

PEACE LIKELY IN NEAR EAST

Bondholders Preparing for Settlements, Taking Dis- membership of Tur- key to Be Certain.

FOREIGNERS DESERT TURKISH CAPITAL

Cholera Epidemic Causes them to Flee—Turkey to Open Direct Negotiations Soon.

CONSTANTINOPLE, by way of Kustendje, Nov. 16.—The opinion is general here that the war is practically ended. An armistice with the Bulgarians will be in all probability arranged within the next few days and this will be followed by direct negotiations for peace.

The Ottoman government fully realizes that further resistance can only prejudice the position of Turkey still more, while its outcome is extremely problematical and might lead to even more humiliation.

With the exception of the Chauvinistic hotspur, the bulk of public opinion is beginning to rally to the view taken by responsible statesmen and it is generally hoped that the best possible conditions of peace will be secured. It is recognized that practically the whole of European Turkey is lost, so much so that the banks and the council of the Ottoman public debt are already taking stock of their own interests in the lost provinces in view of protecting themselves when the final settlement comes up for discussion.

To the end that the interests of the bondholders will be better safeguarded this time than was the case at the Herlin congress, the council of the Ottoman public debt has suggested to its European syndicates the advisability of approaching the powers on the subject.

Hitherto only a few of the soldiers badly wounded in battle have arrived here. A number of the invalided men are affected by blood poisoning and gangrene. Doctors declare that many of the wounds have been self-inflicted.

No cholera patients are sent to the city, but little precaution is taken to prevent refugees bringing in the disease. Fugitives continue to crowd around the city walls. Trainloads of them are being sent off daily along the railroad into Asia Minor.

Many of the foreign residents who were willing to risk the chance of fanatical outbreaks, are departing for Europe because of the cholera.

Brandishing Cross and Chanting "God Against the Infidel" Montenegrins Is Shot Down.

London, Nov. 16.—A war correspondent of the Morning Post with the Montenegrins describes an act of heroism by a rifle and a soldier in the battle when their commander was killed. This occurred Thursday during an unsuccessful attempt by the Turks to storm a position held by the Montenegrins in the valley of the Boyana river.

When the commander was taken to the rear, mortally wounded, the chaplain gave him his benediction. "Then," says the correspondent, "he snatched up a rifle and cried to the 'Forward, men of Chernagora, in defense of the cross and for the glory of King Nicholas.'"

The priest, brandishing his cross like a banner, had reached the firing line when a fresh and more furious volley came from the Turkish column. He stood alone among the recumbent soldiers, who continued to fire. Then he began to chant the hymn, "God Against the Infidel." He reached the lines which in English run "Tribulation shall not avail to bend the arm of the Lord" when his voice suddenly died away. He waved his arms about his head and fell on his face with a bullet through his heart.

Photographs of Balkan Atrocities. Washington, Nov. 16.—Copies of photographs purporting to show the atrocities practiced in the present war between Turkey and the Balkan states were received at the Turkish embassy today. One picture depicts a Turkish soldier captured by the Montenegrins with his nose and lips hacked away. Pictures of other mutilated soldiers also were in the collection.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY THE DAUGHTERS

All Are Chosen and Notable Gathering of the U. D. C. Practically Comes to a Close—Hundreds Make Trip to Mount Vernon in Special Cars.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The United Daughters of the Confederacy today elected the following officers:

President general, Mrs. Alexander B. White, Paris, Tenn.; first vice president general, Mrs. Frank G. Odenheimer, Jessup, Md.; second vice president general, Mrs. Drury C. Ludlow, Washington; third vice president general, Mrs. I. W. Fulton, Charlotte, N. C.; recording secretary general, Mrs. Royce McKinney, Paducah, Ky.; corresponding secretary general, Mrs. E. C. Schnabel (Katie Childress), New Orleans, La.; treasurer general, Mrs. C. R. Tate, Pulaski, Va.; registrar general, Mrs. Orlando Haliburton, Little Rock, Ark.; historian general, Miss Mildred Rutherford, Athens, Ga.; custodian of the cross of honor, Mrs. L. H. Raines, Savannah, Ga.; custodian of flags and pennants, Mrs. Frank Anthony Walke, Norfolk, Va.

