AN ELEGANT HOME FOR THE NEW BANK

Most of the Central Bank and Trust Company's Fixtures
Have Arrived.

OPENS FOR BUSINESS
EARLY IN NEXT WEEK

It is to Be a Popular Institution, a Conservative, Business Men's Bank.

The Central Bank and Trust company of Asheville, recently organized under the state banking laws with a capital of $50,000 and $5000 surplus, will be open for business probably during the first part of next week, as practically all of the fixtures have arrived and will be installed by that time. There are some smaller pieces of furniture yet to come, after which the bank will have its formal opening at a date yet to be determined. The opening was postponed from March 4, because the fixtures had not arrived.

The safe, safety deposit boxes, vault doors, etc., arrived this morning and are now being installed; most of the wooden fixtures, cages, etc., have already been set up, and the place already begins to look like business.
This will be one of the really handsome banks of the city. Its attractivness is enhanced by its situation in the Legal building, probably the most modern in the city. The fixtures are of mahogany and the metal grills have the oxidized copper finish. The base and coin plates are of dark marble. The room is subdivided about as most banks are, with teller's, cashier's and collector's cages, a stall for ladies, "with mirror," the president's office, and in the back is the directors' room where business men are invited to come for the transaction of any matters they may have on hand.

The vault is large and has thick brick walls with concrete top. It has two doors and in it are the safe and the safety deposit boxes. Valuables will be doubly safe, as the vault is fireproof and is in a fireproof building.

Above all things the officers of the new bank desire it understood that it is a popular institution, a business men's bank, which will be conducted on a conservative basis. It has stockholders to the number of 130, all safe business men, and its directors are among the leading business men of the city, whose success in the business world is well established.

The institution will do a general banking business in all branches, which well expresses the purpose of its organization, and among these branches are the savings department where deposits of $1 and up will be accepted and the 4 per cent interest is compounded quarterly; the safe deposit branch, provisions having been made to furnish boxes for rent; the trust feature, fiduciary business in connection with estates, etc., being solicited.

C. W. Brown of the Brown-Miller Shoe company is the president of the institution; W. B. McEwen, a prominent lumberman, vice president; and Wallace Davis, who has had years of experience in the banking business, the cashier.

The directors are as follows: C. W.
Brown, W. B. McEwen, W. R. Davis, J. R. Oates, B. R. Moore, C. N. Brown, J. C. Artz, J. M. English, J. W.
Rutherford, H. B. Stevens, T. S. Rollins, Dr. J. A. Sinclair, J. D. Earle, Eugene Carland. The personnel of the officers and directorate is an excellent indication as to what the character of the institution will be.

New Spring Suits Make a Strong Bid for Favor

Styles and Quality Form a Winning Combination.
Then add moderate price, and you have ALL the desirable qualities that any one could demand.

No woman is going to ask for a smarter suit—or a better one—or a finer investment for her money than she can find in our garment section.

We have a representative showing of new Spring Styles. They range from plain to dressy models. Simpler effects are especially prominent, with their jaunty jackets and narrow skirts they are very fetching. Materials are stylish—coloring charming.

Carlyle and Black.
An amusing anecdote of Carlyle told in Allingham's diary, is also mentioned in his letters. William Black wrote to Allingham that it had always been one of the ambitions of his life "to see Carlyle face to face," and asking the poet to try to arrange for a five minutes' interview. Allingham brought about the desired meeting, at which Carlyle's inquiry, "Well, sir, and when are you going to seriously set about writing a book?" must have astonished the popular novelist.—London Nation.

ATTEMPT TO KILL MR. DE ROTHSCHILD
MR. LEOPOLD DE ROTHSCHILD
An attempt to shoot Mr. Leopold de Rothschild was made by a man as Mr. Rothschild was entering an automobile in front of the bank, in St. Swithin lane, in the city of London. Mr. Rothschild was not hit by the bullet. The man was arrested. He is said to be a anarchist.

R. M. DEEVER
Former Resident of Madison County Dies at Home of Daughter, Mrs. L. B. McBrayer.
R. M. Deever, aged 74, died at 11:20 o'clock this morning from a complication of diseases at the home of his father-in-law, Dr. L. B. McBrayer, on Montford avenue. Mr. Deever, who was a native of Madison county, had been in feeble health for several years. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Hester Rollins of this city and Mrs. Mattie McElroy of Mars Hill; and two daughters, Mrs. L. B. McBrayer and Mrs. W. E. Logan of West Asheville.
Mr. Deever was one of the best known citizens in this part of the state and was widely respected. This information of his death will be received with regret by his many friends.
The funeral arrangements have not been made.

WOMAN PROTESTS SHE IS INNOCENT

Mystery Surrounds the Shooting of Wealthy Atlanta Building Contractor.

Atlanta, Ga., March 7.—"God knows I am innocent," exclaimed Mrs. Daisy Ulrich-Opie Grace yesterday afternoon after her release on bail pending a hearing on the charge of assault with attempt to murder her young husband, Eugene H. Grace, prominent building contractor, who was mysteriously shot at their handsome Eleventh street home Tuesday.

While the doctors at St. Joseph's infirmary are endeavoring to save the life of the seriously wounded husband the police are searching for more facts to support their theory that the crime was committed by the wife.

The physicians state that Grace has but slight chance for recovery. The bullet penetrated the left side, going through the lung and lodging near the spinal cord. Pneumonia has already set in, they stated.

Not in years has Atlanta been stirred as it was when details of the mystery became generally known. Developments have followed fast since Grace telephoned to the police at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to rush a doctor to his house as he had been shot.

Mrs. Grace was located at Newman, Ga., at the home of her mother-in-law, who accompanied her back to the city. On her arrival Mrs. Grace was arrested and taken at once, at her own request, to the hospital to which her husband had been removed.

A Dramatic Meeting.
The meeting of the husband and wife was dramatic.
"Daisy, you are the one who shot me."
"Why, how can you," she protested, "you are trying to make me out a murderess and they will take me to jail."
"You are the one who tried to kill me," Grace repeated.

"If you persist in that I will take the power of attorney which you exercise away from you," said Mrs. Grace, who was formerly the wife of a wealthy Philadelphia pulp manufacturer.
Grace then relented.
"I don't know who did it," he said. Here is the story told by Mrs. Grace:
"I left the house at 12:15 o'clock to go to Newman, where I was to stay while Mr. Grace was in Philadelphia, for which place he planned to leave on an afternoon train. When I left him my husband was about ready to get up. I know that he was not feeling well but did not think he was even sick. He said he would meet me at the depot, but when he failed to do so I went on to Newman, thinking that he had been detained on business. The next thing I heard was when I reached the home of his mother. They said there that Gene had been shot. Then, I don't know what I did, I may have fainted, I was horrified when told I was accused of shooting my husband. My arrest and the accusation of my husband is all a horrible mistake."
Grace told the police that he first discovered he was shot at 5 o'clock

AGED VETERAN PASSES

William Brown Dies at His Home on Gash's Creek at the Age of 90—Funeral Today.
