Following the announcement that the fund for advancing this city had been raised there were a number of enthusiastic speeches by those present. F. L. Seely was the first speaker he declared that the campaign Dirth in had been the greatest success Ashetille has ever had. Even, he said, if the amount of money desired had not been raised great benefits would have accrued to the city on account of the spirit that it has aroused among the itizens and business men who been working shoulder to shoulder for the common good. Since the amount has been raised, however, he declared that it should furnish an inspiration to every citizen of the city to do great things and to make of this city a municipality to be envied by all its neighbors.

Mr. Seely paid a very high tribute to the daily papers, declaring that the greatness of a city depends largely on its papers. He said that Asheville has papers with the proper spirit and he orged the business men to stand behind them and patronize them liberally if they desire to see the city grow and their own business flourish.

At the conclusion of his talk he called for contributions to make up the slight deficit and those present opened up their hearts and purse trings and contributed liberally.

W. F. Randolph was the next speaker and he followed up the thought expressed by Mr. Seely by stating that the fraternity spirit that has been created by the campaign is worth more to the city than the actsh that has been raised.