All officers were elected by acclamation. Several hundred women delegates made the trip to Mount Vernon in special cars. They wandered about the old mansion several hours, then visited Alexandria, Va., where they stopped at Christ church, in which Washington and, later, General Robert E. Lee used to worship.

They were the guests at luncheon of the Alexandria chapter of the society. Starfeted with teas, luncheons and receptions, the convention drew on to its close with little ostentation. After a meeting in which reports from numerous committees were read, the afternoon was spent largely in the exchange of farewells and in preparations to leave. Many of the visiting women, however, will remain over tomorrow to worship in historic Christ church, where there will be special services for them. Tonight the delegates will be guests at a reception in the confederate memorial home given by the Mississippi Society of Washington.

New Orleans Gets Next Convention. The United Daughters of the Confederacy yesterday voted unanimously to hold the 1913 convention in New Orleans. The New Orleans delegation made a vigorous campaign for the honor and when the final vote came won without opposition.

The New York delegation made an effort to secure the convention for New York, but when it became apparent that sentiment among the delegates was strongly in favor of the Louisiana city, the New Yorkers withdrew.

After an eloquent appeal by Mrs. Jackson Montague of Virginia the convention voted to authorize a committee to investigate the advisability of the United Daughters taking over the management of the home for needy confederate women at Richmond. Mrs. Montague earnestly told the convention that the care of the aged women of the confederacy was of much more merit than the expenditure of "misdirected patriotism" in the erection of monuments and mausoleums to the dead. A resolution by Mrs. Lizzie G. Henderson of Alabama, directed the president-general to appoint a committee to confer with the trustees of the home with a view to taking over the home.

Starfeted with teas, luncheons and receptions, the convention drew on to its close with little ostentation. After a meeting in which reports from numerous committees were read, the afternoon was spent largely in the exchange of farewells and in preparations to leave.

PRINCETON AND YALE IN BATTLE

Thirty Thousand Gather on University Field to Witness Struggle on Gridiron.

BLUE CONTINGENT'S CONFIDENCE STRONG

Wearers of Orange and Black, However, Hope Their Speed May Offset Opponents' Weight.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 16.—Yale score first blood in its struggle with Princeton this afternoon, a goal from placement being kicked in the early minutes of play and the score at the end of the first period stood three to nothing in the Elis' favor.

Early in the second period, however, Princeton "came back" with two field goals that gave a substantial lead over the blue team.

Most of Princeton's plays in the early part of the first quarter were aimed at the strong Yale line, which yielded several gains but invariably airmagges led up to kicking. Yale's first possession of the ball was marked by a three yard gain through the Princeton center but in the second scrimmage Spalding failed to gain and Yale kicked. Stew Baker getting the punt, Baker and Waller then went through Yale's left tackle for gains, then Dewitt kicked.

It was a game of up and down. Princeton finally began to hold strong in the line after Yale had gained a first down and Flynn stepping back to the 20-yard line, kicked a goal from placement. The period ended with the ball on Yale's 41-yard line and it appeared that up to this time Princeton had outscored Yale.

Princeton's sensational showing in the second period—two field goals and brilliant rushes—gave the officer eleven a score of six to three against her blue rivals. In the early minutes of play Hobart Baker kicked a field goal from the 25-yard line. In subsequent scrimmages Yale gained a first down, but kicking was frequent and finally the Tiger line settled down like a stone wall. A few minutes later Dewitt slashed through the Yale line for 20 yards, then with another pounce planted the ball on the blue team's ten-yard line.

A mass play advanced the Tigers to the three-yard line, but Yale stopped them on the two-yard line and H. Baker dropped back and from 15 yards kicked the Tiger's second goal.

Subsequent to this Dewitt was knocked out and Waller was disqualified for rough playing. Time was called after Dummpley, who took Flynn's place, failed on a field goal from the 30-yard line.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 16.—Princeton and Yale will meet on University field this afternoon in what promises to be one of the premier football struggles of the 1912. Locations at the start of the battle were for a hard, close game.

