SNATCH PURSES, FRIGHTEN WOMEN

Several Assaults at Night, Recently, on Residence Streets, Greensboro.

SOME OF THE LADIES NOW TOTTING PISTOLS

Rumors of Sale of the Fries Street Railway in Winston-Salem Are Denied.

Gazette-News Bureau, Daily News Building, Greensboro, Dec. 29.

Several purse-snatching and hold-up episodes during the night time on partially deserted residential streets of Greensboro have been reported to the police and while arrests of suspects were made sufficient evidence to warrant holding to court was not obtainable. One of the cases occurred on South Eugene street when a young lady employed by the Cone Commission company had her purse, containing $18, snatched from her hand by a negro. She was walking along the street to her home when suddenly her purse was wrenched from her hand. She turned and saw a man, whom she recognized as a negro, disappear. Another assault occurred on Guilford avenue when a negro seized a young lady while on her way home. She screamed and the man, likewise a negro, became frightened, released his grip and made a quick getaway. It is said that as a result of these hold crimes several ladies of the town, who are forced to be out after dark, have adopted the habit of carrying a revolver for self-protection.

Chatham County Couple Wedded.
A quiet wedding was solemnized in the parlors of the Cleag hotel yesterday morning at 11:30 o'clock when Miss Edie Womble and Hamble L. Stone, both of Siler City, Chatham county, were married by Rev. R. C. Kendrick, pastor of the Forest Avenue Baptist church. The young couple came to Greensboro from their home for the purpose of marrying. They were accompanied by Miss Georgia Womble, a sister of the bride, and J. C. Elder, both of Siler City. Upon arrival here a marriage license was promptly procured, the minister summoned and the ceremony performed. Mr. Stone is a prominent young farmer of Chatham county while the bride is a handsome young lady of Siler City. Mr. and Mrs. Stone returned to Siler City during the afternoon.

Married at Reidsville.
Another wedding of interest occurred at Reidsville yesterday afternoon when Miss Mattie Lee Rives of Greensboro became the bride of Harry H. Clendenin, also of this place. Mr. Clendenin and his bride-elect went to Reidsville in an automobile. The wedding came as a surprise to the many friends of the young people in Greensboro. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Rives of Greensboro while Mr. Clendenin holds a position as traveling salesman for Ballance & Co.

Petition in Bankruptcy.
An involuntary petition was filed in United States District court yesterday afternoon by attorneys for Reinehart, Meyers & Co., the Virginia Shoe company and the W. H. Miles Shoe company praying the court to appoint R. H. Wall and Henry Webster, trading under the firm name of Wall & Cardwell of Madison, Rockingham county, bankrupt. The answer in the case was made returnable January 5 before Judge Boyd and in the meantime F. B. Kemp of Madison is made temporary receiver. A restraining order was also granted to prevent the sheriff of Rockingham county from selling the property of the firm under the hammer to satisfy a judgment obtained in the state courts.

Mayor T. J. Murphy, Commissioner F. A. Brown and Rev. R. Murphy Covenant, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, were the dinner guests of Commissioner J. G. Foushee Wednesday night at Mr. Foushee's home on Mitchell street, when an old-fashioned Christmas affair was enjoyed. The affair was greatly enjoyed by the invited guests.

Rumors Positively Denied.
Rumors that the North Carolina Public Service company had acquired the street railway properties of the Fries and associates in Winston-Salem were given positive and emphatic denial yesterday by officials of both the Fries and Public Service companies. The additional statement

CAN'T BE SEPARATED
Some Asheville People Have Learned How to Get Rid of Both.

Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers. You can't separate them. And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache. If the kidneys are well and strong, the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health. Doan's Kidney Pills make strong, healthy kidneys. T. R. Redman, 457 N. Main St., Asheville, N. C., says: "I cannot speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, for they restored me to health and strength. I spent a great deal of money trying to get something that would rid me of my trouble, but all to no avail. My back pained me a great deal and my body was stiff and lame. The kidney secretions also gave me great annoyance. At last I was induced to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I obtained a box at Smith's Drug Store. The difficulties from which I suffered so long were soon removed and during the past several years, there has been no recurrence of my trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S POSER FOR TAFT

ing in view the abrogation of the Russian treaty) would be relieved from the present taint of evident insincerity—although even then they would represent a very small advance over our present position.

"It is possible with sincerity and patriotism to favor the arbitration treaties (although I personally disagree with this view). It is possible with sincerity and patriotism to oppose the arbitration treaties. But I am neither sincere nor patriotic to make believe to support the principle of arbitration in general, and to try to get the country to commit itself to this principle, and at the same time to take part in, or to connive at, the repudiation of this country of the principle so loudly advocated, the very first moment that it is possible to reduce that principle to practice in other words, it will get this country into a position both ridiculous and discreditable to pass the proposed general arbitration treaties at the same time that we denounce our general treaty with Russia.

