

Forced to Accept Goods We Don't Want

Orders placed months ago are being filled—goods are being shipped us regardless of our plea to the makers that orders be cancelled. We have explained to them that we have no earthly use for the goods that the firm's business is being liquidated, but it seems to make no difference with the manufacturers—they continue to fill the orders per their original instructions and tell us we will have to get rid of them the best way we can, as they will not permit the goods to be thrown back on their hands this late in the season. There is nothing left for us to do but offer them to the buying public at

FINANCIAL

Stocks, Bonds, Cotton, Grain, Provisions, Money—New York, New Orleans, Chicago and Foreign Market News.

WALL STREET GOSSIP.

New York, Nov. 18.—On a small volume of business prices of the leading stocks declined at the opening today. The heaviest trading was in Reading which fell back 3-4 on sales of 6,600 shares in the first few minutes.

Some recovery was effected in the active stocks but they went off again when acute weakness developed in certain specialties.

Lethargy of stocks was due largely to the possibility that decisions might be rendered by the United States Supreme court in some of the long-standing cases affecting Wall street. Few issues weakened substantially with the exception of a number which were affected by the expected tariff revision. Bonds were steady.

Announcement at midday that the supreme court would adjourn for a fortnight after today's session without taking action in some of the more important cases before it, caused some irregularity in stocks, particularly Reading.

Prices shaded further in the later declines steel losing practically all its gains in the spurt of the preceding hour with general heaviness in other representative issues.

The market closed heavy. Trading was practically at a standstill in the closing hour and except for some weakness in active stock prices were not substantially changed.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Nov. 18.—Cotton opened firm at an advance of 3/16 points on better cables than expected, reports of cold weather in the south, covering and renewal of support from the old bull brokers. There was considerable cotton for sale, but the offerings were readily absorbed and prices sold 22 to 23 points higher before the end of the first hour with March contracts touching 12 cents. Realizing checked the advance around this level and slight reactions occurred from the best, but liquidation was by no means as active as it had been at times last week.

The market was less active late in the forenoon, but after a reaction of four or five points from the high level ruled fairly steady with active months still showing a net gain of 18 or 19 points at midday.

Spot quiet; middling uplands nominal. Cotton spot closed steady; middling uplands 12 1/2; do gulf 12 3/4; sales 8476 bales.

The market firmed on bullish southern spot advices in the early afternoon. Prices sold about 28 to 30 points above Saturday's closing with December relatively firm on covering.

Normal for this date: Temperature 44; precipitation .11 inch.

Forecasts until 8 p. m. Tuesday for Asheville and vicinity: Fair and warmer tonight and Tuesday.

For North Carolina: Tonight fair, warmer in west portion; Tuesday fair, warmer, light north winds becoming variable.

General Conditions (Past 24 Hours). There are two slight depressions on this morning's weather map, one over eastern New England and the other to the north of the plains states, but neither shows much energy. Rain has occurred in the St. Lawrence valley, eastern New England, on the lower Texas coast and on the north Pacific coast but in other portions of the country the weather has been fair.

An area of high pressure of great extent reaches from the south Pacific coast to the Atlantic. Freezing temperatures are reported in the northern portion of the east gulf states and in northern Texas, while light frost formed as far south as the east gulf coast. Fair and warmer weather is indicated for this vicinity tonight and Tuesday.

Johnson Asks Early Hearing.

By Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 18.—Through his attorney Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, today asked the United States Supreme court to advance his case for hearing January 6, when four other cases questioning the constitutionality of the white slave law will be argued.

Attorney General Wickersham in open court said the government opposed the advancement of the case.

That the telephone exchange attendants of Paris are much older than those of the United States is said to account for the fact that there is greater delay in securing calls.

The telephone line across the Isthmus of Panama is strung on old railroad tracks.
