SUNDAY SPEAKERS

There Were Large Audiences at Both Y. M. C. A. and at Highland Hotel.

One of the most interesting addresses that has been heard for some time at a men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. was delivered yesterday afternoon by Julius C. Martin, president of the association, who spoke on "The Manliness of Christianity." He was heard by a large audience and his address was thoroughly appreciated by all present.

Mr. Martin stated that from the address given upon this subject he had learned that the manliness of a man is not measured by his physical strength and now for their strength of character. He said that this strength of character is indicated by the fact that the man possessing it is unselfish and lives not only for himself but his fellow men and does whatever he believes to be best, whatever the criticisms of the narrow minded may be.

The speaker said that this strength of character is taught by the works of Christ, but that there are varying degrees of such strength possessed by different men. He said that he did not mean to state that only the very strong may survive and receive their reward, but that every man may do his own work, whether large or small. He deplored the fact that some ministers here teach only the "bright side" of Christianity that appeals only to the women and children.

At the Highland hotel meeting 250 B. Brown was the speaker and his subject was "Why Men Fall." This meeting was also largely attended, and the talk delivered by Mr. Brown was a very strong one. His talk was concise and to the point, and he held the undivided attention of all present.

At both meetings the Weaver-Elchorn chorus, under the direction of John W. Starnes, furnished several vocal selections, and these musical programs added much to the interest of the meetings. The chorus is made up of 29 voices and is well trained.

Amusements

TUESDAY, OCT. 8, "45 Minutes from Broadway." WEDNESDAY, OCT. 9, "45 Minutes from Broadway." THURSDAY, OCT. 10, Della Clark in "Introduce Me."

"Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway." Giving the followers their money's worth has long been an axiom of George M. Cohan, whose latest and best piece, "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway," with Bert Leish in the leading part, is to be presented at the Auditorium on tomorrow and Wednesday nights by Leish and Leish. Following out this theory he has provided an entertainment that would succeed alone either of two lines, and as a result scores unusual success along both. It is filled with delicious comedy moments and one characterization in particular has been so extraordinarily successful that it has been made the basis for another play.

Bert Leish as "Kid Burns" in "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway," at Auditorium, Tomorrow and Wednesday Nights.

With the part the dominant feature. This is the ex-prizefighter, "Kid Burns," portrayed by Bert Leish, whose native vivacity and quaint slang have been the talk of the theatre-world ever since he was given to the stage two years ago. It is a part that would give the fame of any actor of even moderate ability. "Kid Burns" will be seen in the character of "Blain Mary." Tickets are being sold for both performances at Whitlock's. Prices are from 50 cents to $1.50.

"Introduce Me," which comes to the Auditorium on Thursday, October 10, the Herald-Jolly Telegram has the following to say:

"Miss Della Clarke and her company in 'Introduce Me,' at the Elks' opera house last night, drew a pleased audience. The play which was written by Miss Clarke, who also played the leading part, has to do with the domestic infelicity of a young couple. The husband is an unsuccessful playwright, but his wife is a gifted writer, using a pen name absolutely unknown to her husband. She explains her income that keeps them in comfort by saying that her Aunt Hannah makes her a bountiful allowance.

"The wife writes a book entitled 'Susan,' which creates something of a furore, and her sister, Edna Somers, who is her wife in a slight writer, writes a per name absolutely unknown to her husband. She explains her income that keeps them in comfort by saying that her Aunt Hannah makes her a bountiful allowance.

Visitors stop at the Phoenix European Hotel. Fine rooms, 50 and 75 cents.

arrangements with the husband about dramatizing the book, "Susan," which Aunt Hannah comes in again; she sees that the actress is smoking a cigarette and is making love to the husband. The aunt leaves the room and discovers a bottle of wine in the cooler, which she thinks is cider; she drinks it, becomes tipsy, and tells the husband that a man was making love to his wife a few hours before, just as he was doing to the actress. She also states that she has one cow, two pigs and two acres and she can't send anybody anything. When the wife arrives her husband questions her indignantly and she leaves him. The finale brings the husband and wife together again, when he is all but overcome with astonishment to know that it is his wife who wrote the book. Tickets will be placed on sale tomorrow morning at Whitlock's. Prices are from 50 cents to $1.50.

A Show With New Ideas. All arrangements have been perfected for the extensive publicity program of the Sun Brothers' World Progressive Shows to appear here for two complete performances on October 24. This is the twentieth annual tour of this big aggregation touring this country. It is one of the leading shows. Its exhibits, animals and varied features are all of the best. The show is also one of the cleanest ever presented. No grafting games or immoral issues are ever tolerated about the establishment, and when the show appears here it will no doubt create more than a favorable impression. The Sun Brothers' show, while strictly modern and classy in all departments, together with management and paraphernalia, presents the "big show" program in the good old way—one act—some circus at a time. This is being done this season, owing to a popular demand. People attending a tented show want to see everything to be seen. The present tendency of some shows to introduce these things with a suggestion of bewildering "fill-in" acts, confuses the auditor and nobody sees any one thing well. Sun Brothers are presenting an exhibition of quality, and every act can be seen without having a case of "rubberneckitis," and there is no question but that the show is greatly enjoyed. The massive tents will be spread on the grounds at Southern depot, which are admirably adapted for exhibition purposes and are also high and dry and very accessible from all parts of town. It is said that the performing elephants are among the strongest features of the performance. They do all kinds of new stunts, play football, harmonize on musical instruments, engage in bowling contests, have a regular military battle, acrobatics, etc. A troupe of ferocious black-masked African lions are also featured heavily, and are handled by Captain Peter Kartova, a great French lion breaker, who appears in a big steel arena, placing them through their various thrilling exploits. Nearly 100 men, women and children will participate throughout in the greatest net imaginable. A blue ribbon horse fair, sensational aerial acts, a great band concert, are among the free shows, to be seen daily on the show grounds at 12:30 p. m.