The outcome of the day's contest will have an important bearing on the final rating of the so-called "big eleven." Should Yale come out on top, Princeton, with the defeats by both Yale and Harvard, will be out of the running; while should Princeton win it will be either a case of three-cornered or the champion of the outcome of the Harvard-Yale battle a week from today.

The condition of the gridiron is favorable for a fast game, being hard and fairly dry. This has raised the hopes of the Princeton followers considerably, as they did not believe their light eleven would have an even chance against the heavy eleven from New Haven if the gridiron was slippery and the turf soft.

Supporters of both teams seemed fairly confident of victory although the confidence of the blue contingent was without question much stronger than that of Princeton men. Yale followers are basing their judgment of Princeton's strength on the showing of the Tigers at Cambridge two weeks ago, but Princeton enthusiasts have felt the team did not display its true form in the battle with Harvard and would give the Elis a much harder fight than they gave the Crimson.

The Tigers are centering their hopes on the speed of their backfield men—Captain Pendleton, Waller and Dewitt—and the ability of the line to get the jump on the opponents. If the offense and back players find themselves equalled in these departments, Yale's greater weight may prove the deciding factor.

A conservative estimate puts the number of football visitors at 30,000. Betting on the game is varying from 10 to 10 to 1, with Yale on the long end. Considerable money has been placed.

The line-up: Princeton. Yale. Position. Princeton. Yale. Andrew Talbot, L. T. Phillips Conroy, L. G. Shenk Ketcham, C. Blumenthal J. Pendleton, R. G. Logan Warren, R. T. Penfield Avery, R. T. Pendleton Wheeler, R. T. Baker Spalding, L. H. Baker Phillips, R. T. Waller

CHARTER IS OBTAINED BY MASONIC TEMPLE CO.

Plans Are Being Drawn for Building to Be Erected Here.

Special to The Gazette-News. Raleigh, Nov. 15.—The Masonic Temple company of Asheville, which proposes to build a temple for lodge rooms and other purposes, was chartered today by the secretary of state with an authorized capital of $100,000, with $17,000 subscribed by Dr. C. P. Ambler, Dr. F. T. Meriwether, A. S. Gperard, J. A. Nichols, W. H. Woodbury, T. W. Grimes, J. M. Childes and Charles A. Webb.

In reference to the above dispatch, Dr. C. P. Ambler was asked today if he could state when construction would begin on the temple and he said that he was not in a position to give out this information, but said that the plans for the structure are being drawn. This is taken to mean that as soon as the plans are adopted no time will be lost in beginning the actual construction work on the building.

CARRIED THREE COUNTIES BY MAJORITY OF 18

Republicans Got Burke by 6, Washington by 9 and Cabarrus by 3.

State Chairman Charles A. Webb returned this morning from Raleigh, where he went to meet the executive committee in canvassing the vote in the senatorial primary.

Official majority of Governor-elect Mr. Webb said that it had not, as all the returns were not yet in. He said he did not think the exact figures would be known until November 28, when the state election board meets to canvass the vote. Mr. Webb said it was very difficult to get the judges to understand the importance of sending in the returns promptly and that even the senatorial returns were late in arriving.

Mr. Webb said, however, he thought that Mr. Craig's majority would be at least 65,000; that he must have received 160,000 votes. It has been ascertained that the democrats will have 103 representatives in the house instead of 106 or 107, as the republican representatives have been elected in Burke, Washington and Cabarrus by majorities of six, nine and three votes, respectively.

MAKING READY FOR REVISION

Clerks of Ways and Means Committee at Work on Bills for Extra Session.

LITTLE WORK NEEDED ON MANY SCHEDULES

Wool, Cotton, Metal and Chemical Revision Measures Are Practically Worked Out.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Clerks of the house ways and means committee already are at work upon the tariff revision bills for the special session of congress, which President-elect Wilson has stated he will summon to meet next April.

Democratic leaders have been confident for some time that the incoming administration would force the tariff issue to an immediate trial and much of the detail of the work of preparing the bills is under way.

While President-elect Wilson is resting in Bermuda during the next few weeks, the democrats of the two houses of congress will endeavor to settle the general program to be followed at the extra session. It has not been determined as yet whether one general bill will be introduced, embracing the wool, cotton, iron and steel revisions, with the democratic house has previously passed, or whether each of these tariff schedules will again be brought in in the form of a separate bill.

