone at the end of their repast:

"Why, Jack, how extravagant you are! You tipped that waiter a dollar and a half!"

"Hush!" said Jack. "He brought me change for a twenty when I'd only given him a ten. Would you have me be mean after that?"—New York Press.

Prosaic Justice. A certain employee was universally unkind to customers—to all callers, in fact—and the more inoffensive their appearance and conduct the more offensive his deportment toward them.

One morning the silent partner, who held the controlling interest in the great store, came in unobtrusively to look about and ask questions. And whom should he strike but this insolent clerk!

But the clerk knew him by sight and was so courteous and obliging to him that he was promoted next day.—Buffalo Express.

No Joke. Giles—Take two letters from "money" and "one" will be left. Miles—Is that a joke?

"Yes." "Well, I know a fellow who took money from two letters, and it was no joke. He got twelve months in jail."—Bystander.

Looking Ahead. Contractor—I wish to get a permit to dig up the pavement on Main street. "Why, we can't give you that. There isn't any pavement in Main street." "I know, but I want the permit so that we can dig up the pavement as soon as there is one."—Chicago Record-Herald.

NOTICE. North Carolina, Buncombe County—In the Superior Court, Before the Clerk. Mrs. Ella J. Creasman, formerly Drake, administratrix of the late J. D. Drake, vs. Nora Drake, Anselma Drake and Leona Drake, heirs-at-law.—NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATRIX SALE.

By virtue of an order of Marcus Erwin, clerk of the Superior court of Buncombe county, North Carolina, in the above entitled action, I will on Tuesday, January 23, 1912, between the hours of 12 noon, and 2 p. m., at the court house door of said county, sell for cash to the highest bidder all the right, title and interest which the said Ella J. Drake, administratrix of the late J. D. Drake, deceased, had in the following described real estate, to-wit: A piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Inanda, Lower Hontony township, Buncombe county, state of North Carolina, and bounded and more particularly described as follows: Beginning at a stake on the west margin of the Bear Creek road, J. B. Ingle's northeast corner, and runs with the Bear Creek road north 5 deg. west 65 feet to a stake; Mrs. P. Southern's, formerly J. B. Ingle's, corner; thence with the southern line north 89 deg. west 221 feet to a stake on the new road leading to the Inley home; thence with the said road south 13 deg. west 87 feet to a stake; J. B. Ingle's northwest corner; then with said Ingle's line north 89 deg. east 145 feet 6 inches to the beginning corner.

LIVES ON RAW FRUITS.

Chicago Woman Says 32 Cents a Day Will Provide For Three.

Throw out the cook stove and live on raw fruits and vegetables if you would decrease the cost of living.

For eight years this has been the motto of Mrs. Charles Smith, vegetarian and suffragist, who resides at 4323 Hazel avenue and to whom the high cost of living agitation is all a joke. Other axioms of Mrs. Smith are: Wear clothing made of vegetable fiber, eat vegetarian foods and follow the meaning of one little word—simplicity.

If your complexion is bad throw away cosmetics—eat oranges. But, above all things, get rid of the cook stove. There is nothing elevating in society dinners any more than there is in ragtime music.

These observations were made by Mrs. Smith when as president of the Chicago Vegetarian society she called the first fall meeting of the organization to order in Kimball hall.

When asked concerning her decreased cost of living meals at the close of the meeting Mrs. Smith gave the noon and night menus of herself and husband, for they eat but two meals a day. Upon such a delicious and extravagant array of food a family of three may live, she says, for 30 cents a day.

Here is what they ate: For Breakfast—Pecans and dates, sliced tomatoes and lemon juice and grapes.

For Dinner—Celery and lettuce, sun dried olives, apples, whole wheat crackers, honey, figs and Brazil nuts.

"The civilized ideas of today are killing the race," declared Mrs. Jean Roberts Albert, secretary of the society. "We cater to degeneracy. We should live more simply, more primitively. Plenty of pure raw foods and plenty of sunshine are all that is required."—Chicago Record-Herald.

MOTION PICTURES. The First Crude Attempt to Show a Trotting Horse in Action.

Probably the man who can claim the greatest credit for moving pictures is Edward Muybridge of Oakland, Cal., who at the instigation of Governor Leeland Stanford of California made countless pictures of the governor's celebrated trotter Accident, the first horse to trot a mile in 2:20 west of the Rocky mountains. Occident was the pride of the governor's heart, and he engaged Muybridge to photograph him in every conceivable size and shape in making a series of snapshots of the horse's action. Muybridge was enabled to show the exact motion.

In order to satisfy the governor he thought of a novel scheme of placing a number of cameras covering at least one-tenth of a mile. From these cameras he stretched silk threads across the track at about the height of the trotter's knee. These threads being broken, each camera made a separate distinct picture of the horse, and by putting them together and rifting from the thumb the horse could be seen as in actual motion.

In 1885 Muybridge sailed for England and there, in connection with six or seven others, evolved the first moving picture camera. In about 1886 some of these cameras reached America. In 1887 the patent office at Washington commenced to receive a wash of applications for moving picture apparatus both for taking and projecting purposes.—Popular Mechanics.
