COLONEL BEGINS WAR ON WILSON

Says He Will "Unlimber His Big Guns" on Democratic Nominee.

Superior, Wis., Oct. 10.—"I probably wouldn't make the references to Wilson I'm going to make if he hadn't attacked me. But when anybody attacks me he might as well understand I won't take it lying down," said Colonel Roosevelt here today.

2 RUNS MADE UP TO SIXTH

Fenway Park, Oct. 10.—Twenty thousand people passed through the turnstiles to witness the third contest between the Giants and Red Sox. A warm sun and a gentle, southerly breeze dispelled the clouds that threatened rain.

Doyle was purposely passed, filling the bases. After two strikes and three balls Snodgrass was out on a fly. One run.

Boston—Stahl singled and was out stealing second. Wagner flied and Carrigan was thrown out at first.

Boston, Oct. 10.—After a night of rain, the Giants and Red Sox today prepared to play off yesterday's game. Prospects for playing were not bright until an hour after sunrise, when the sun shone on a rain-drenched diamond.

In spite of the rain a small crowd of fans kept their places through the night at the bleacher gates. One man said he had not been away from the grounds in 36 hours only long enough to get shaved. The official forecaster predicted occasional showers during the day. Mathewson said, "It was the hardest game I ever went through. I certainly felt all in when it was over."

COLONEL RILED Hearer Accuses Him of False Statement and He Makes Heated Reply.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 10.—Uproar among auditors of Colonel Roosevelt came after a colloquy between the speaker and one of his listeners last night. The colonel was replying to Governor Wilson's charge that the steel trust was behind him.

A man in an automobile in front of the colonel stood up and, using his hands as a megaphone, shouted: "That is not true."

"I suppose, sir," the colonel called back, "that you approve of the theft at Chicago. You stand for theft, and you stand for lying and false witness."

"That is not so," the man shouted. The crowd was thrown into such an uproar by the incident that it was some time before Colonel Roosevelt could make himself heard.

AFTER BETTER FREIGHT RATES

North Carolina Corporation Commissioners Will Again Present Request to Washington Authorities.

PROSPECTS ARE GOOD FOR THE STATE FAIR

More Entries Than Ever and Amusement Features Are Expected to Be More Entertaining.

Special to The Gazette-News. Raleigh, Oct. 10.—Chairman Franklin McNeill and Secretary A. J. Maxwell of the corporate commission have returned from Washington where they appeared informally before the interstate commerce commission with reference to the rate situation in North Carolina.

Commissioners Lee and Travis were also in the conference, but they will not return to the city for a day or two. The first matter presented was the request that other North Carolina towns be given the same basis in freight that has been extended to Winston-Salem and the second matter was a request that section four of the interstate commerce act be placed in operation, this section having been suspended on petition of the railroads.

The grievance in this connection is that freight can be shipped from Boston or New York to Norfolk and there unloaded and reshipped to North Carolina points at a lower rate than for the shipment at a single haul. The commission will appear before the Washington authorities again.

The Southern Bell Telephone company has announced that it will greatly enlarge the Raleigh exchange. At Wendell, this county, a new exchange will be built and at Zebulon improvements will be made.

Raleigh observes yesterday a fire prevention day with a parade and demonstration by the fire department. Mayor Johnson said he expected that the sanitary department would receive many calls today for rubbish. Reports to insurance Commissioner Young from all sections of the state were favorable for a wide observance of the day.

State Fair Preparations. The state fair authorities are making extensive preparations for the opening next Tuesday morning, when Governor Kitchin will welcome the crowds to Raleigh. There will be two thousand more entries than ever before, according to Secretary Poque, and the amusement and free attraction features will be more and better.

Raleigh democrats will meet Thursday afternoon to perfect a working organization for Woodrow Wilson. Local democrats hope to get out the full vote in this section.

The Wake county progressives have nominated a partial county ticket. Geo. M. Glenn is candidate for state senate and R. L. Sorrell, H. H. House and J. P. Howell for Wake Forest are candidates for the house. The nominees for commissioners are A. D. Uchurch and W. H. Howell. Candidate Glenn has challenged his republican and democratic opponents for a joint discussion.

M. B. Vaughn, a native of Guilford county, died at the Soldiers' home yesterday at an advanced age. He entered the service in 1862, serving with Co. E, 45th regiment, and continued with the army until the close of the war.

Denied Right to See Letters. The supreme court yesterday denied the right of a plaintiff to a suit to examine the letters of an intended defendant unless it was established that the letters would show material points. The case in question was that of Isham Fields vs. W. T. Coleman and James H. Younger, et al., causing Fields' expulsion from the First Baptist church of Raleigh (negro). Fields wanted to allege in his complaint that certain letters that Coleman had written to a woman would show conspiracy, his contention being that he must have these letters before he could make his complaint. Since Fields might have wanted the letters for a malicious object and since he did not know what they contained the higher court sustained the lower court in denying him that right.

Jeese T. Jones, the Johnston county white man pardoned a year ago for murder in the second degree, cannot secure his citizenship until after the expiration of the five-year period, unless he makes application to the courts to test the full effect and force of the pardon. Jones was sent up for twenty years for killing a little negro who was fishing at his pond. The judge and others recommended pardon. Later Jones presented his pardon and asked for citizenship, which was denied.

Truck Is Fat Man's Hearse. Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—William Weisner, Philadelphia's largest man, had to be buried from the saloon which he owned, at No. 2837 Ridge avenue, because there was not a door in his home large enough through which to carry the body.

Weisner weighed 450 pounds. When he became ill he insisted upon remaining in a room back of the saloon. He declared that if he went upstairs and died a derrick would be necessary to get the body down.