Little time will be necessary, it is believed, to perfect wool, cotton, metal and chemical revision bills because of the work done by the democratic ways and means committee in preparing similar bills passed in the last two sessions, which have been vetoed by President Taft.

The democratic leaders are not agreed, however, over the sugar tariff and this situation is puzzling the managers of the party in both houses.

The house free sugar bill, passed at the last session did not meet the approval of the democrats in the senate and it still rests in a conference committee of the two houses.

Joint Committee May Be Named. Suggestions have been made by influential members of the senate within the last week that a joint committee representing the house and senate democrats be informally selected before the special session begins to go over the tariff situation and in preparing similar bills passed in the last two sessions, which have been vetoed by President Taft.

President-elect Wilson's determination to call the extra session perfects a record of practically continuous work upon the tariff since the special session called by President Taft in 1909. Following the general revision of that year embodied in the Payne-Aldrich bill, there have been attempts to devise a Canadian reciprocity system and to revise certain schedules of the tariff law but no changes in the tariff have been effected since the passage of the Payne-Aldrich law.

WILSON TO CALL AN EXTRA SESSION

Says Congress Will Meet to Revise Tariff by April 15, Next.

New York, Nov. 16.—President Wilson announced last night that immediately after his inauguration as president of the United States he would call an extraordinary session of congress to convene not later than April 15 for the purpose of revising the tariff.

"I shall call congress together in extraordinary session not later than April 15, I shall do this not only because I think that the pledge of the party ought to be redeemed as promptly as possible, but also because I know it to be in the interest of business that all uncertainty as to what the particular items of tariff revision are to be should be removed as soon as possible."

SWEEEPING TRANSFERS AMONG ARMY OFFICERS

Over 1000 Must Be Moved Under New Law—West Point Affected.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Sweeping transfers among army officers before December 15 must be made because of the new law providing that no army officer shall be absent from duty with his company for more than two years out of six. More than 1000 officers are affected and the expense of the changes, it is estimated by the war department, will exceed $50,000. The military academy will be hit hard, 55 officer instructors there being required to leave.

Efforts were made by the war department to avert such a widespread change all at once; but after careful consideration by the secretary of war and General Crowder, judge advocate-general, it was decided that there was no alternative under strict interpretation of the law.

Major-General Wood, chief of staff, said today the shifts in the service could be made without any lowering of the army's efficiency, although there would be some slight temporary weakening.

ALLEGES HOCKIN TENDERED BRIBE

Nitro-Glycerine Agent Gives Damaging Evidence Against Alleged Dynamiter.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 16.—Jewelry store employes testified at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today that alarm clocks used by the McNamara brothers and Orrie E. McManigal in the manufacture of bombs were purchased in such quantity as to arouse suspicion.

How McManigal bought 12 small clocks at Pittsburgh in January, 1910, after he had blown up a job at McKees Rocks was described by Miss Margaret Burns. She said when she sold the clocks to McManigal she asked him what he was going to do with so many clocks and he replied they were for friends in the country. Miss Anna Elliott testified McManigal bought at an Indianapolis jewelry store all the alarm clocks in stock.

The clocks were fitted to bombs so that when the alarm went off at a pre-arranged time the handles of the winders connected a battery and caused the explosion. The similarity of a clock which McManigal lost at Peoria, Ill., and another clock found at Los Angeles, was one of the clues that put detectives on the dynamiter's trail.

Secretary Hockin of the Iron Workers union was pointed out by John Longbaugh of Tulsa, who formerly was nitro-glycerine agent at Montpelier, Ind. Longbaugh said Hockin promised big prices for the explosives if the dealer would sell without question.

Pointing to Hockin, Longbaugh said: "I told this man my company would not allow me to sell nitro-glycerine without knowing what it was to be used for. He replied he even made it attractive for me, and that he would carry it away in suit cases on the train. I asked him if he wanted me to steal the nitro-glycerine. He said he did not care, and as for carrying explosives on passenger trains he was not bothered."