Calls Arbitration Advocates Inconsistent.
"The other day the lower house, with but one dissenting vote, passed a resolution in favor of the abrogation of the treaty. Among those who voted for this motion were many who declared themselves in opposition to the arbitration treaties. These men occupy a sincere and consistent position; it is the position with which I personally agree. The one dissenting vote was that cast by a gentleman who announced that he was in favor of the general arbitration treaties, and therefore could not consistently take a position wholly incompatible with favoring them. Although I do not agree with this gentleman, I feel that his position showed both courage and sincerity. But surely all men who think clearly must unqualifiedly condemn any man who advocates the general arbitration treaties without at the same time fearlessly showing his sincerity by denouncing the proposal to abrogate the Russian treaty without submitting its intention to arbitration. The senate by vote has joined in abrogating the Russian treaty and therefore it will act in a way to cast discredit upon the United States if it approves the arbitration treaties unmodified. At the recent New York peace meeting in favor of the treaties (which ended in a riot) it was not creditable to the speakers for these treaties that they did not venture to declare themselves on the one practical issue of the kind the treaties are expected to settle, which was actually before the people—that is, the matter of the abrogation of the Russian treaty without effort to get it authoritatively interpreted.

"It cannot be too often repeated that these general arbitration treaties are nothing whatever but general promises. Their value lies wholly in the sincerity with which the promise is made and the fullness with which the promise is redeemed. I do not believe in making these promises, because I think that we are promising too much, and because, moreover, I fully believe that, as our action in abrogating the Russian treaty, is equivalent to open and cynical confession that as a people we do not intend to keep our promises, that we have no regard for the good faith of the nation, that we are willing to make impropriately sweeping promises to please one set of men and at the same time scandalously to break these promises to please another set of men.

"These treaties are drawn in such sweeping and vague general terms, especially in the use of the word 'justifiable,' that they might, in any wholly proper sense, be held to include anything or nothing, and to encourage just the kind of double-dealing and bad faith which is now being shown. One thing is certain: If the question of the interpretation of a treaty is not 'justiciable,' then there never can be any question arise which is justiciable. If the action taken in abrogating the Russian treaty is not better and complete violation of the treaty, whose spirit and purpose of the proposed arbitration treaties, then the latter are not worth the paper on which they are written. I believe that we are right in abrogating the Russian treaty, just because I also believe that the general arbitration treaties are not worth the paper on which they are written.

"The point upon which I insist is that this nation should behave without hypocrisy and with a straightforward sincerity in its international relations; that it should not lie, nor make promises which it would not keep. I do not question the honesty and sincerity of the many good people who, without sufficient thought, and in response to a vague general sentiment in favor of both peace and justice which falls to realize that sometimes justice can be obtained only at the expense of justice, have advocated both the universal arbitration treaties and the abrogation of the Russian treaty. But when the nation, through its government, acts, it cannot plead the excuse of lack of thought. If as a people our nation is insincere and lacking in straightforwardness, then, when this action has been officially taken, we cannot escape the charge of hypocrisy when later we fall to lie by our promises.

"It is a great hypocrisy for this nation to support the so-called arbitration treaties at the same time that we abrogate the Russian treaty, and to do so in the name of a nation which is in the habit of lying, of not keeping its promises, of not being sincere, and of not being just.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Courses of aeronautics soon will be established in American universities to fit young men for the profession of flying and airship building. This advance in education was predicted yesterday by Prof. A. Prof. Roach said the United States was far behind European countries in establishing laboratories for the study of aeronautics.

U.S. GOVERNMENT WORST OF LABOR EMPLOYERS

Experts Say Private Employers Are Much More Considerate Than Nation.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Courses of aeronautics soon will be established in American universities to fit young men for the profession of flying and airship building. This advance in education was predicted yesterday by Prof. A. Lawrence Roach, of Blue Hill meteorological observatory, Boston, in an address before the American association for the advancement of science. Prof. Roach said the United States was far behind European countries in establishing laboratories for the study of aeronautics.

Effective legislation to protect the person and rights of the American laborer was the subject of discussion in the opening meeting of the American laborer was the subject of discussion in the opening meeting of the American association for labor legislation. Prof. Henry S. Eager of Columbia university, who presided at the meeting urged the establishment of a federal commission of industrial diseases for which legislation now is pending in congress.

"Not more than 15 per cent of the men injured in work accidents are able to obtain compensation under the so-called common law," said John H. Wallace, a member of the industrial commission of the state of Washington. Mr. Wallace characterized the nation as "a bad employer," and his view was endorsed by I. M. Rubinow, a famous expert of the national bureau of labor, who said private corporations gave employees much more consideration and care than does the government.

"There must be immediate legislation if the United States government is not willing to remain among the worst of employers," he said. Cheap illuminating gas for consumers in the near future through the advancement of science was predicted by Prof. Chas. F. Munro of Washington in an address before the American Chemical society.

THE MARKETS

New York, Dec. 29.—Initial losses were mostly turned into slight gains on the stock market today. Recovery from the lowest ran to a point in some leaders. Some wide movements accrued among the specialties.

The markets undertone was weak during the morning trading. The market subsequently moved up again. Cotton Active and Fairly Steady. New York, Dec. 29.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 7 points to an advance of 5 points. December and January being lower. Other months were unchanged to 5 points higher. Trading was very active. The decline in the near positions was reflected in the circulation of a few additional December notices. Notices issued against January contracts were estimated at 100,000 bales.

The whole lot turned steeper before the first hour ended, December continued relatively easy, ruling about 9 points net lower. Later positions sold 2 or 3 points above yesterday's closing figures.

The market continued steady late in the forenoon, owing to the firm close of Liverpool, indications that January Active and Fairly Steady taken up and covering for over the week-end. Prices at midday were about 3 to 7 points net higher on active positions.