A truck was used instead of a hearse to take the body to the cemetery.

Noted Runner Dead. Manila, Oct. 10.—Sergeant Thomas P. Connett, the American long distance runner, was found dead at Pagsanjan today. His death apparently was accidental. He is a member of the secretary's staff.

Steel Orders Larger. New York, Oct. 10.—Unfilled tonnage of the U. S. Steel corporation of September 30, totalled 6,521,567 tons, an increase of 338,222 over August.

MOTOR CAR PARADE FOR TOMORROW

Veterans Will Again Be Admitted to the Fair Ground Free of Charge.

The judging in the various departments of the fair continues and a number of the departments is completed. The awards, however, are rather hard to get for publication on short notice, as the entries are by number and there are several sets of books kept in each department and a separate one for the names of the contestants. For that reason a full list of the awards made today cannot be given, as the directors in the departments are unable to give all of the awards offhand.

STANDARD OIL LETTERS READ

BRINGS SUIT TO TEST THE PRESS GAG LAW

New York Journal of Commerce Asks Injunction Against Enforcement.

New York, Oct. 10.—Suits to test the right of the government to enforce the federal law of August 24, 1912, requiring newspapers and periodicals to publish their circulation figures twice a year and imposing other publicity requirements, was filed in the United States district court here yesterday by the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin company, publishers of the Journal of Commerce.

The suit is directed against Postmaster General Hitchcock, Atty. General Wickersham, United States District Attorney Wise, and Postmaster Morgan of New York. The petitioner charges the law is unconstitutional and prays for a temporary injunction restraining its enforcement until final adjudication. It also requests that the defendants be required by subpoena to answer.

Back of the action, according to Robert C. Morris, of counsel for the complainant, is the American Newspaper Publishers association. The association decided recently to file a test suit and the Journal of Commerce, Mr. Morris said in filing its petition has the sanction and co-operation of the association.

The petition alleges there are upwards of 25,000 newspapers and periodicals in the country affected by the law. It charges that the law is void because it violates the federal constitution and particularly the first and fifth amendments and abridges the freedom of the press. The law is characterized as of no benefit to the postoffice or any other department of the government inasmuch as obedience by the periodicals and newspapers would not "aid or assist in the operation of the postoffice department or the carrying of mails."

Clapp then produced a letter to Representative Grosvenor of Ohio enclosing $1000. Archbold said that was to aid in the congressman's campaign for re-election. Archbold had had "no recollection" of a handwritten letter purporting to have been written by Hanna in which he said "I want you people to help our state committee liberally. This demands on me are simply awful." He couldn't recollect another letter written by Hanna asking for help in Ohio, concluding, "The whole fight is against corporations and me as their champion."

A photographic copy purporting to represent a letter written to Archbold in 1894 by Grosvenor saying, "Our mutual friend Sibley" had suggested that "I go in person to see you. Could you meet the emergency without my coming to see you? I have come to you for others but never for myself." Archbold said he was sure Grosvenor did not come. He remembered no answer to the letter.

Archbold could remember no Standard Oil activity as to the election of a senator in New Jersey. He "had no doubt he wrote a letter to former President Cassa of the Pennsylvania railroad urging that he aid the election of Sibley. He was shown a reproduction of a three page letter by Sibley, written in 1905, in which the writer said "he had talked with Mr. B. a democrat," who was prepared to make a fight against certain legislation, suggested that Archbold have a conference with the "senator" and suggested that he could have the letter go to New York.

"A man who would write as long a letter as that ought to be killed," said Archbold under his breath.

Archbold said he had no doubt he received the letter, although he had no recollection of it.

Clapp presented another letter copy, from Archbold to Quay. "I have no doubt I wrote it," said the witness. It referred to "the new senator from California" and set forth that while the Standard Oil "had no direct relations" with him Archbold would exercise such influence as possible, "through the Santa Fe."

Comptroller A. B. Plant of Southern told the committee he knew of no pre-convention contributions and did not turn over any fund to Underwood's manager. Senator Dixon testified it was common report Plant handled the Underwood funds.

RALEIGH IS TO HAVE MUNICIPAL ABATTOIR

Policeman Offered Riches In the Gilded Resorts

Sergeant Barry Says Men of Wealth Trapped in Vice Crusade Attempted to Pay at Any Price Rather Than Face Exposure.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Police Sergeant Stephen H. The gangster is in a hospital. "I had a chance to get rich," said

"STRIKE" LEGISLATION OCCASIONED SOME

Witness Says It Was Necessary for the Corporations to Defend Themselves.

Washington, Oct. 10.—John D. Archbold was a witness again before the Clapp committee and admitted writing several letters, fac similes of which were published recently in a magazine. Several of them were to former Senator Foraker. He said the payment mentioned in the letters was for "the services of Senator Foraker as counsel in our Ohio affairs."

He was shown another letter to Senator Hanna referring to "threatened and very objectionable legislation at Columbus," concerning which Archbold wrote that he wanted to talk to Hanna. He referred particularly to people active in the support of a resolution for an "investigating committee" and asked Hanna to do "everything possible to compass their defeat." Archbold explained that that was a "year of strike" legislation in various state legislatures and that it was necessary for corporate interests to appeal to their friends to prevent that sort of thing.

Clapp then produced a letter to Representative Grosvenor of Ohio enclosing $1000. Archbold said that was to aid in the congressman's campaign for re-election. Archbold had had "no recollection" of a handwritten letter purporting to have been written by Hanna in which he said "I want you people to help our state committee liberally.
