

CLOSING CHAPTER IN TITANIC DISASTER—STEAMSHIP WITH CARGO OF DEAD AT HALIFAX

THE MACKAY-BENNETT AT HER PIER. COPYRIGHT BY POWERS ENGRAVING CO.

COPYRIGHT BY POWERS ENGRAVING CO.

Unclaimed by relatives or friends, seventy-five of the Titanic's victims were buried in the cemeteries just outside of Halifax, N. S. All the graves on the hillside, facing the sea. In all the churches of Halifax funeral services were celebrated, not only for the dead brought to this port, but also for those who went down with the White Star steamship and whose bodies never came to the surface. All the bodies that are buried in Halifax were carefully examined by experts, and should delayed inquiries be made for any of the seventy-five identification would not be difficult. Anthony J. Biddle and Vincent Astor were among those at Halifax when the Mackay-Bennett arrived with the bodies of the victims.

Gerns.

I have just spanked Ned, I don't know what course you will pursue with Stephen," remarked Mrs. Williams' intimate friend. "What have the boys been up to now?" she asked. "About the very last thing that you'd imagine. They've been eating luncheon with the Italian laborers, working along the car track, and you might as well know the worst of it at once. They've been eating meat cooked in a shovel." With a frantic vision of a hopelessly germ-ridden child, Mrs. Williams called her son to immediate account. "I didn't eat luncheon with any strange men," he indignantly persisted. "Those men are all my dear friends, and I didn't eat any meat cooked in a shovel, either." "What did you eat?" "Only some gravy cooked in a shovel by one of the men." "But it was clean, all right, mother, for I saw the man wipe off the shovel with his hat before he poured the gravy in."—Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

Utilizing the Mirror.

A dentist was filling a lady patron's back teeth. When he had finished with the first tooth he handed the lady a hand mirror that she might see the result for herself. Then he went on with his task, repeating his performance with the mirror after each tooth was filled. Finally, when the job was completed, and she had handed back the mirror with thanks, he said: "Well, Madame, how do they look to you?" "How do what look to me?" she returned. "The teeth I just filled." "Oh, I forgot about the teeth!" she exclaimed, reaching for the hand glass.

"What did you look at each time I gave you the mirror?" "My hair."—Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

The Lax-Fos Way. If you had a medicine that would strengthen the liver, the stomach, the kidneys and the bowels, and at the same time make you strong with a systemic tonic, don't you believe you would soon be well? That's "The Lax-Fos Way." We ask you to buy the first bottle on the money-back plan, and you will ask your druggist to sell you the second.

It keeps your whole insides right. There is nothing else made like Lax-Fos. Remember the name—LAX-FOS.

Untwist It. Fred and Jack, little brothers, hitched their goat to a new wagon, their father bought them. Fred, the younger, got in to drive off, but "Billie" stubbornly refused to budge; whereupon Jack stepped up and gave the goat's tail a vicious twist or two, at which "Billie" made off at a lively gait, to the great pleasure of Fred, the driver. When the goat got started, he did not slow down, but went faster and faster to the great dismay of Fred, who, much frightened, cried to his brother: "Jack, Jack, untwist it, untwist it!"—Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

Hard to Bent. A laborer who was digging a trench in London, laid his coat on the ground nearby. Two fellows thought they would play a joke on him, so they drew a picture of a donkey on the back of it. When quitting time came the man noticed the picture on his coat and the grinning fellows lingering near.

"Which of you wiped yer face on me coat?" he asked.—Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

NOTICE

The undersigned, the Piedmont Directory Company, Publishers of volume No. 11, city directory for 1912, desires to state that the name of Dr. M. J. Costello was erroneously listed in said directory as "retired," when as a matter of fact, he was then and is now a practicing physician in the City of Asheville, holding license from the Medical Boards of North Carolina and Pennsylvania.

We recognize the injustice which such publication might work to the practice of Dr. Costello, and to overcome the same we have taken immediate steps to have same error corrected in each directory issued where in the same error appears, and cause this notice to appear in each issue of the daily papers of Asheville for a period of thirty days.

Big G For 30 Years the Standard Remedy for Diseases of Mucous Membranes

Experienced pharmacists will tell you Big G is the accepted standard remedy for diseases of mucous membranes—discharges from the nose, throat and urinary organs. Avoid substitutes. To experiment is dangerous. Big G, used everywhere since 1880, has proved safe and reliable. Non-poisonous, antiseptic and tonic in its properties, containing no silver nitrate, zinc sulphate, alcohol, cocaine, or any narcotic, it may be used full strength without fear. Why not cure yourself? Sold by druggists, or we ship express prepaid, upon receipt of 10c. Full particulars enclosed with each bottle or mailed sealed in plain envelope on request. To illustrate the value of shorthand to a business man, let me tell you the following story:

A wealthy New Yorker bought a piece of property for $300,000. He strongly suspected that the middle man was making a large profit, although he represented he was getting merely the ordinary broker's commission.

In order to get at the facts the buyer put some questions to the owner who verified the broker's statement. He put down the answer in shorthand, having learned it reluctantly in his youth. The fact of the case was that the owner was only to get $200,000 for his property, and a division of the difference. As usual with people of this type, a row occurred, and the facts came out five years later. The seller of the property and the broker got into a lawsuit. The seller employed one of the best firms of attorneys in New York. The hoodwinked buyer was subpoenaed as a witness, and testified from his shorthand notes. The testimony was so accurate and explicit that the firm of attorneys threw up the case for the original owners and sued and recovered $100,000 for the man whose parents had sense enough to give him a commercial course in shorthand.

This investment paid 100,000 per cent dividend and an investment of $70 in our business courses can always be relied upon to pay a bigger dividend than any investment which you are ever likely to make.

Is it not worth while to have a talk with us?

THE NEW YORK LIFE IN NORTH CAROLINA

Just what the NEW YORK LIFE is doing in NORTH CAROLINA may be somewhat appreciated by a review of the following figures, as to transactions in this State during the past two years.

Insurance in Force in North Carolina, December 31, 1911... $11,957,942 Returned to Policy Holders (during 1910-'11) in:

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Includes Death Claims ($239,992), Dividends, Cash Values, etc. ($214,495), Total ($454,487), Policy Loans to Policy Holders ($236,644), Investments Made in North Carolina ($158,063), Raleigh, N. C., Bonds ($40,000), Charlotte School Bonds ($101,500), Asheville City Bonds ($107,893), Alamance County Bonds ($39,625), Granville County Bonds ($51,000), Hoke County Bonds ($62,175), Winston-Salem Real Estate Loan ($10,000), Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio First Mortgage Bonds ($603,736), Total Payments and Investments ($1,864,567).

During the last two years the New York Life has paid to the policy holders of North Carolina, and invested in the State $1,110,963 more than it has received in premiums.

The New York Life has no capital stock, and therefore, no stockholders to share the profits of the business.

It is a purely mutual organization insuring the holders of over 1,000,000 policies who ARE the Company, who OWN the Company, and who ALONE receive the PROFITS of the Company.

Surely the results of this Company in North Carolina should commend it to every citizen of the State.
