CONTRADICTS STORY OF BALD JACK ROSE

Says He Was Near Scene of Murder but Flew When He Heard Pistol Report.

By Associated Press.

EW YORK, Nov. 14.—Harry
Horowitz, known as "Gyp the Blood," the dandy of the four gunmen on trial charged with mur-dering Herman Rosenthal at Charles Becker's bidding, took the witness stand today and swore that the shots in front of the hotel Metrople were fired by Harry Vallon, Bridgie Webber, informers for the state, and a third man mysteriously unnamed.

He denied every incriminating state-ment made by "Baid Jack" Rose and said that he and his companions did not even hear of the murder until seven hours after it occurred. They were within a stone's throw of the scene, whither they had gone at the stranger's invitation, he said, and fled when they heard the shots.

"Gyp," under the questioning of his attorney, told of being in Webber's poker room with Rose, Schepps, Cirotici and a stranger.

The men left the poker rooms with the "unknown," "Gyp" said. "Dago Frank," he declared, was go-ing home and the others including the stranger walked to the Hotel Cadillac, at Forty-third street and Broadway. "Dago Frank's" Testimony. "We stood there by the Cadillac,"
